The historic and patriotic Order of the Cincinnati was founded by the American and French officers at the cantonments of the continental army on the Hudson at the close of hostilities in the war of the revolution for American independence in May, 1783.

In forming the society it was declared that "to perpetuate, therefore, as well the remembrance of this vast event as the mutual friendships which have been formed under the pressure of common danger, and, in many instances, cemented by the blood of the parties, the officers of the American army do hereby, in the most solemn manner, associate, constitute and combine themselves into one society of friends, to endure as long as they shall endure, or any of their eldest male posterity, and in failure thereof the collateral branches who may be judged worthy of becoming its supporters and members."

Membership descends to the eldest lineal male descendant, it judged worthy, and, in failure of direct male descent, to male descendants through intervening female descendants.

The number of living members of the Society of the Cincinnati, as reported at the triennial meeting May, 1893, was 429.

*Brevet major Sept. 30, 1783.

†Brevet brigadier-general July 31, 1787.

‡From the date of Gen. Washington's death, Dec. 14, 1799, to June 1, 1831, when Gen. Brown assumed command, there was no general officer formally assigned to the permanent command of the army. During this period direct control of the army (except at irregular intervals from June, 1800, to January, 1812, when Gen. Wilkinson exercised command) was exercised by the secretary of war. In the above list, however, the name of the senior officer of the army is given for each period specified from December, 1799, to June, 1831.

§Brevet lieutenant-general March 29, 1847. Gen. Scott left for Mexico Nov. 24, 1846, and from that date to May 11, 1848, he had no control of the army not included in his own command. He was assigned to the command of the eastern division Aug. 31, 1848, and resumed command of the army May 11, 1849.

|| Gen. McClellan did not exercise command of the army after March 11, 1862. Gen. Halleck assumed command July 23, 1862.

**Lieutenant-general March 2, 1864, to July 25, 1869.

††Lieutenant-general March 4, 1869, to June 1, 1888.

‡Major-general March 4, 1889, to Feb. 5, 1895.

The president of the United States is at all times the commander-in-chief of the army and navy.

FARMERS' NATIONAL CONGRESS.

OFFICERS 1898-99.

Hon. W. D. Hoard, president, Fort Atkinson, Wis.

Col. F. L. Maxwell, first vice-president, Mound, La.

Hon. C. A. Wisting, second vice-president, Auburn, N. Y.

N. G. Spalding, treasurer, Schodack Landing, N. Y.

John M. Stahl, secretary, 4818 Langley-av., Chicago, Ill.

Assistant Secretaries—D. O. Lively, Fort Worth, Tex.; G. A. Stockwell, Providence, R. I.; A. H. Dunlap, Manistee, Mich.

Executive Committee—Hon. B. F. Clayton, Indiana's Iowa; T. E. Orr, Pittsburg, Pa.; H. E. Heath, Lincoln, Neb.

Little is known of the history of this organization prior to 1833, as no records were kept of meetings previous to that time. From the best data attainable there was a meeting in Chicago in 1831; Indianapolis, Ind., 1832; Louisville, Ky., 1833; Nashville, Tenn., 1834, and from the best information the meeting at Indianapolis in the fall of 1835 was fixed as the fifth annual session of the Farmers' National Congress of the United States of America.

At the Louisville session in 1833 Col. Robert Beverly of Virginia was elected president and Mr. Knott of Louisville, Ky., was chosen secretary. The same officers presided at Nashville, Tenn., in 1834, but there is no record of these or any previous meetings of this body.

Col. Robert Beverly served as president from 1833 to 1837, when Col. R. F. Kolb of Montgomery, Ala., was elected president and acted as such until the meeting at Sedalia, Mo., in 1891, where A. W. Smith of Kansas was elected. Hon. B. F. Clayton was elected at Savannah, Ga., in 1834, and re-elected at Atlanta, Ga., in 1836. Hon. W. D. Hoard of Wisconsin was elected at St. Paul, Minn., in 1837.

The meetings since 1836 have been as follows:

St. Paul, 1836; called meeting at Washington, D. C., February, 1837; regular meeting, Chicago, 1837; Topeka, Kas., 1838; Montgomery, Ala., 1839; Council Bluffs, Iowa, 1839; Sedalia, Mo., 1891; Lincoln, Neb., 1892; Savannah, Ga., 1893; Parkersburg, W. Va., 1894; Atlanta, Ga., 1895; Indianapolis, Ind., 1896; St. Paul, Minn., 1897, and Fort Worth, Tex., 1898.

Utterances of State Conventions.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED AT VARIOUS STATE CONVENTIONS ON NATIONAL QUESTIONS.

THE FINANCES.

ALABAMA.

REPUBLICAN.

We hereby reaffirm our faith in and allegiance to the principles of the republican party, and we do also indorse the national platform of the party adopted in convention at St. Louis in 1896.

We specifically declare in favor of a protective tariff and for a sound and stable currency, both of which give employment alike to labor and capital and provide sufficient revenue in time of peace to run the government without a resort to bond issue, which can only be justified in time of war.

DEMOCRATIC.

We do reaffirm our unalterable faith in the principles declared in our platform, adopted in 1896, and especially in the platform adopted at Chicago in July of the same year, not so much because those platforms were declarations of our party, but for the much higher reason that the principles therein announced are the principles upon which the democratic party and the federal government are founded and because those principles are eternally true.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

Free coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and that all other money shall be issued by the federal government and shall be a legal tender for all the public and private dues and demands, with inhibition by law of any contract that annuls the full exactions of these requirements, and with no one kind of money redeemable in any other kind of money. We denounce the effort to increase the national bonded debt by placing the sovereign power in the ridiculous position of borrowing what it alone has power to create, and insist that no bond should be issued until the volume of currency shall reach $50 per capita.

ARKANSAS.

REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm our adherence to the doctrine of sound money, by which every dollar, gold, silver or paper, put forth under the sanction of the government shall be equal to every other dollar.

DEMOCRATIC.

We indorse the national platform of the democratic party adopted at Chicago, in its national convention of 1896, and reaffirm the principles therein enunciated.

CALIFORNIA.

REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm our belief in the financial plank of the republican national platform of 1896 as being a sound and correct exposition of the views of the republican party upon the finances of the country. We commend the efforts of the national administration to secure an international monetary agreement, and urge that the attempt be renewed whenever an opportunity to do so shall be presented.

DEMOCRATIC.

We reaffirm our allegiance to the national platform of the democratic party adopted at Chicago in 1896, and specifically declare our adherence to the paramount purpose enunciated in that platform, viz.: A return to the constitutional system of free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver as money at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the consent of any other nation.

PROHIBITION.

The stability of our money system is based upon the industry and sobriety of the citizen. We believe that the currency problem has been largely produced by the brewery and distillery, which, through their agents, the saloons, have drawn from the products of our workmen silver to be piled up uselessly in the banks, and, after being changed for gold, to be largely shipped to foreign countries.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

We demand the free and unrestricted coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation, and we are unalterably opposed to the policy of the republican party in demanding the retirement of greenbacks and the surrender to national banks of the sovereign power of issuing money, and we especially denounce the avowed attempt of said party to fasten upon the country irrevocably and forever the single gold standard.

We demand a national money, safe and sound, issued by the general government only, without the intervention of banks of issue, to be full legal tender for all debts, public and private; also a just, equitable and efficient means of distribution direct to the people through the lawful disbursements of the government.

We demand that the volume of circulating medium be speedily increased to an amount sufficient to meet the demands of a growing business and population of the country and to restore the just level of prices of labor and production.

We demand such legislation as will prevent for the future the demonetization of any kind of legal-tender money by private contract.

We demand that the government, in payment of its obligations, shall use its option as to the kind of money in which they are to be paid, and we denounce the present and preceding administrations for surrendering this option to the holders of government obligations.

We demand that there shall be no further issue of United States interest-bearing bonds.

COLORADO.

REPUBLICAN.

We favor the restoration of the money of the constitution by throwing open the mints of the country to the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

DEMOCRATIC.

The democratic party of the state of Colorado reaffirms the fundamental principles of the national democratic platform adopted in Chicago in 1896. The free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, and without the consent of any other nation on earth, is and must remain the paramount issue in American politics until it is accomplished by national legislation.

SILVER REPUBLICAN.

The silver republicans of the state of Colorado again declare their allegiance to the cause of bimetallism and demand the restoration of silver to an equal plane of dignity and power with gold as a monetary metal, and that the mints of the United States be opened to the coinage of both silver and gold at the old ratio of 16 to 1, without asking or awaiting the aid or consent of any other nation. The gold standard was introduced to the financial systems of the leading nations of the world twenty-five years ago, without popular demand or knowledge, and has proved a disastrous experiment from that time to this. Numerous international conventions have been called for the sole purpose of getting rid of it, and in every leading nation commissions almost without number appointed to investigate the progressive depression in agriculture and trade have reported in favor of its abolition.

By depriving silver of its rights and by vastly adding to the demand for gold the par of exchange between gold-using and silver-using nations has been broken and trade between them reduced to a game of hazard. The increased necessity of attempting to do more business with less money has involved a ruinous fall of prices, with resulting discouragement to enterprises, loss of employment to labor, multiplication of the burdens of debt, taxes and fixed charges, the growth of trusts and combines, and the aggrandizement of the hoarders as against the producers of wealth.

We declare that the only practicable method of restoring unexed commercial relations between gold-using and silver-using countries, and of stopping the fall of prices with its resultant wrongs, is to be found in a return to the time-honored policy of bimetallism. The evil results of the gold-standard experiment are not denied by its advocates and they stand mute in the face of a demand for a remedy. To enforce the gold standard throughout the world is impossible. The present condition is intolerable. The silver republican party and its allies believe that the issue thus presented is the most important in American politics and calls for settlement before all others.

We arraign the gold-standard republican party for its attempted deception of the American people by false pretenses in favor of an international agreement for the free coinage of silver, while actively engaged in furthering the designs of the gold monopoly and the bankers' trust, and we congratulate the American people that in the present attitude of the administration and in the declarations of the leading republican state conventions of this year the nation at last has frank avowal by that party of its absolute surrender to the gold-standard system.

In the state of Colorado an especial effort has been made to cloak and disguise the designs of the supporters of the gold standard. The history of these times is a woeful chapter in the literature of political dissimulation. It has within the last few days reached its appropriate culmination in an act which has disgraced the state and may well appall the citizenship of the country. The advocates of the gold standard in Colorado have attempted the theft of a whole political party. The unfortunate occurrence at the opera house in Colorado Springs on the morning of Sept. 7 is a fit illustration of the desperation of these men and of the extent to which they are willing to go in furtherance of this scheme to thwart the will of the silver republicans of Colorado.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

The people's party of the state of Colorado reaffirms its unwavering allegiance to the principles of the Omaha and St. Louis national platforms of 1892 and 1896. We believe the financial question to be the paramount question of the present campaign, and we reiterate our demand for the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the constitutional rate of 16 to 1.

CONNECTICUT.

REPUBLICAN.

After the experience of the last two years it [the party] reaffirms its advocacy of the single standard of value, and that standard gold, as the only financial policy which will assure public confidence and national credit at home and abroad, and which will promote such investment of capital in the enterprise of commerce, trade and manufacture as will insure a remunerative employment to the farmers, mechanics and wage-earners of America.

It believes that the impossibility of effecting an international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world for the free coinage of silver has been clearly demonstrated. It therefore favors such national monetary legislation as will maintain our paper and silver currency at a parity with gold, by which the weight of a gold dollar shall be established at the present standard, and by which every paper and silver dollar and every obligation for the payment of money shall be redeemable in gold, and such changes as in our present monetary system as will furnish ample credit facilities for conducting business in all parts of the country, by the retirement of government notes and the issue of bank notes so secured as to insure their redemption in gold of the present standard of fineness. To the accomplishment of these results it cordially asks the co-operation and support of all gold democrats and patriotic Americans, and earnestly invites them to unite in the support of its platform and tickets.

DELAWARE.

REPUBLICAN.

Believing that the money of the government should be the best in the world, and that its value should be unquestioned everywhere, we demand the maintenance by the government of the present gold standard of the value of said money, that notes of the government payable on demand shall only be issued when gold to the amount of the notes so issued is deposited with the national treasury for the redemption thereof. And that the gold so deposited shall be preserved and kept in said treasury for the sole purpose of redeeming such notes.

DEMOCRATIC.

The necessity of reforming our currency system is admitted on all sides and confessed by the president himself (who sent a monetary commission abroad to consult foreign governments and asked for the appointment of another monetary commission to consider the question here at home); but, notwithstanding the admitted evils of our present complicated, illogical and injurious currency system, the republican congress and administration have taken no positive and effective measure for reform.

GEORGIA.

DEMOCRATIC.

We reaffirm and indorse the democratic national platform as adopted at Chicago in 1896, and especially do we reiterate and urge its declaration upon the question of currency reform and the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the existing ratio of 16 to 1, and without the aid or consent of any other nation. We emphasize the declaration of that platform and also of the platform of the Georgia democracy of the same year, in its unalterable opposition to the single gold standard, and we hold that events have justified the truth of every charge made against it in the campaign of 1896.

IDAHO.

REPUBLICAN.

We heartily indorse the financial policy of the republican party as the same has been applied to the management of the financial affairs of the government.

DEMOCRATIC.

Demands "the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the present established ratio of 16 to 1 by independent action of the United States, without waiting for the consent or permission of other nations."

ILLINOIS.

REPUBLICAN.

We invite the attention of the people of Illinois to the fact that upon the surrender by the republican party in 1893 of the affairs of the nation to the democratic party there was then and there closed an era of prosperity unprecedented in this country; that following the inauguration of President Cleveland in 1893 new policies of administration were adopted, old, tried and approved policies of the republican party were rejected, and there followed an era of business depression, commercial distress, financial embarrassment and injury to labor too familiar to all, and of greater evil than had occurred in this country since the close of the war of the rebellion.

The republican party was restored to power in 1897 and was confronted with the problem of restoring to the people of the United States a greater and more reasonable measure of prosperity. To do this President McKinley convened congress in session in eleven days after his inauguration. The republican party was unable to see how prosperity could be brought to the laborer and to business by paying labor in depreciated currency and transacting business upon such a basis. Properly to protect labor and capital and maintain a safe and sound currency were made the cardinal doctrines of the party. The revenues of the government, which had run down until they were far inadequate to meet the current expenses of the government, gradually began to increase until they reached a sum equal to the necessary normal current requirements of the government. Labor, which had been poorly paid and much of it idle, found employment at increased wages. In short, the conditions of the country were so developed that it was possible that the mass of the people might become more prosperous. To all of which we point with most commendable pride.

DEMOCRATIC.

Pledges the party to "the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the present established ratio of 16 to 1, by independent action of the United States, without waiting for the consent or permission of other nations."

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

We are uncompromisingly opposed to banks of issue under any name or title whatsoever. Both of the old parties during their entire existence have both favored and fathered such labor-robbing institutions.

We are opposed to the issuance of government treasury notes, promises to pay some body in coin, because that somebody ever has and ever will be the money changer, a vile and useless creature who under and by means of such a system of money has been the overshadowing curse of all nations in all ages of the world. Both of the old parties by virtue of the influences that control them are eternally pledged to a redeemable currency, the one favoring a single gold redeemer, the other favoring two redeemers, silver and gold.

We stand unalterably opposed under any circumstances to the issuance of interest-bearing United States bonds. Both of the old parties are wedded to the bond and bondage method of raising money.

We believe it to be the right and the duty of the people in their governmental capacity to issue full legal-tender paper money in such amounts as the industrial and business needs of the country may from time to time require, and that without any regard whatever to the wish or will of a panic-making, business-paralyzing, labor-enslaving and man-degrading money trust, composed of money changers at home or abroad. Both of the old parties during their entire existence have been wedded to the single or double barreled specie basis system of money, by means of which nothing but gold, or gold and silver, can be a full legal tender for debts within the United States.

We demand, as long as either of the metals is used as money, the independent, free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1.

INDIANA.

REPUBLICAN.

The republicans of Indiana are unreservedly for sound money, and are therefore opposed to the heresy to which the democratic party is wedded of the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, which we regard as absolutely sure to debase our money and destroy our private credit and cause general business disaster. We recognize the necessity of comprehensive and enlightened money legislation, and believe that the declaration in the St. Louis national republican platform for the maintenance of the gold standard and the parity of all our forms of money should be given the vitality of public law and the money of the American people should be made, like all its institutions, the best in the world.

DEMOCRATIC.

We reaffirm and emphasize the platform adopted by the national democratic convention of 1896 at Chicago. We are in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the existing ratio of 16 to 1, without the aid or consent of any other nation.

We are unalterably opposed to the single gold standard, and we specially protest against the declared purpose of the present republican secretary of the treasury of applying that policy more thoroughly. We believe that the practice of the treasury in paying treasury notes in gold only, in violation of law, and in surrendering the option of the government, reserved by the statute, to pay in gold or silver, is chiefly responsible for the great money depression now and for so long a period existing in this country, is destructive of business enterprise, dangerous to the public credit and the prosperity of the people and a serious menace to the national honor.

IOWA.

REPUBLICAN.

The experience of the last two years has fully approved the gold-standard policy of the republican party as declared by the national convention of 1896. We recognize the necessity of comprehensive and enlightened monetary legislation. The monetary standard of this country and the commercial world is gold. The permanence of this standard must be assured by congressional legislation, giving to it the validity and vitality of public law. All of the money must be kept at a parity with gold. Our money, like our institutions, should be maintained equal to the best in the world. On this plank we invite the support of all voters who desire honesty and stability in business affairs and an immediate and permanent settlement of the question of the standard of value.

DEMOCRATIC.

The democracy of Iowa discern in the democratic national platform of 1896, which we hereby heartily reaffirm, the best expression of democratic principles enunciated since Thomas Jefferson wrote the declaration of independence. The utterances of that platform concerning finance explicitly define our faith on the money question. The free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1 we hold to be indispensable to the financial, industrial and political independence of our people, and recognizing William J. Bryan as preeminently the representative and exponent of the platform we earnestly favor his nomination for president of the United States in 1900.

We impeach the republican party of criminal insincerity in declaring for bimetallicism in its national platforms of 1888 and 1892 and for international bimetallicism in 1896 and now in its latest state platform unequivocally committing itself to the gold standard. And we denounce as being dangerous to the public welfare the proposal for legislation involving the conversion of the 500,000,000 silver dollars and the $344,000,000 of greenbacks first into exclusive gold obligations and next into an interest-bearing bonded debt and filling the vacuum created by the obliteration of the nearly $1,000,000,000 of legal-tender money with non-legal-tender bank notes.

SILVER REPUBLICAN.

We, the silver republicans of Iowa, reaffirm our adherence to the Chicago platform of 1896.

The legal ratio being 16 to 1, we demand that there shall be no tinkering with that ratio at the instance of those who are trying to create confusion in the interest of the gold standard.

We view with alarm the programme of the so-called "Honest Money league" to retire all government currency by the sale of interest-bearing bonds and the substitution therefor of national bank notes, and declare that the issuance of money is an act of sovereignty and demand that all money of every kind shall be issued by the general government.

We believe a tax upon that part of an income in excess of $4,000 is juster than to tax the mortgage given to secure a debt. The one asks prosperity to contribute, the other tends to tax misfortune and add to its burdens.

We denounce the shameless abandonment by the so-called republicans of Iowa of the declaration for the free coinage of silver in the platform at St. Louis in 1896 and the substitution therefor of the currency plank of the gold democrats adopted at Indianapolis in that year.

In the language of the republican national platform adopted at Minneapolis, we believe "that the American people, by tradition and interest, are bimetallicists and demand the use of both gold and silver as standard money," and in the further language of a platform adopted by the republicans of the state of Iowa: "Whereas, the silver dollar was the unit of value from the foundation of the federal government up to 1873, the law under which its coinage was suspended should be repealed at the earliest possible day and silver made, with gold, a legal tender for the payment of all debts, both public and private."

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

For the purpose of meeting the obligations of our contracts and for foreign commerce the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 meets our approval, but for internal commerce the truly scientific money of the United States is a money issued solely by the government, without the intervention of corporations; such a money should be full legal tender for all debts, public and private, without any exception or limitation; it should be received by the government in payment of all public dues. It should be issued in volume commensurate with the business demands of the country and increase of population. It would stimulate business instead of repressing it. It would tend to stability of prices and wages, and such a money, when not discredited by the government issuing it, would be beyond the reach of speculators and would never be discredited by a loyal people.

KANSAS.

REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm the principles enunciated in the national republican platform of 1896 and direct attention to the fact that every promise has been kept and every prediction has been verified. We heartily approve the policy of President McKinley in the preparation for and conduct of the war and pledge to him our loyal support in this contest, begun as it was at the dictates of humanity and waged as it is for the honor of the nation and the freedom of the oppressed.

DEMOCRATIC.

We, the democrats of Kansas, pledge our allegiance to the principles of the renewed democracy which found expression in the democratic national platform of 1896. We stand to-day for every principle therein enunciated and especially for the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the consent of foreign nations. We take special pleasure in recording our appreciation and indorsement of the splendid campaign waged in behalf of people's rights by their intrepid champion, who stands in merit and esteem with the historic leaders of democracy, William J. Bryan.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

We demand the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 of silver to 1 of gold and the issue of legal-tender notes good for all debts in preference to the issue of interest-bearing bonds.

We oppose the issuance of all bonds and we condemn the republican party for its action in fastening upon the people a large bonded debt ostensibly for war revenue, but in reality for the perpetuation of the national banking system.

MAINE.

REPUBLICAN.

Demand "a currency for business and labor, the soldier and the pensioner, that is as good as gold the world over; all necessary legislation in the interest of labor, of temperance, education and economy in the state administration."

DEMOCRATIC.

An unqualified indorsement of the principles of the Chicago platform.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

We are opposed to the labor-robbing institutions known as national banks, and demand that the government alone shall have the power to issue money and regulate the value thereof; this money should be a full legal tender for all debts, public and private, and issued in sufficient volume to transact the legitimate business of the country.

The system of issuing bonds in every public emergency is most dangerous and pernicious and should be strictly prohibited by the American people.

As long as the barbaric system of metal money is retained we demand that silver should receive the same recognition as gold and be admitted to our mints for free coinage in the ratio of 16 to 1.

MASSACHUSETTS.

REPUBLICAN.

We affirm anew our support of sound money. True to the pledge of the St. Louis platform, the president and congress, earnestly and in good faith, strove to secure an agreement of the great commercial nations for the coinage of silver and gold at an established ratio. The attempt has utterly failed. All our currency must rest upon the single gold standard. Every dollar must be kept equal in value to the dollar in gold. All government indebtedness which, by the terms of the contract, is payable in coin must be paid in gold at the option of the creditor. We rejoice in the defeat of the Teller resolution in a republican house of representatives as the repulse of an attack upon the integrity of our monetary system and the fair fame of the republic.

The time has come for the reform of our currency in the direction of the ready conversion of its different forms, each into the other, and the redemption of all in gold upon demand, with adequate provision for the extension of banking facilities to the agricultural and sparsely settled portions of the country, to the end that in those sections capital may be responsive to the demands of business and lower rates of interest prevail.

DEMOCRATIC.

The democracy of Massachusetts indorses and reaffirms with emphasis and profound conviction the great and patriotic platform of principles adopted by the party in national convention at Chicago in 1896. In that year both political parties, confronted by a disastrous depression in production and general business, by the distress of labor, by the condition of financial affairs and the monetary system in particular, declared a return to bimetalism to be a measure calculated to remedy the existing evils.

The republican party, impressed with the importance of the restoration of bimetalism, pledged itself to promote the same by international agreement, while the democratic party declared that the United States, with or without the co-operation of other nations, should restore the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold.

After two years we find the promises of the victorious party wholly unfulfilled. The business of our country is, in reality, in a more deplorable condition than in 1896. The promised prosperity has not been realized; nothing better than a specious local activity has anywhere appeared. The general industrial and economic condition runs at even a lower ebb than when the present administration was put into power. The wages of labor have been reduced. Thousands of workmen have been thrown out of employment in the dead of winter; other thousands are working on part time and are struggling desperately with adverse conditions.

The futile policy of the republican administration in sending a commission to Europe to secure international bimetalism and at the same time in thwarting and bringing to naught every effort of that commission and in making its success impossible has revealed the predetermined purpose of the republican party to violate its pledges to the American people and to prevent bimetalism in any form, not only in the United States, but throughout the world.

The democratic party, with a conviction and persistency which have now been confirmed by the observation and experience of two additional years of disaster, again demands the return to bimetalism by restoring silver and gold to coinage at the ratio which was maintained during so many previous years.

perous years in the history of our country, the ratio of 16 to 1.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

We believe in an invariable dollar. To secure this our currency should consist of a volume of legal-tender notes issued only by the government as standard money, expanded or contracted as shall be necessary to make the dollar buy always the same average of a selected number of staple commodities.

As a measure of immediate relief we favor the free coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1.

MICHIGAN.

REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm the principles of the St. Louis platform and pledge them our support as a sure guaranty of national prosperity and honor. We stand upon the existing gold standard and condemn the proposition to admit silver to free and unlimited coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1 by this country alone, believing that such a proposition would irreparably disturb business already recovering from the shock of democratic rule.

DEMOCRATIC.

The democracy of Michigan in state convention assembled hereby reaffirms its loyalty and devotion to the platform adopted at Chicago in 1896.

UNION SILVER PARTY.

We, the representatives of the union silver party of Michigan, in convention assembled, do heartily declare our loyalty and unswerving fidelity to the principles of bimetallicism and demand the restoration of silver to equal coinage privilege with gold at the ratio of 16 of silver to 1 of gold, and that all money, whether gold, silver or paper, shall be issued by the government direct, without the aid or intervention of national banks or banking corporations, and that such money shall be a legal tender for all dues and demands, public and private.

Whereas, The present administration has proved its utter inability to bring about international bimetallicism, so called, and Secretary Gage and President McKinley have by numerous utterances committed the republican party to the principles of the single gold standard as enunciated and set forth by the Indianapolis Sound Money league, so called, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we invite all friends of bimetallicism to stand with us in a united effort to preserve both gold and silver as the basic currency of the nation at the present ratio.

Resolved, That we view with alarm the rapidity with which the gold-standard policy inaugurated by Grover Cleveland and championed by Hanna, Gage and McKinley is bonding the nation, and we point to the lamentable fact that since the adoption of said policy in 1893 $665,000,000 in bonds have been issued. We point to this as proof of the claim of bimetallicists that the only way to maintain the single gold standard is to continue and even increase the national debt.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

We, the representatives of the people's party of Michigan, in convention assembled this 22d day of June, 1898, in the city of Grand Rapids, hereby reaffirm our adherence to the principles enunciated at the Omaha convention, as reaffirmed at St. Louis and in Bay City in 1896.

We demand that all money, whether gold, silver or paper, shall be issued by the government and shall be full legal tender for all debts, public and private.

We demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1.

PEOPLE'S (MIDDLE-OF-THE-ROAD).

We demand a national money, safe and sound, based on the wealth, industry and loyalty of the whole people of the United States, on the whole property therein and on the stability of our republic, in which we have unbounded confidence under the intelligent direction of the producers of wealth—the plow holders—but no confidence while it remains under the dominating influence of the money power—the bond holders—and that such money be of paper, issued by the national government only, without the intervention of banking corporations, and be made a full legal tender for all debts, including taxes and duties to the United States, and that it shall not be made redeemable in metallic coin.

We demand the free and unrestricted coinage of silver and gold at the legal ratio of 16 to 1, regardless of foreign nations, so to increase and cheapen the volume of metallic money, as compared with all other forms of property and wages, that the government and people may obtain the means at less sacrifice to meet and cancel their metallic coin obligations according to the letter of the contract; and to prevent such exigency for the future we demand that all public and private contracts be henceforth made, under legal enactment, payable in lawful money of the United States, and that metallic coin contracts be forbidden.

MINNESOTA.

REPUBLICAN.

The republicans of Minnesota in convention assembled congratulate the country on the evident signs of returning prosperity, largely due to the party's unswerving allegiance to the cause of sound money and the wise revenue legislation of the republican congress.

We believe the national honor and the material interests of the American people require the maintenance of the present gold standard. We declare our unalterable opposition to the free coinage of silver and all schemes looking to the debasement of the currency and the repudiation of debts. We condemn the continual agitation of free silver as tending to debauch the public morals and jeopardize the prosperity of the country, the highest interests of which demand at all times a sound and stable financial system.

DEMOCRATIC.

The democrats of Minnesota in convention assembled hereby reaffirm the Chicago national democratic platform and pledge to it their unswerving support until its principles shall have become the established governmental policy.

We recall with pride the courage and gallant leadership of our late presidential candidate, William J. Bryan. His devotion to the principles of free government and his splendid elucidation of those principles in the campaign entitle him to the lasting gratitude of the people.

SILVER REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm our attachment and loyalty to the principles of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Bryan.

We reaffirm and indorse the principles laid down in the platform of the national republican convention which met in Minneapolis in 1892, which declared as follows: "The American people, from tradition and interest, favor bimetallicism. The republican party demands the use of both gold and silver as standard money."

We denounce and repudiate the humiliating and degenerate doctrine of the national republican platform, adopted at St. Louis in 1896, dictated by the gold monopoly forces of the world and the great trusts and corporations which contributed so liberally to its campaign fund, to the effect that the gold standard must be maintained in this country until foreign nations consent to our use of silver as standard money.

MISSOURI.

REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm our faith in the declaration of principles of the republican party of 1896, and in this connection we call the attention of the people to the fact that the national administration, under the control and with the support of the republican party, has faithfully redeemed every pledge in that platform: has restored the public credit, dispelled panic and depression, revived industry and trade, reopened the factories and workshops of the nation, renewed and restored enterprise and production, and given full protection to American citizens and American interests at home and abroad, inspired the American people with renewed hope and new and honorable aspirations, and has again demonstrated that the republican party is the party of progress, entitled to the confidence of the people and furnishing in its administration of public affairs the surest proof of the stability and success of free institutions.

DEMOCRATIC.

The democrats of Missouri reindorse the national platform adopted at Chicago in 1896, and especially do we renew our demand for the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the consent of any other nation, and this demand we especially emphasize at this time by reasserting our belief that the money question is and will remain the most important of all political questions affecting the prosperity and happiness of our people until it is finally settled by the restoration of bimetallic coinage in accordance with our demand. And we declare our unswerving confidence in Col. William J. Bryan as the leading exponent of the foregoing principles.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

Resolved, That we favor the issue of full legal-tender paper money to pay the expenses of the Spanish-American war, and that we are unalterably opposed to the issue of interest-bearing bonds either in time of war or peace.

MONTANA.

REPUBLICAN.

We indorse without reservation or exception the declaration of principles adopted by the last national republican convention as promising wise policies of public action and bringing to the country a prosperity which we have not heretofore known.

DEMOCRATIC.

The democrats of Montana in state convention assembled reaffirm their belief in the great principles of Jeffersonian democracy as expressed in the Chicago platform. They declare that the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 is the paramount issue of American politics to-day.

They enthusiastically and loyally accept and support the leadership of William J. Bryan, whose record meets their entire approbation and admiration.

SILVER REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm our belief in and devotion to the principle of bimetallicism as expressed in the declaration for the free coinage of silver and gold at a ratio of 16 to 1 by the independent action of the United States and that we firmly believe the only method through which this desirable result can be attained and the country placed on a basis of permanent prosperity is the policy of a fusion of the silver forces so clearly and ably outlined by William J. Bryan and other national leaders in the movement for the restoration of silver as money of ultimate redemption.

NEBRASKA.

REPUBLICAN.

We favor the payment of our soldiers and sailors in the same money paid bondholders.

We reaffirm unswerving allegiance to the principles enunciated in the republican national platform of 1896. We are in favor of the maintenance of the present gold standard and unalterably opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

DEMOCRATIC.

We are proud to belong to a party that acknowledges as its chieftain and leader the Hon. W. J. Bryan, the people's champion, whom arm is ever lifted in defense of their rights and in redressing their wrongs whether in peace or in war.

We renew our allegiance to the principles taught by Thomas Jefferson and courageously defended by Andrew Jackson, and we demand that the great political problems of to-day be solved by the application of these principles to the present conditions; and, therefore, reaffirm our adherence to the platform of 1896, adopted by the democratic party in national convention assembled. And that the paramount issue of the campaign of 1900 ought and will be the restoration of our monetary system to its position prior to 1873, the free and unlimited coinage of the two metals at the ratio of 16 to 1, and believe that no permanent prosperity will reward the efforts of our producers until such a law is enacted.

We believe that all money issued by the government, whether gold, silver or paper, should be made a full legal tender for all debts, public and private, and that no citizen should be permitted to demonetize by contract that which the government makes money by law.

We further declare that we are opposed to banks of issue, and demand that all money, whether gold, silver or paper, shall be issued by the national government.

While always willing and ready to furnish for the support of the nation in her hour of peril every dollar of our property and every possible assistance; both in money and men, the democratic party is opposed to the issuance of interest-bearing bonds except as a last resort, but is in favor of the issuance of full legal-tender money, and we hold the recent issue of $200,000,000 of bonds unnecessary under the circumstances and therefore condemn it.

SILVER REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm the principles set forth in the party platform at our last state convention, and we take no backward step on the money question. We are in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the consent of any other nation on earth.

Maintaining and supporting republican principles upon the question of gold and silver as money as advocated by the old republican party until its repudiation of those principles at St. Louis in 1896, we renew our loyalty to the principles thus repudiated at the behest of the money power, and declare, as formerly declared by the old republican party and its honored leaders and accepted as good republican doctrine, as well as a doctrine as old as the national constitution itself, that we are in favor of the use of both gold and silver as money, and we condemn the policy of the gold-standard republican administration in its efforts to demonetize silver.

Silver is the money of the constitution; indeed, the money of the American people anterior to the constitution, which the great organic law recognized as quite independent of its own existence. The people are too intelligent to permit values to be measured in gold alone. This would make money dearer and property cheaper. We are for the largest use of silver in the currency of the country. We would not dishonor it; we would give it equal credit and honor with gold; we would make no discrimination; we would utilize both metals and discredit neither; we want the double standard. Silver, until a few years ago, was money the wide world over. Silver was one of the standard coins of the United States from the birth of independence until demonetization crept into the statute of congress, either by fraud or mistake.

NEVADA.

REPUBLICAN.

Resolved. That we reiterate our faith in and devotion to the great republican principles of bimetalism, protection and reciprocity. We are firmly convinced that the final adjustment of the money question must come by and through the republican party. The party is pledged to bimetalism. We therefore declare that the settlement of this important question may safely be left to the great republican party of the nation.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

We reiterate with emphasis that the financial question is the paramount issue and demand the free and unrestricted coinage of silver and gold at the American ratio of 16 to 1.

We denounce in unmeasured terms the action of the republican party and the democratic party in advocating the redemption of legal tenders in gold or in coin, and we demand that all United States money, whether of gold, silver or paper, be made a full legal tender without any exception clause whatever.

The recent bond issue was one of the most atrocious financial acts of the nineteenth century, and the indecent haste with which the administration issued the bonds when the treasury was already overflowing with lawful money proves conclusively that Wall street and the bondholders have an unfair and corrupt influence over the treasury department.

The so-called gold reserve is a disguise to our financial power and boundless resources, and we demand that it be abolished.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

REPUBLICAN.

The republicans of New Hampshire reaffirm the St. Louis platform, especially indorsing the gold standard as therein provided, and congratulate the people upon the speedy fulfillment of its important pledges.

DEMOCRATIC.

We, the democrats of New Hampshire, reaffirm the principles of the democratic party as announced in the national conventions since the foundation of the party. We emphatically declare our admiration for and confidence in the wisdom and patriotism of our great leader, William J. Bryan.

NEW JERSEY.

REPUBLICAN.

We indorse the national platform of 1896 and "specifically declare our undying opposition to any proposition to debase the national currency, a proposition so repugnant that the voters of New Jersey buried it under an unprecedented majority of 87,000 when they declared in favor of the representatives of national honor and honesty, McKinley and Hobart."

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

We demand a national currency, safe, sound and flexible, issued by general government only, a full legal tender for all debts, public and private, and that without the use of banking corporations, a just, equitable and efficient means of distribution direct to the people at a tax not to exceed 2 per cent per annum, to be provided as set forth in the sub-treasury plan of the Farmers' alliance, or a better system; also by payments in discharge of its obligations for public improvements.

We demand that the amount of circulating medium be speedily increased to not less than $50 per capita.

NEW YORK.

REPUBLICAN.

We renew our allegiance to the doctrines of the St. Louis platform. We continue to condemn and resist the democratic policies declared at Chicago. The organized democratic party of the nation adheres to these policies of free silver and free trade, and denies the right of the courts and of the government to protect persons and property from violence. On the coming 8th of November we are to elect not only our state officers, but also representatives in congress and members of our state legislature. That legislature, in its turn, will elect a United States senator to succeed the present democratic senator from this state.

The election of republican members of congress and of a republican state legislature will mean that New York will stand for the maintenance of the gold standard and for such a revision of the currency laws as will guarantee to the labor of the country that every promise to pay a dollar, issued under the authority of the United States, shall be of absolute and equal value with a gold dollar always and everywhere.

NORTH CAROLINA.

REPUBLICAN.

The republican party of North Carolina renews its allegiance to the principles and policies set forth in the national republican platform adopted at St. Louis in 1896; and we point with pride and enthusiasm to the triumphant vindication of those principles and policies under the wise and splendid administration of William McKinley.

DEMOCRATIC.

We denounce the republican party for its defeat of the Teller resolutions declaring our national bonds payable in silver as well as gold, and denounce it for its determined purpose of more thoroughly fastening the single gold standard upon our people, and for its avowed hostility to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, as well as gold, at the ratio of 16 to 1, into full legal-tender money.

We denounce the republican party for its determination to issue bonds at this time, and we denounce the republican war tax bill which lately passed the house of representatives as unjust, unequal in its burdens, unnecessary and vexatious, and we demand that the silver seigniorage be coined, that an income tax be levied, and that the secretary of the treasury be authorized to issue the necessary amount of full legal-tender greenbacks, or United States treasury notes, in order to meet the expenses of the war with Spain and to supply the revenue deficit under the Dingley law.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

We believe that all money demands should be payable in the lawful money of the United States without preference or discrimination, and therefore favor the passage by the general assembly of a law to prohibit the taking or giving of gold notes, bonds and mortgages in this state, and to make all the money demands solvable in any kind of lawful money of the United States.

We condemn the present national administration for its efforts to fasten upon the people and future generations the burden of interest-bearing bonds and for indorsing and carrying out the infamous bond and monopoly policy of the preceding administration of Grover Cleveland.

We commend the action of the populists, silver republicans and silver democrats in congress for their wise, brave and patriotic course in solidly co-operating to strike out the bond provision of the pending war revenue bill and to substitute therefor an issue of greenbacks and the coinage of the silver seigniorage to carry on the war.

NORTH DAKOTA.

REPUBLICAN.

Money being an instrument of international concern, we are unalterably opposed to the independent free coinage of silver. The currency of the American people is now and should continue to be the best in the world, and the parity of all forms of money should be maintained by wise and conservative laws. We favor the use of both gold and silver as the standard of all commercial countries, and indorse the efforts of the republican administration to promote the policy of bimetalism under agreement with the civilized nations of the world.

DEMOCRATIC.

We reaffirm our belief in and adherence to the great principles of the democratic party as laid down in the democratic platform at the Chicago national convention of 1896.

OHIO.

REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm the declaration of facts and principles adopted by the eleventh national republican convention at St. Louis June 17, 1896.

DEMOCRATIC.

We reaffirm the platform of principles adopted at Chicago by the democrats at their convention in July, 1896. And we particularly reaffirm and indorse the financial plank therein, declaring for the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, independent of any and all other nations.

NATIONAL LIBERTY PARTY.

All money should be issued by the general government only, and without the intervention of any private citizen, corporation or banking institution. It should be based upon the wealth, stability and integrity of the nation. It should be a full legal tender for all debts, public and private, and should be of sufficient volume to meet the demands of the legitimate business interests of the country. For the purpose of honestly liquidating our outstanding coin obligations we favor the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold, at a ratio of 16 to 1, without consulting any other nation. As a partial remedy for our financial troubles we declare for postal savings banks.

OREGON.

REPUBLICAN.

We are in favor of the maintenance of the present gold standard; we are unqualifiedly opposed to the free coinage of silver and to all other schemes looking to the debasement of the currency and the repudiation of debt. We believe that the best money in the world is none too good to be assured by the government to the laborer as the fruit of his toil and to the farmer as the price of his crop. We condemn the continued agitation for free silver as calculated to jeopardize the prosperity of the country and to shake the confidence of the people in the maintenance of a wise financial policy; we particularly condemn as unpatriotic the efforts of the free-silver agitators to array class against class and section against section; we declare that the interests of all classes and of all sections of our country alike demand a sound and stable financial system.

FUSION.

(Democrats, People's Party and Silver Republicans.)

We demand the free and unrestricted coinage of silver and gold at the present ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the consent of foreign nations, and we are unalterably opposed to the policy of the present republican administration in demanding the retirement of greenbacks and the turning over of the money-making power of the government to the national banks, as presented by the bill drawn by the republican secretary of the treasury and indorsed by President McKinley, and we especially denounce the avowed attempt by said bill to fasten the country irrevocably and forever to the single gold standard.

We demand a national money, safe and sound, issued by the general government only, without the intervention of banks of issue, to be a full legal tender for all debts, public and private; also a just, equitable and efficient means of distribution direct to the people through the lawful disbursement of the government.

We demand that the volume of circulating medium be speedily increased to an amount sufficient to meet the demands of the business and population of this country and to restore the just level of prices of labor and production.

We favor such legislation as will prevent for the future the demonetization of any kind of legal-tender money by private contract.

We demand that the government, in payment of its obligations, shall use its option as to the kind of lawful money in which they are to be paid, and we denounce the present and preceding administrations for surrendering this option to the holders of government obligations.

We demand that there shall be no further issue of United States interest-bearing bonds.

PENNSYLVANIA.

REPUBLICAN.

The republican party of Pennsylvania ratifies and reaffirms the doctrines enunciated in the republican national platform adopted at St. Louis in 1896 and approved by the people at the last presidential election.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

The people's party strenuously opposes any issue of bonds for the purpose of defraying the expenditure incurred in the impending war with Spain, believing that the cost of the said war can and by right ought to be met by the government issue of non-interest-bearing treasury notes and that the said notes be full legal tender.

RHODE ISLAND.

REPUBLICAN.

Since it is the avowed purpose of all the political opponents of the republican party to unite in a crusade against the existing gold standard and in favor of a depreciated silver currency, with free coinage, we declare the same to be a serious menace to our continued prosperity and should lead to the active political co-operation of all those who believe in the necessity of a stable currency and of securing to it, by proper legislation, equivalence of purchasing power at all times with the best money of the commercial world.

We reiterate our desire for such a stable and honest currency. We are inflexibly opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and believe the continued agitation of the silver question, so called, to be unpatriotic and destructive to the best interests of industry and commerce. The existing gold standard is the measure of value adopted by the nations with which the United States has the most important commercial relations, and the very suggestion of a departure from it inflicts injury to the credit of a nation whose honor should be unquestioned at home and abroad.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

REPUBLICAN.

The republican party of South Dakota renews its unqualified allegiance to the fundamental principles of republicanism, protection and sound money. We are opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver and unhesitatingly indorse the gold standard of money under which the nation has made such unsurpassed strides of progress.

DEMOCRATIC.

We demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver by the federal government at the ratio of 16 to 1, without asking for the consent or waiting for the aid of any other nation on earth.

SILVER REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm and indorse the national platform of the silver republicans adopted at St. Louis in July, 1896, in its entirety, and declare it the purpose of the silver republicans of South Dakota to unite at all times with other political reform parties which favor just and equitable principles, such as were put forth by the national conventions of the people's and democratic parties in 1896 and elucidated from the Atlantic to the Pacific by that matchless leader, William J. Bryan.

We commend the brave and patriotic position of the silver republicans, populists and democratic senators and congressmen who have for the last two years so nobly stood by the principles enunciated in the various national platforms and pledge to them our political and moral support until success shall be attained in this, the people's government.

We most emphatically demand the re-monetization of silver upon the basis of 16 to 1, without waiting for the consent of any other nation, and that the government issue full legal-tender money to meet the necessities and demands of the people, without the intervention of national banks or other private corporations. We are uncompromisingly opposed to the issue of interest-bearing bonds as advocated and adopted by the present republican administration, but believe it is the duty and function of government to issue full legal-tender money and control the circulation thereof, and that a legal-tender non-interest-bearing treasury note, countersigned by the government officials, is as honest money as any interest-bearing bond signed by the same authority and its payment guaranteed by the same people.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

The people's party of South Dakota triumphantly reaffirms its allegiance to the fundamental principles enunciated in the Omaha and St. Louis platforms.

We distinctly reaffirm our position in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 and our unalterable opposition to the issue of interest-bearing bonds in time of peace or war.

We are opposed to banks of issue and in favor of the issue of all money direct by the government.

TENNESSEE.

REPUBLICAN.

As to the national issues, we heartily endorse the platform adopted by the national republican convention held at St. Louis, 1896, and reaffirm our allegiance to the principles therein declared.

DEMOCRATIC.

We hereby endorse the enunciation of principles contained in the democratic platform adopted by the national democratic convention at Chicago in 1896, it being a true expression of the democratic creed. We especially reaffirm our demand for the restitution of the money of the constitution by a law providing for the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the consent of any other nation.

We oppose the increase of the public debt by the issuance of interest-bearing bonds and condemn the action of the present republican administration in the issuance of such bonds instead of treasury warrants, which warrants would furnish a circulating medium and would be taxable, while interest-bearing bonds are not taxable and will not circulate as currency.

We demand that all obligations of the United States shall be discharged according to the terms of the contract in either gold or silver at the option of the government and not at the option of the creditor.

UTAH.

REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm our allegiance to the cause of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independent of the action of any other nation, as fully set out in our first Utah state convention platform, upon which we elected the present governor and other state officers.

DEMOCRATIC.

We reaffirm the principles declared in the democratic platform adopted in Chicago for 1896. The imperative necessity of the use of both gold and silver for the purposes of money throughout the world is generally conceded. The use of both is essential to the welfare and happiness of mankind. The re-establishment of such use is of such vital importance that no ordinary difficulty should be permitted to stand in the way of its attainment. It is generally acknowledged that without both gold and silver people must sink in the scale of happiness and civilization. They must languish in poverty. They must continue to struggle in vain to better their condition. They must toil on without even the hope of adequate reward. Yet it is said that for this pervading, flagrant wrong there is and can be no remedy without the aid and consent of those who are and will remain deaf to all appeals for relief. It is true that at this time there is a right which cannot be made to prevail, a wrong for which there is no remedy. Have the maxims of our race proved false?

There is a remedy. It is declared in the national platform of the democratic party, to which we now declare our steadfast devotion. That remedy is the enactment of a law by the congress of the United States providing for the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of other nations, such consent being notoriously impossible to obtain; and that such coin be legal tender in payment of all debts, both public and private.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

Believing that this nation is capable of passing and enforcing its own laws, we demand a law opening the mints to the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present ratio of 16 to 1.

We demand that the money of this country be speedily increased by the issuing of legal-tender notes to an amount sufficient to transact the business of the country upon a cash basis, and that all money, gold, silver or paper, be made a full legal tender for all debts, thereby making "every dollar as good as every other dollar."

TEXAS.

REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm our allegiance to the principles laid down by the St. Louis platform in 1896, and we particularly announce that we are unreservedly for sound money.

We heartily endorse the action and course of President McKinley and the administration since their inauguration. They have inspired universal confidence, restored normal conditions in American industrial life and developed an industrial prosperity of unexampled proportions.

DEMOCRATIC.

We endorse in every particular the platform adopted by the national democratic convention of Chicago in 1896, but we especially commend and approve the declarations in favor of an income tax, against the power of banks to issue money, for a tariff for revenue that will operate without discrimination against classes or sections and for the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, with full legal-tender qualities and without reference to the action of other governments.

We declare that the present war excitement cannot and shall not obscure the money question, upon which the fight in 1900 will be chiefly made, and that the interest now being taken in the 2,000,000 people of Cuba and Puerto Rico must not detract from the vital interest of the 75,000,000 of our own people.

VERMONT.

REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm our loyalty to the cardinal principles of the republican party as enunciated in the platform of the national convention at St. Louis in 1896, especially to the doctrines of protection and sound money, and our confidence is unshaken that this party, which represents the mind and heart and conscience of the American people, will wisely settle the tremendous questions of American policy as they confront us.

DEMOCRATIC.

We, the democrats of Vermont, declare our adherence to the principles of democracy formulated by Jefferson, exemplified by a long line of democratic statesmen since his time and crystallized in the platform adopted by the democratic national convention at Chicago in 1896.

We lift aloft the unstained banner of the Vermont democracy and emphasize our unswerving loyalty to the money of the constitution, the money of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and the long line of illustrious American statesmen; the money that brought prosperity and contentment to this country for eighty years is the money that will restore prosperity to business and a suffering people. The man who calmly deliberates is the man who will be impressed with the fact that the money standard of the Rothschilds, Morgans, Belmonts, Goulds and Sages is the standard these money barons have purposely designed for their selfish upbuilding, and not to confer blessings upon the toiling and producing masses who plainly note their downward progress.

The Vermont democracy takes especial pride in expressing its undiminished admiration of and confidence in William J. Bryan, whose unanswerable logic so clearly voices the principles and benefits of that government which confers the greatest good upon the greatest number of people.

WASHINGTON.

REPUBLICAN.

We favor the existing gold standard and oppose the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

DEMOCRATIC.

The act of 1873 demonetizing silver was surreptitious, passed without the approval or knowledge of the American people. This infamous act demonetizing silver has caused the steady appreciation of gold, a corresponding fall in the prices of commodities produced by the people, a heavy increase in the burden of all debts, public and private, the enrichment of the money-lending class, the paralysis of industry and the impoverishment of the people.

We therefore renew our demand for the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. We demand that standard silver dollars shall be full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts, public and private, and we favor such legislation as will prevent for the future the demonetization of any kind of legal-tender money by private contract.

FUSION.

We demand the re-establishment of bimetallicism by return to the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver into money at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the action of any other nation.

We demand that our money shall be issued by the government only, without the intervention of banks of issue, as full legal tender for all debts, public and private; that the volume of the circulating medium shall be sufficient to meet the requirements of the country, for the purpose of restoring and maintaining a just level of prices for labor and commodities, to the realization of all of which we pledge our representatives in congress.

We demand that there shall be no further issue of United States interest-bearing bonds.

WISCONSIN.

REPUBLICAN.

We believe that the declaration in the St. Louis national republican platform for the maintenance of the gold standard and the parity of our forms of money should be enacted into law, and the money of the American people should be made and kept, like all its institutions, the best in the world.

DEMOCRATIC.

We affirm our allegiance to the democratic principles, justice, liberty and equality, upon which our institutions are founded and which the democratic party has advocated from Jefferson's time to our own, and we declare our firm devotion to democratic principles as enunciated in the Chicago platform of 1896.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

The issue of all money by the government directly to the people in connection with government savings banks. We hold that the issue is not so much between gold and silver, but whether the money of the country shall be controlled by the government or by private banking corporations.

WYOMING.

REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm the declaration of facts and principles adopted by the eleventh national republican convention at St. Louis, July 17, 1896.

The financial policy of the republican party having brought prosperity to the entire country and given us a place among the nations of the earth and enabled us to conduct successfully a foreign war, we therefore unhesitatingly reaffirm the financial plank of the platform as expressed by the national convention at St. Louis.

THE WAR AND FOREIGN POLICY.

ALABAMA.

DEMOCRATIC.

Standing "to arms" as we do to-day, we pledge our lives and sacred honor to the cause of our country, for its defense, for the maintenance of its honor and prestige and for its support in any conflict with a foreign foe.

ARKANSAS.

REPUBLICAN.

To the army and navy of the restored union we send greetings and express our entire appreciation of the patriotic and heroic feeling which has prompted their enlistment, our sincere sympathy with their trials and sacrifices, our deep and profound interest in their movements, our resolve to honor and applaud their services and our anxiety to welcome their triumphant return. The country to whose renown they are contributing will ever hold them in grateful remembrance.

We favor the annexation of Hawaii as a strategic position and a commercial necessity and the immediate building of the Nicaragua canal.

DEMOCRATIC.

We recognize the Monroe doctrine as a cardinal tenet of the democratic party and a part of the public policy of the national government and favor its strict observance.

Believing that the war now being waged by the United States with Spain is for the purpose of maintaining the national honor and to assist an oppressed people struggling for liberty, we note with pride the promptness with which all sections of our common country have responded to the call for men and means for its prosecution, and pledge the democratic party of Arkansas to an indorsement of all necessary measures to bring it to a successful, speedy and triumphant conclusion.

CALIFORNIA.

REPUBLICAN.

The national welfare demands the retention of the island of Puerto Rico and other West Indian islands coming under our control, and of the Philippines, in order to permit the expansion of American trade, and in case of the latter to safeguard the commerce already secured in the orient. In the event of the retention of this foreign territory it should be the policy of the United States to extend to it the benefit of free commercial intercourse with all sections of the American union, and to that end the provision of the constitution requiring that all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States should be rigidly enforced.

We pledge the nominees of the republican party in the various congressional districts in the state to use their utmost efforts, if elected, to secure the speedy extension of the revenue system of the United States to the islands of Puerto Rico and the Philippines, that all parts of our country may enjoy the benefits of trade intercourse with our new acquisitions on the same terms that now prevail throughout the United States.

We rejoice in the acquisition of Hawaii and Puerto Rico and favor the retention by our country of every foot of soil that has been conquered by the victorious hosts of our great republic.

DEMOCRATIC.

We indorse the action of congress in declaring war against the government of Spain for the purpose of securing liberty to the people of Cuba and of putting an end to the long-continued oppression and gross misgovernment under which they have suffered.

We congratulate the people of the United States upon the speedy and successful termination of the war for the accomplishment of this purpose. We rejoice in the success that has come to the American arms on land and sea and glory in the bravery and skill of the soldiers and sailors of our country. The sublime courage and fortitude displayed by our land and naval forces in achieving the victories of Manila and Santiago have shown to the world the value of free institutions, universal suffrage and general public education in developing the highest qualities of character, intelligence and courage, making our volunteer soldiers, trained in the schools of the state militia organizations, more than equal to those who compose the great standing armies of Europe.

We favor the fullest investigation of all conditions existing in the Philippine islands affecting the interests and obligations of our country in the matter of their future treatment and disposition, to the end that final action in relation thereto shall be intelligent and based upon a full knowledge of all facts that can affect the interests of the United States.

While we do not favor an aggressive policy of territorial expansion, we are opposed to the surrender to Spain of any of the territory that has been acquired by American valor and the expenditure of the blood and treasure of our people. And we do not favor the surrender to Spanish dominion of the people of any of the Spanish colonies who co-operated with our forces against our enemy in the late war. We are unalterably opposed to the assumption by this government of any portion of the debts of Spain incurred in maintaining her sovereignty in Cuba and to the imposition of any portion thereof upon the people of that island or to any recognition thereof.

PROHIBITION.

We favor the hearty support of the government in the present war and pledge ourselves to this end.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

The war against Spain, compelled by the sentiments of the people of the United States in vindication of honor, duty, humanity and liberty, should be prosecuted with overwhelming vigor until the ends for which it was undertaken have been fully and satisfactorily achieved.

COLORADO.

REPUBLICAN.

We commend the patriotism, skill and ability displayed by the present administration during the trying times of the late war with Spain, and are proud of the achievements of our army and navy in the victories over the enemy, especially the bravery and patriotism displayed by the Colorado volunteers in the Philippines and the daring courage of the 7th infantry at Santiago.

We condemn as un-American and unpatriotic the position of the democrats and others in congress who spoke and voted against the annexation of Hawaii.

We are unqualifiedly in favor of keeping forever in place the American flag wherever it has been unfurled to the breeze, whether as a result of conquest or peaceable acquirement.

DEMOCRATIC.

The democratic party heartily approves of the recent war with Spain and justly shares in the glories of its results. We favor the independence of Cuba and the retention by this government of the other Spanish West India possessions and the control of all other Spanish territories taken by the American forces in the war just closed.

To the soldiers and sailors of the army and navy and to their gallant commanders on land and on sea we tender our sincere and fervent gratitude. Their achievements have added to the luster of our arms, to the glory and power of the nation and to the limits of our domain. They have destroyed every lingering vestige of sectionalism and have cemented the union forever with the love of all for our common country. A grateful country will bind up their wounds, sustain their sick, care for their afflicted and dependent and keep from want their widows and orphans.

SILVER REPUBLICAN.

We congratulate the country upon the conclusion of a war whose purpose was the highest that ever impelled a nation to take up arms, and whose record of glory on land and sea has never been surpassed in history. We declare that the war was waged in deference to the demand of the liberty-loving people of this country, whose sympathies were aroused by the suffering of the people of Cuba under the barbarous misgovernment of Spain; that it was an American war, and that the attempt manifested in some quarters to claim it as the property of a certain political party in this country is not creditable to the patriotism of those who make it.

We declare our belief in the mission of the people of the United States as the evangel of liberty and self-government to the nations of the world, and in their ability to discharge all of the responsibilities which the fortunes of war have thrust upon them. Wherever the flag waves it shall be a symbol of civilized freedom and to all men who gaze upon its folds a guaranty of the inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

Recognizing that the recent war with Spain for the liberation of Cuba has thrown upon our nation the responsibility for the protection of millions of people debased by centuries of inhumanity; therefore, recognizing the injustice involved in the return of these people to the conditions from which the United States has been the instrument of their release, we favor the retention and government of these islands over which our flag now floats and where our heroic dead lie buried, until such a time as a majority of the people of these respective countries shall express a desire to establish a government of their own.

CONNECTICUT.

REPUBLICAN.

It [the party] approves the annexation of Hawaii and is in favor of acquiring and controlling such additional lands, naval stations and harbors as will enable us at all times to give the most complete protection to our growing commerce with Asia and the countries of the far east.

DEMOCRATIC.

We call attention to the fact that while a successful war in the cause of a common people adds fresh glory to their flag the management of the various war departments has chilled our exultation and brought home to us a sense of shame.

The American sailor and soldier have done their full duty, but the administration of President McKinley has been utterly incompetent to discharge the obligations which the management of the war imposed. Incompetency and venality in places of high trust have brought disgrace upon the administration and aroused the ire of an indignant people.

DELAWARE.

REPUBLICAN.

We believe in the maintenance of an army and navy sufficient to assert and maintain the rights of our nation and all its citizens against the encroachments of other nations.

We believe that our seacoasts should be thoroughly fortified in the best manner.

We believe that the United States should keep all territory either surrendered to it or captured by its forces in the late war with Spain.

We congratulate the nation on the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands. While we congratulate the nation upon the completion of the war with Spain, we demand that there shall be a vigorous, thorough and honest investigation by a competent and impartial tribunal of the alleged disgraceful and incompetent management of our war department, whereby the lives of many of our brave soldiers and sailors were needlessly sacrificed, and whereby the men who so cheerfully went forth to fight the nation's battles were without cause compelled to suffer great distress, discomfort, misery, starvation, sickness and death, and that the guilty parties, whoever they may be, be properly punished.

We believe that the Nicaragua canal should be built and controlled by the United States government.

DEMOCRATIC.

We heartily congratulate ourselves and the country on the happy ending of the war with Spain, and, now that its declared end has been accomplished, we demand that the country as quickly as possible be restored to the conditions of peace and that the burdens of war taxation be lessened.

FLORIDA.

DEMOCRATIC.

We rejoice in the brilliant successes attained by the American sailors and soldiers in the present war with Spain, and glory in the fact that the last vestige of sectional feeling has been swept away forever as we have assembled on the call of the nation as one people to meet a foreign foe, and that henceforth we shall know no north, no south, no east, no west, but shoulder to shoulder, with the star-spangled banner waving over us and the love of country inspiring us, we shall onward march to the high destiny among the people of the earth for which the God of nations intended us.

We condemn the policy of insular territorial expansion upon which the administration at Washington has embarked as unwise, un-American, unjust to the masses of our people, and especially to the laboring and producing classes, and as dangerous to our free institutions; and we pledge the democracy of the state of Florida to the opposition of the same. Whereas the present war with Spain was inaugurated for the declared purpose of aiding the Cuban patriots in their struggle for liberty and in the efforts to establish a free government, and we have solemnly announced to the world that we have no intention to annex the island of Cuba to the United States; and whereas war at best is un-Christianlike, demoralizing in its tendencies and a drain upon all the resources of the country; therefore, when the declared objects of the present war shall be accomplished it will be the duty of the government to grant peace on terms just to this government and honorable to our people, and in the adjustment of such terms of peace Cuba should be left free by this government and untrammelled by our army and navy to establish, by the free action of her people, a free and independent government of its own; the democrats of Florida will support the administration in all its efforts to conduct the present war to an early, honorable and satisfactory close, and it would be an act of bad faith on the part of our government and a blot upon our civilization for us, as a result, either directly or indirectly, of the war, to annex the island of Cuba to the United States, and thus to rob the Cubans of that free and independent government for which they have fought so long.

GEORGIA.

DEMOCRATIC.

We affirm that the cause for which the United States is at present engaged in war with Spain is just and righteous. Without regard to political division, all loyal and patriotic citizens of the republic should unite in the support of the common cause represented by the flag, and it is with pride that we point to the record of the democratic party, made through its senators and representatives, in having been the first to urge in behalf of freedom and humanity active measures looking to the suppression of Spanish oppression in the West Indies. There is cause for universal congratulation in the fact that the patriotic uprising of the whole people has obliterated sectionalism from the politics of our country, and while the people of the south unite with those of the north in cordial enthusiasm over the marvelous victory of Dewey in annihilating Spain's Asiatic fleet it is gratifying to observe that those of the north are no less cordial in bestowing praise and commendation upon the heroic deeds of the two brave young southerners—Bagley and Hobson—who, with their intrepid comrades, have won distinction which will render their names immortal and add new luster to the American navy.

As to the incidental questions that will arise as the result of the war, we believe that the people can safely be trusted to dispose of every such question in a manner which will be in keeping with the spirit of our institutions and in harmony with the principles and record of the democratic party. This country should first address its undivided attention and throw its full energy to securing decisive results in the war with Spain, rather than engage in political controversy over issues which are yet unshaped, and which, in the nature of things, cannot be intelligently discussed until the termination of the war.

IDAHO.

REPUBLICAN.

We congratulate the nation upon the successful issue of the war with Spain, prosecuted under the direction of William McKinley, commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, with the loyal support of the brave volunteers on both land and sea. We declare our hearty approval of the terms demanded of Spain by our president as the conditions of restored peace. And we declare our full and complete confidence in the patriotism and ability of the republican administration to make such just and wise provisions touching the government and control of our newly acquired territory as will best accord with the policy of our government and the best interests of all the people. And we declare our full faith and confidence in the patriotism and wisdom of the republican administration so to conduct the affairs of the nation, both at home and abroad, that the prosperity of our people and the honor of our flag will reach the highest mark to which our institutions entitle us to aspire.

DEMOCRATIC.

We declare our unfaltering allegiance to the Monroe doctrine and are strenuously opposed to the annexation of Cuba, believing that the inhabitants of that island should be given the opportunity of self-government. We also advocate the retention of all territory acquired by American valor in the war waged for humanity, always provided the people to be governed yield their consent.

We pronounce the war with Spain justified by every consideration of justice and sound national policy. We congratulate the democratic minority in congress for its firm stand in demanding the redress of our national honor and indorse the declaration of war on Spain and glory in its results.

We rejoice in the glorious deeds of valor of our soldiers and sailors and greatly deplore the fatalities and injuries which have so far resulted, and we favor the adoption of the most liberal policy toward the sick and wounded and the families of the slain.

ILLINOIS.

REPUBLICAN.

We believe that the present war with Spain is a righteous and just cause. We rejoice that the American people are a unit in sustaining the government and that the spirit of patriotism has swept away the last vestige of sectional feeling.

We pledge to the president the earnest support of the state of Illinois in the prosecution of the war to a triumphant close.

The United States should hold all the possessions it has conquered and may conquer from Spain until the Spanish government has agreed and given security that it will pay the United States an indemnity for this affair, which might have been avoided had Spain been humane; also that the United States hold such possessions in the conquered territory as shall be advantageous to its interests in times of war and peace.

DEMOCRATIC.

We reaffirm the Monroe doctrine and again pledge ourselves to abide by the advice of Washington, "to keep ourselves free from entangling alliances with foreign nations."

INDIANA.

REPUBLICAN.

While we sincerely deplore the necessity of war, we believe the president and congress acted wisely in demanding the complete withdrawal of Spanish sovereignty from the island of Cuba and in proceeding to enforce the demand with the military and naval power of the government. And now that our army and navy, through their splendid achievements, have blessed our nation with triumphs not excelled in the world's history, rendering many names illustrious and immortal, and adding prestige and glory, limited only by civilization, to our great republic, the occasion is one of supreme gratitude to the great Ruler of nations.

DEMOCRATIC.

We congratulate the country on the universal patriotic uprising which has swept away the last vestige of sectionalism and revealed us to the world as a united people. We rejoice in the heroic deeds of Dewey, Bagley, Hobson and their brave comrades, which have added new luster to the American name. We demand, now as heretofore, the most vigorous prosecution of the war until it shall have ended in vindication of the national honor, the absolute relinquishment by Spain of possession or control of any part of the western hemisphere, and the formal acknowledgment by that kingdom of the independence of the Cuban republic. We favor the prompt recognition by the United States of such independence as a war measure and as an act of justice to a brave people struggling for freedom. We urge the immediate increase of the volunteer forces of our army and navy to any extent necessary to assure speedy and decisive results, and the appropriation of all the funds requisite for the adequate equipment and support and for the comfort of our gallant soldiers and sailors in armed conflict against the public enemy. The supreme duty of the hour is to relieve the perishing victims of Spanish cruelty and secure the complete triumph of the national arms. When this shall have been accomplished the justice and wisdom of the American people may be safely trusted to deal with all questions which may grow out of existing complications. In such a way as best to promote the objects for which this republic was founded.

IOWA.

REPUBLICAN.

We favor the upbuilding of the American merchant marine, the speedy construction of the Nicaragua canal, the securing of naval and coaling stations and the protection of American rights in every quarter of the world with an adequate navy.

The republican party, under whose policies and administration prosperity has been restored and a foreign war successfully conducted, has earned the right to be further intrusted with the task of solving the territorial, colonial and commercial problems that have resulted from the war.

It is due to the cause of humanity and civilization, for which the war with Spain was fought, that no people who have in consequence thereof been freed from oppression shall, with the consent or through the indifference of the United States, be returned to such oppression or permitted to lapse into barbarism.

DEMOCRATIC.

The war with Spain was necessary and undertaken in the interest of humanity, and we commend the action of the democrats in congress who voted ample supplies for prosecuting it to a successful conclusion.

We demand that the solemn declarations as to the purposes of the war be faithfully carried out by the government. We glory in the valor of the soldiers and sailors of the army and navy and rejoice in their unexampled victory on land and sea. The congress provided amply in money to furnish them supplies and the best of care when they became disabled by wounds or disease, and we denounce the criminal incompetency and negligence of the agents of the government who have caused them to suffer and die in camp and hospitals for the lack of care which humanity and justice demand. And we insist upon a speedy, searching and impartial investigation to the end that the guilty may be exposed and fittingly punished.

We express our unbounded admiration of the patriotic, self-sacrificing courage of the soldiers who enlisted but were not sent to the front, as well as those who faced shot and shell and deadly disease on foreign soil, and we hold that all are equally deserving of the love and gratitude of the republic.

While recognizing the importance and demanding the maintenance of an effective navy, we hold that militarism is a menace to free institutions and we oppose any policy which will supply a reason or a pretext for supporting a large standing army in time of peace.

The immortal Washington, for profound reasons, wisely warned his countrymen against entangling foreign alliances. The admonition is as pertinent as when it was uttered a century ago. Therefore, while sincerely desiring friendly relations with all nations, we earnestly protest against alliance with any.

SILVER REPUBLICAN.

We are not in favor of adding to our population millions of Asiatics in far-off islands to compete in the field of labor with our own producers and wage-earners.

PROHIBITION.

While we believe in arbitration as the best means of settling international difficulties, and we deplore the causes which have led to the present war with Spain, and while we hope for a speedy termination of said war, we pledge our loyalty to our government in the present crisis, and we earnestly hope for the day when the government will intervene to rid our home land of the cruel rule of the saloon.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

We indorse the present war with Spain upon the sentiment expressed in the joint resolution of the American congress that "the people of the island of Cuba are, and of right ought to be, free and independent," and we demand that the same be conducted upon that theory. To this end we therefore insist upon a vigorous prosecution and speedy termination of the war and the establishment of peace and local government upon the island.

We cannot consent that this war, commenced for the relief of suffering humanity there, shall be made a pretext for the maintenance of a large standing army, or for territorial aggrandizement, or the cultivation of a vainglorious military spirit with attendant burdens of increased taxation, perpetual interest-bearing debt and inevitable tendency toward monarchical government.

KANSAS.

REPUBLICAN.

The experience of recent events has demostrated that our navy should be immediately strengthened and enlarged so that it will command and compel the respect of the world. We believe that the necessities of war have supplemented the arguments of peace and that the Nicaragua canal should be built as speedily as possible. We believe that the Hawaiian Islands should be annexed and we urge our representatives in congress to support the resolution providing for their immediate acquisition.

DEMOCRATIC.

We are in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the present war with Spain, and see in it not only the passing of Cuba from despotism to freedom but for ourselves a more advanced place among the nations of the world and a broader commercial horizon. The American navy should be greatly enlarged and in its wake our merchant marine, under new tariff laws, should open the world's markets to American buyers and sellers, and rights should be reserved in all territory conquered during the war to facilitate and protect such extended commercial interests, but with no view to territorial aggrandizement nor the establishment of a colonial policy for this government. We congratulate our state that she was the first to respond to the president's call with her full quota of volunteers, and assure our Kansas soldiers that in this righteous battle for human rights they will be followed through the march, the bivouac and the battlefield by the hopes and prayers of their fellow-citizens at home.

PROHIBITION.

In behalf of liberty and humanity we are in fullest sympathy with the action of congress touching Spain's long and continued and cruel oppression of Cuba.

MAINE.

DEMOCRATIC.

While we deprecate the horrors of war, it is now the duty of all to give their aid and support in order to bring to a successful termination the present conflict, and we do hereby pledge our cordial support to all such measures as are necessary to accomplish the purpose for which this war was instituted.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

The present war with Spain, if conducted for the liberation of the Cuban people, is just and humane, but it should not be prolonged for the benefit of contractors and money-lenders.

MASSACHUSETTS.

REPUBLICAN.

The war with Spain, undertaken by the United States from the highest motives, has been justified in the intelligence and compassion of mankind. Our brilliant victories have brought us solemn obligations and grave responsibilities, for we cannot, in the interest of honor, humanity or civilization, return to Spain the peoples whom we have freed from her tyranny.

The people of Massachusetts do not propose to abandon the ancient doctrines of republican liberty, upon which the commonwealth and the country are builded, and by which the American people have grown to be without a rival among the nations in wealth, power and happiness. What they enjoy themselves they desire shall be enjoyed by all other peoples, especially by those whom the valor of our soldiers and sailors have wrested from Spain, and whose destiny must now be determined by the United States alone.

While we would not interfere with the diplomatic negotiations now in progress, we desire that they be so conducted and terminated as to secure to the Philippine Islands and to Cuba in amplest measure the blessings of liberty and self-government.

The building of the Nicaragua canal, controlled and operated by the United States, is now imperative. Our possessions in the Caribbean sea, the annexation of Hawaii, our position in the Philippine Islands and the notable voyage of the Oregon have made its necessity clear to all. We confidently look to congress for the early undertaking of this work and its completion with all reasonable dispatch.

DEMOCRATIC.

We note with alarm and indignation the perversion of the powers and purposes of our republic from its true end and aim as prescribed by the fathers. We mark the stealthy approach and insinuation of European methods in place of the democratic methods which alone distinguish the American republic from despotism of foreign lands. We reaffirm the patriotic policy of the "father of his country," as declared in his farewell address, that we should ever be on our guard against the insidious advances of foreign influence, and that our country should cultivate friendly relationships with all nations and entangling alliances with none.

Following this policy the democratic party of Massachusetts declares its uncompromising opposition to imperialism, whether within or out of the dominion of the United States. We declare in particular that the pledge made by our congress at the outbreak of the war with Spain, that "the people of Cuba are, and of right ought to be, free and independent," should be sacredly maintained. We believe in the independence and freedom of every country and people capable of self-government. We should encourage the people of every land throughout the world, when unjustly governed and oppressed, to gain their freedom; we should assist them by pointing out to them the beneficent results of our own free institutions and by maintaining those institutions in their pristine purity and democratic form.

PROHIBITION.

Organized and existing for the economic and moral advancement of humanity, it sympathizes with all humanitarian projects, and tenders its loyal and hearty support to the national government in its war measures to relieve the sufferings and secure the independence of our Cuban neighbors.

MICHIGAN.

REPUBLICAN.

We congratulate the nation upon the victories recently won on land and sea and offer our tribute of praise to the heroes of Manila and Santiago, whose deeds have broadened the national horizon and won the respect of the civilized nations of the world.

While believing that Providence has made this nation the instrument for the uplifting of an oppressed people, and believing also that our flag once raised should never be lowered, nevertheless we leave our future destiny in this regard in the hands of the properly delegated authorities, believing that they will act for the glory and honor of the nation and the elevation of mankind.

DEMOCRATIC.

We favor a vigorous prosecution of the war with Spain, which was begun and is being waged in the interests of humanity and for the extension of political freedom. We urge the most liberal supply of modern arms to our soldiers and the utmost energy in their equipment. We declare our conviction that there should be no cessation of effort until every righteous purpose shall have been achieved. We congratulate the nation upon the skill and valor of its defenders and the prompt and effective response to the call for troops; especially do we feel just pride in the high character and earnestness of the brave men of Michigan, who, in the volunteer service, have reflected such credit upon our commonwealth.

UNION SILVER.

We most heartily support the national administration in all worthy efforts to maintain our national dignity and honor and forever to drive Spanish oppression from the western hemisphere. We also favor a vigorous prosecution of the war to a successful termination, as set forth in the declaration thereof.

MINNESOTA.

REPUBLICAN.

We are in favor of the immediate annexation of the Hawaiian Islands, not only as an absolute military necessity, but as the fruition of one of the noblest aspirations of a long line of our great statesmen and because such annexation would be of unquestioned advantage to the American people.

We desire especially to commend the wisdom and patriotism of the present administration in the management of the existing war between this country and Spain, a war which appeals to the patriotism of every citizen in that it is being prosecuted in the interest of humanity and for no selfish ends whatever. To the end that its objects may be speedily realized and the war brought to an early termination we pledge all moral and material support in our power.

SILVER REPUBLICANS.

We pledge our united support to the government in a vigorous prosecution of the war against Spain.

PEOPLE'S (MIDDLE-OF-THE-ROAD).

We heartily sympathize with the oppressed people of Cuba in their struggle for self-government, and with gratitude and pride we commend and rejoice in the patriotism of our young men who have volunteered in the battle of freedom for Cuba.

MISSISSIPPI.

REPUBLICAN.

We believe that the flag of no despotic nation should ever again be allowed to float over soil which has been hallowed by the blood of American heroes, shed in the cause of humanity and freedom and in the defense of American honor.

We reassert the Monroe doctrine in its full extent as a principle of our party, and we believe that the United States should stand aloof from interference with the affairs and disputes of European powers when American interests, the integrity of American territory and freedom of the nations of the western hemisphere are not involved, but we assert that the Monroe doctrine does not compel our government to abandon or to return to the tyranny of Spanish rule any of the helpless peoples who have by force of circumstances in the conduct of the Spanish-American war been placed under our protecting care. And we further assert that the Monroe doctrine does not forbid the enlargement and extension of American territory or the protection of American interests in the eastern as well as the western hemisphere, and especially in the Pacific ocean, where our great coast line and the requirements of the commercial development of our western states establish paramount rights and impose on our government corresponding duties, and we therefore approve of the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands, and we favor the acquisition and ownership of additional naval stations and ports, sufficient to afford ample protection to our rightful and naturally growing commerce with Asia and the other countries of the far east. We believe in the upbuilding of the American merchant marine, and we favor such legislation by congress as will accomplish that end.

DEMOCRATIC.

We assert that the declaration of war against Spain was justified by the causes which called it forth. We direct attention to the fact that the national republican administration, backed by the republican majority in congress, was opposed to war, and yielded only after delay to strong public sentiment, aroused by the first and persistent demands of democratic senators and representatives, foremost among whom were those from Missouri, and for their part in forcing the republican president and congress to defend the rights of our country we extend them our hearty congratulation.

We are opposed to waging a war for conquest, but as this war was forced on us by the intolerant conduct of the Spanish government and people we declare that it should be prosecuted until Spain is driven from the western hemisphere. And since the prosecution of the war has entailed great loss to us of both life and treasure we demand that Puerto Rico and all Spanish territory in the West Indies, except Cuba, shall be seized by the United States or be taken possession of by arms and held under the sovereignty of this country. We favor carrying out in good faith the resolution of congress under which we intervened in Cuba, and aiding the Cubans to establish and maintain an independent government of their own, if they desire this, and we will favor its peaceful annexation whenever it can be done with the consent of the people of the island.

We insist on the strict maintenance of the Monroe doctrine and hold that any departure from it would be both unwise and hazardous. At the same time we declare that no American people should be held by force in unwilling subjection to European authority.

We oppose an alliance of a political nature with any European government, believing that the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine in all its integrity, both in letter and spirit, is necessary to the exclusion of European authority from these continents.

and essential to our undisputed supremacy in American affairs.

We are opposed to the acquisition of the Philippines or other territory in the eastern hemisphere. We declare that as an important incident to war our government should acquire all necessary harbors and coaling stations in the Philippines or elsewhere, and that the treaty of peace with Spain or any other government established on the islands should guarantee to us commercial privileges equal or superior to those enjoyed by any other nation.

MONTANA.

REPUBLICAN.

As a result of our 110 days of war new interests and new duties have come to the country, and an increase of the army and navy is thereby required. We favor such an enlargement of the American navy as will protect our ever-widening commerce and make our flag respected on every sea.

DEMOCRATIC.

We congratulate our brethren, the people of the United States, upon the return of peace and on the renown achieved by our navy and army in a war waged in the sacred cause of humanity and liberty. We send greeting to our brave regiment now in a far-away island of the Pacific and commend the patriotism of those volunteers who gave their services to their country, though the exigencies of the war never required them to go to the front.

We arraign the war department for its criminal incompetency and inefficiency in failing to provide adequate food, shelter, raiment and medical supplies and attention for our brave soldiers, and demand the most rigid and searching investigation of the abuses resulting in the suffering and death of so many of our patriotic and devoted citizens.

Serenely confident of the ability of the United States to maintain its position among the nations of the earth, we are opposed to any alliance with any European power.

SILVER REPUBLICANS.

We are opposed to an Anglo-Saxon alliance as antagonistic to that safe policy of freedom from foreign entanglements counseled by the immortal Washington and steadfastly adhered to in the past, and that as we stand for the free coinage of silver, without the aid or consent of any foreign government, so we hold that our country, secure in the bravery of her sons and strengthened by the friendship of every lover of liberty throughout the world, needs the aid of neither kingdom nor empire to maintain her high position among the nations of the earth.

NEBRASKA.

REPUBLICAN.

We congratulate the nation upon the successful issue of the war with Spain prosecuted under the direction of William McKinley, commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, with the loyal support of brave volunteers on both sea and land.

We emphasize our hearty approval of the terms demanded of Spain by President McKinley as the condition of restored peace.

DEMOCRATIC.

We send greeting to the brave men of our nation who are fighting humanity's battle and attempting to relieve the suffering, privation and hunger of a courageous but oppressed people, and for that purpose to guarantee unto the fertile Isle of Cuba a government created, maintained and upheld by the consent of the governed, and pledge the president of the United States our most hearty support in the vigorous prosecution of the conflict.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

The policy to be pursued by the United States respecting foreign nations and peoples of the islands of the sea is one of great moment and far-reaching in its consequences to present and future generations of our countrymen. It is of such magnitude that it should not be hastily determined, and in view of the probable close of the war with Spain at an early date we affirm that the wise course for this government to pursue with respect to its relations with the islands lost to Spain during the war would be to postpone consideration thereof until the conclusion of the war, to be then taken up for mature deliberation by the people when no public excitement exists.

SILVER REPUBLICANS.

We indorse the policy of the people of the United States in prosecuting the war against Spain as a protection to our citizens and as a punishment for the destruction of a war vessel in one of the ports of Spain while this country was at peace with that nation, and as being in the interest of humanity and freedom, but we oppose the prosecution of the war for the purposes of conquest. We pledge to the present administration our undivided support in securing all the men and all the money necessary to bring the war to a speedy, honorable and successful end. We demand as a part of the conditions of the proposed peace with Spain that the Spanish dynasty shall be required to pay the cost of the war, the value of the battleship Maine and her armament, and an adequate sum as damages to the United States to be distributed among the wounded and the widows, orphans and dependents of those who lost their lives by the destruction of the Maine. We tender to our heroic soldiers of all ranks our warmest thanks and our heartiest congratulations, without regard to party, nationality, creed or color. Their sacrifices shall be remembered and those dependent upon them cared for.

NEVADA.

REPUBLICAN.

We stand for the policy of territorial expansion. The statesmanship of the war was intervention in behalf of Cuba; the statesmanship of the peace of to-day is freedom for the oppressed peoples of all lands acquired by the splendid victory of our arms. These victories demand not only expansion of territory, but, in the interests of justice and humanity, they demand expansion of civilization, which means for the Philippines, for Puerto Rico, for the Ladrones, free schools, a free church, open courts, no caste and equal rights to all those magnificent bulwarks of liberty.

We commend the annexation of the Sandwich Islands. It means the uplifting of a struggling people and the opening to them and their children of new avenues of promise, with wider and more hopeful prospects.

We urge the enactment of such laws as will protect the laboring classes of these islands, as well as those of any other territory that may be acquired by the United States, from the ruinous competition of cheap contract labor.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

The islands which recently belonged to Spain, but over which the American flag now floats, belong to the United States by right of conquest, and we are emphatically opposed to any scheme that will saddle any part of the Spanish or Cuban debt on this country.

The war with Spain has demonstrated the great necessity of a ship canal connecting the Atlantic and the Pacific, and we favor the immediate construction of such canal over the most feasible route, to be built, owned and controlled by the United States government.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

REPUBLICAN.

We approve the increase of the navy, the upbuilding of our merchant marine, the enlargement of the regular army to meet the present requirements of the country, the construction of a canal connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, the annexation of Hawaii and Puerto Rico, the provision for a free and stable government for Cuba and its ultimate annexation. While reaffirming the Monroe doctrine, we favor such disposition of the Philippines as will best promote the growing commercial and political interests of the United States, extinguish the sovereignty of Spain and make good our obligations to the peoples of those islands.

NEW JERSEY.

REPUBLICAN.

We approve the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands and view this act as an important step in the advance of American civilization, and we repose entire confidence in the wisdom and patriotism of the president and the commission appointed by him to negotiate such a treaty of peace as will meet the just expectations of our people by insisting on an adjustment in which the interests of this republic and of civilization and humanity will be secured as far as possible as the fruits of the valor of our soldiers and sailors in the war with Spain.

NEW YORK.

REPUBLICAN.

We have abiding confidence that the president will conclude this peace upon terms that will satisfy the conscience, the judgment and the high purpose of the American people. We realize that when the necessity of war compelled our nation to destroy Spanish authority in the Antilles and in the Philippines we assumed solemn duties and obligations alike to the people of the islands we conquered and to the civilized world. We cannot turn these islands back to Spain. We cannot leave them, unarmed for defense and untried in statecraft, to the horrors of domestic strife or to partition among European powers. We have assumed the responsibilities of victory, and wherever our flag has gone, there the liberty, the humanity and the civilization which that flag embodies and represents must remain and abide forever. The republican party has been the party of brave conservatism, of wise progress and of triumphant faith in the nationality of this people, and we know that the president and statesmen and voters of the republican party will meet these issues of the future as bravely and triumphantly as we have met the issues of the past.

We commend the annexation of Hawaii in the interest of commerce, of national security and national development.

DEMOCRATIC.

We congratulate the country upon the successful termination of a war undertaken, not for conquest or aggrandizement, but in the interests of humanity, liberty and civilization. We glory in the patriotic devotion and valor of our brave soldiers and sailors, who have honored the American people and heightened the luster of our national fame, and we favor the adoption of a liberal policy toward the sick and wounded and the families of those who lost their lives in the service of their country. We rejoice that the democracy has been connected with every honorable and creditable step in the war and with nothing that is dishonorable or discreditable.

The scandalous abuse by the president of his power of appointment in scattering army commissions among inexperienced and incompetent civilians as rewards to personal favorites, and almost to the exclusion of experienced officers in the service, is largely accountable for the fearful sufferings and the appalling loss of life among the gallant soldiers, that have brought disgrace upon the administration and a sense of shame to the nation. A democratic congress will, if chosen by the people, rigidly investigate the conduct of the war and expose and punish all who may be responsible for the unnecessary deaths, privations, sufferings and neglect of the soldiers, which have saddened the nation and abated the natural rejoicing over the triumphs of our army.

NORTH CAROLINA.

DEMOCRATIC.

While we deplore the war with Spain, we pledge our earnest support to the government in all honorable ways to effect a speedy and successful conclusion of hostilities.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

To avenge the Maine, to advance republican institutions and in the interests of humanity, the brutal and treacherous Spaniards should be driven from the western hemisphere and a republican form of government established in the islands which she has misgoverned, robbed, persecuted and pillaged.

NORTH DAKOTA.

REPUBLICAN.

In the interest of humanity and a more progressive and enlightened civilization we most earnestly advocate closer relations and a better understanding between the English-speaking peoples of the earth.

In the future as in the past we welcome to our shores and to our hospitality all liberty-loving individuals from every clime and offer to each of them a full share of the great blessings that belong to and are a part of the free institutions under our republican form of government.

We condemn the uncivilized and dark-ages policy of Spain in its barbarous treatment of the inhabitants of Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Philippines and those islands yet remaining under Spanish control, and to those of our patriotic citizens who have pledged their lives in behalf of these oppressed people we offer our tenderest devotion and our united support. In the marvelous victories on sea and land our nation has achieved in the last three months we recognize the hand of Providence and accept them as assurances of the success of our nation in the future.

We sincerely believe that Cuba must, and of right ought to be, free and independent.

Spanish dominion over Puerto Rico and the Philippines must cease forever, and we favor such wise policy as may be deemed necessary by the administration for the future government and control of these islands.

We fully indorse the action of congress and the executive in the annexation of Hawaii.

DEMOCRATIC.

We rejoice in the glorious achievements of our army and navy, whose magnificent victories, participated in by citizens of every state in the union, have added imperishable luster to our arms, swept away the last vestige of sectionalism in our country and revealed us to the world a united people, and we pledge the loyal support of the democratic party in this state to the national administration in waging and bringing to a successful termination the present war with Spain. We urge the vigorous prosecution of the war so unselfishly begun in the interests of humanity, civilization and progress, until Cuba and all other possessions of Spain on this continent are freed from her blighting influence and dominion.

The supreme duty of the hour is to relieve the oppressed and perishing victims of Spanish cruelty and to secure the complete triumph of our national arms. When this has been accomplished the wisdom and justice of the American people may be safely trusted to deal with all questions which may grow out of existing complications, in such a way as to promote the objects for which the war was entered upon and to perpetuate the principles upon which our government is founded.

OHIO.

REPUBLICAN.

We most heartily approve of the steps now being taken by congress and the president providing for the annexation of the Hawaiian islands as a part of the United States, and hereby express the urgent wish that the same be fully accomplished at the earliest practicable date by the passage by the senate of the joint resolution which has already met with the approval of the house of representatives.

Knowing that justice and humanity alike made it our duty to put an end to the hopeless and barbarous warfare waged by Spain against Cuba, and secure for that unhappy island a free and stable government, we most heartily approve of the declaration of war made by the United States against Spain, and pledge our lives and fortunes for the purpose of bringing it to a quick and successful termination.

We indorse and approve the patriotic

American administration of William McKinley. We commend the great statesmanship displayed by him in his tireless endeavors to secure an honorable settlement of the Cuban question by diplomatic methods, and his fearless refusal to be driven into war until all hopes of a peaceful settlement had failed and wise and needful steps had been taken to prepare for hostilities. We heartily indorse the conduct of the war by the administration and feel confident that time will continue more and more to demonstrate the great wisdom and matchless leadership of President McKinley so far remarkably displayed in his management of the war and its conduct, and we rejoice with him that, in the present crisis, the American people are united in sustaining him and that patriotism has completely obliterated the last vestige of sectional feeling.

Since the war with Spain could not be avoided, we approve all that congress has done to provide for the vigorous and successful prosecution thereof, and gratefully thank all members of that body who have patriotically voted the revenues necessary for its conduct. We also commend the action of congress in providing for raising necessary funds to carry on the war by the popular loan, thus affording an opportunity to citizens of moderate means to invest in the bonds of the government.

DEMOCRATIC.

We recognize the eternal truth that life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is the natural and inalienable heritage of all mankind, and since the hand of despotism has been lifted from the island of Cuba, dominated by Spain, we should afford its inhabitants an untrammelled opportunity to establish a free and independent constitutional government, deriving its powers from the consent of the governed, and we remind the country that congress, in the resolutions which declared war, resolved "that the United States hereby disclaims any disposition or intention to exercise sovereignty, jurisdiction or control over said island, except for the pacification thereof, and asserts its determination when that is accomplished to leave the government and control of the island to its people," and we believe that until the people of the islands of Cuba and the Philippines, redeemed from Spanish domination, declare otherwise we should keep the faith upon which the war was begun and prosecuted.

PROHIBITION.

While we hold that the policy of arbitration ought in general to prevail in cases of dispute between nations, yet we hereby express to the president of the United States and the authorities of the nation at Washington our loyal sympathy and support in the humanitarian war that is now being waged by our country in behalf of the oppressed people of Cuba and the cause of popular freedom.

OREGON.

REPUBLICAN.

While we deplore the imminence of war, we recognize that the country is on the eve of a war, undertaken for the vindication of the national honor and the performance of a work dictated by every instinct of humanity; we declare that the administration is entitled in this conflict to the confidence and support of the entire people.

PENNSYLVANIA. REPUBLICAN.

We declare our emphatic approval of the wise and patriotic course of the president and congress in the present war. We appreciate the high statesmanship which led the president to resort to every honorable means to avoid the necessity of a war with Spain. The conditions prevailing in the island of Cuba, under Spanish control, had become seriously injurious to our important commercial interests, and the suffering, misery and death occasioned by Spanish cruelty and barbarity had instilled a sentiment of resentment among the American people, who cannot help but feel a generous sympathy with people so near our own border. The destruction of the Maine by Spanish agencies, in the opinion of our people, demanded atonement; and our negotiations with Spain clearly developed the fact that but one alternative was left to the United States, that Spain should relinquish her sovereignty over that island and that the freedom of Cuba should be recognized. With these purposes in view we demand a vigorous prosecution of the war to a successful conclusion and we pledge our earnest support to the president of the United States in whatever measures he may deem necessary.

DEMOCRATIC.

We pledge our hearty support to the government in an active and aggressive conduct of the war with Spain.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

We demand for the people of the United States an American policy thorough and strict, and with all possible emphasis we reaffirm the principles of the Monroe doctrine as enunciated by Thomas Jefferson—"that our first and fundamental maxim should be never to entangle ourselves in the broils of Europe; our second, never to suffer Europe to intermeddle with cis-atlantic affairs;" and we pledge our support of the Cuban policy declared in the joint resolution adopted by congress and approved by the president April 20, 1898.

RHODE ISLAND. REPUBLICAN.

We sympathize with the unfortunate and distressed people of the island of Cuba in their efforts to obtain a larger measure of liberty and security in their government. Ferently do we hope that wise counsels may prevail and that the privations and sufferings of that gallant people may not longer be a reproach to our common humanity. Sincerely do we desire to remain at peace with all the nations of the earth, but if the vindication of the national honor and the firm maintenance of well-considered principles of justice shall necessitate a resort to the arbitrament of arms, we pledge Rhode Island to the national defense and the supremacy of our flag.

SOUTH DAKOTA. REPUBLICAN.

We earnestly commend the republican administration and congress for the annexation of Hawaii, despite the strenuous opposition of the conspiracy created by the sugar trust.

SILVER REPUBLICAN.

We are in favor of a vigorous prosecution and successful termination of the present war with Spain for the independence and freedom of Cuba yet we believe the time has come to protest against any effort to convert the present war into one of conquest.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

We approve of the war now being waged in behalf of the oppressed people of Cuba and the Philippines, and demand its energetic prosecution and that it be terminated as quickly as possible after the purpose for which it was inaugurated shall have been accomplished.

PROHIBITION.

We declare ourselves in favor of Cuban independence, and long for the time to come when our national government shall take as decided a stand for the oppressed of our own nation, caused by the drink curse, as it now takes in the interests of oppressed Cuba.

TENNESSEE. REPUBLICAN.

We believe in an extension of trade and commerce with foreign countries. Believing that trade follows the flag, we declare in favor of the annexation of Puerto Rico and all the West India islands; the ultimate annexation of Cuba by the free consent of the people of the island, and such control of the Philippines and other islands as shall secure to the United States the trade and commerce of those islands and good government for their people.

DEMOCRATIC.

The United States is engaged in a foreign war with Spain, inaugurated in the name of humanity and for the freedom of Cuba, and we indorse the action of our senators and representatives in congress in voting to institute this war for these high purposes. We urge its vigorous prosecution, to the end that it may be speedily terminated and the blessings of peace restored to our country. We recognize the Monroe doctrine as a cardinal tenet of the democratic party and a part of the public policy of the national government, and favor its strict observance.

UTAH. REPUBLICAN.

While we insist on maintaining the Monroe doctrine in all its integrity, we believe it consistent with it and safe for us to hold and maintain possession for commercial purposes of other lands in any part of the world, and we believe in protecting our flag wherever it has been successfully raised.

DEMOCRATIC.

The war with Spain was necessary and inevitable if the nation was to have any regard for the protection of its citizens and the redress of wrongs and outrages on the part of Spain which had become intolerable. Every consideration of justice and humanity demanded quick and decisive action. Such was the demand of the American people. Yet, after this condition became known for months, a republican administration hesi-tated and, in weakness, sought to avoid the responsibility growing out of this most important crisis. After resorting to various devices and deceptive representations it was at length compelled, through the patriotic efforts of democratic members of congress and an array of public sentiment, to favor a declaration of war. Through the skill, willingness, sacrifice and heroism of the army and navy of the United States the war has been waged to a triumphant and glorious conclusion.

TEXAS.

REPUBLICAN.

We favor an increase in our army and navy to the extent that circumstances and conditions require to establish and carry into effect permanently the plans and policies of our administration with reference to the annexation of Puerto Rico and other Spanish possessions and to establish and guarantee a stable government in the island of Cuba.

We approve with satisfaction the terms upon which peace will be entered into between Spain and the United States, as set forth in the president's acts and protocol, and we congratulate him and the administration upon their conduct of and successful termination of the war.

We approve the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands as being wise and tending to increase our commerce and trade, providing a safe, convenient and sufficient naval base and coaling station and adding much to the wealth and resources of our country. We insist that the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands is within the spirit and letter of the constitution and an evidence of a determination on the part of our administration to carry into effect the Monroe doctrine.

DEMOCRATIC.

We favor the carrying out to the letter and spirit of the resolutions under which we intervened in Cuba, and we insist that the Cubans shall be permitted to establish an independent government of their own, but in the event that the people of that island shall hereafter desire to be annexed to this country and the terms of annexation can be satisfactorily arranged between the two countries we will welcome Cuba as a part of the territory of the United States.

We favor the acquisition of Puerto Rico and all other Spanish possessions in the western hemisphere.

We reaffirm our faith in the Monroe doctrine and oppose the annexation or continued retention of the Philippine Islands or any territory upon the eastern hemisphere.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

The war between the United States and Spain was at its inception declared and understood to be in the interest of humanity, and not for conquest. We cordially indorse this sentiment and demand that the war shall be vigorously prosecuted to a successful termination on these lines and in this spirit, and we now and here pledge to the president and his administration our cooperation to that end.

VERMONT.

REPUBLICAN.

For the first time in a generation the republicans of Vermont assemble with the nation at war. Many of our citizens have become soldiers. They are beyond our borders—perhaps on foreign soil. They are fighting for the nation's honor as their fathers fought for the nation's life. It is therefore fitting that we should proclaim our faith and purpose. We are at war with Spain not for revenge, not for conquest, not for glory, not for love of war. But we are at war with Spain for the love of fellow-men, for the sake of humanity—in the holy cause of liberty. We are at war with Spain because we have heard the poor that cry and have remembered them that are in bonds as bound with them. Therefore the war must go on until the infamy of mediæval methods of government in the dawn of the twentieth century and at the very door of this republic shall have forever passed away and until a permanent and honorable peace is secured; and to that end we pledge our loyal support to the president of the United States.

We are opposed to the resurrender to Spanish misrule of any territory which the valor of our army and navy has rescued or may hereafter rescue from the hands of the enemy, and we have an abiding confidence that a republican president and congress will so shape the future of such territory as best to promote the welfare of its inhabitants and the true glory of our country.

DEMOCRATIC.

The republican administration in its declaration of war solemnly declared to the world that the purpose of this country in entering upon the war with Spain was solely one of humanity, and in its declaration expressly disavowed any intentions of setting up or asserting the sovereignty of the United States in any conquered territory. We accept that declaration as made in good faith and binding upon the administration and the country, and we believe that the present war should be vigorously prosecuted and promptly ended. We oppose the proposed imperialistic policy of the republican party in the annexation or colonization of any territory won from Spain by our arms. The policy of protection of necessity leads the republican party to this course, because unless our markets are extended in this manner their protective principle will be annihilated. Such policy involves the abandonment of the Monroe doctrine, depriving us of the advantages we have enjoyed from our isolated situation; exposes us to the danger of quarrel with the European nations, and is liable to force us into the entangling alliances which Washington charged us to avoid; and it is a departure from the faith of the fathers and from the principles upon which the government was founded; it assumes powers never conferred by the constitution and imposes responsibilities for which our system of government is unfitted and invites the disasters which have overtaken all republics heretofore existing.

We believe that the annexation of Hawaii was an unwise departure from our traditional policy, and in view of the territory's remoteness and the undesirableness of its population we oppose the admission of these islands to statehood. We cordially extend our love and sympathy to the Green Mountain boys who promptly responded to their country's call.

WASHINGTON.

REPUBLICAN.

We indorse the conduct of the administration of President McKinley relating to the measures and events which led to the war with Spain, the conduct of the war throughout, and are now in favor of the retention of all conquered territory.

DEMOCRATIC.

While we do not favor an aggressive policy of general territorial expansion, we are opposed to surrendering to Spain any of the territory that has been acquired by American valor and expenditure of blood and treasure of our people. We do not favor surrendering to Spain the domination of the people of any Spanish colonies who co-operated with our forces against our enemy in the late war.

We are opposed to the assumption of any portion of the debts of Spain incurred in obtaining her sovereignty in Cuba, and also to the imposition of any portion thereof upon the people of that island or to recognition thereof.

We favor the fullest investigation of all conditions existing in the Philippine islands affecting the interests and obligations of our country in the matter of their future treatment and disposition; to the end that final action in relation thereto shall be intelligent and based upon full knowledge of all facts that can affect the interests of the United States.

WISCONSIN.

REPUBLICAN.

We welcome the return of peace and express our gratitude and thanks to the brave men of the army and navy who have maintained the honor of our flag and again proved to the world the qualities of American patriotism. We extend joyous welcome to our returning Wisconsin boys, who have deservedly gained the highest honors among the volunteer troops.

We express our perfect confidence in the administration wisely and justly to conclude terms of peace having regard for the welfare of the inhabitants of the conquered territory and the best interests of our own people.

DEMOCRATIC.

We congratulate the citizens of the nation on their loyalty and ardent patriotism displayed in the prosecution of the late war, and we especially honor the American army and navy for their valor and intrepid bravery on land and sea; and we condemn in unstinted measure the war department for the blunders and crimes committed against the brave boys in blue in camp and on foreign battlefields, by selfish contractors, incompetent surgeons and vain, heartless army officers appointed for political purposes, and we hereby pledge to our brave soldiers and sailors who survive the war our earnest and loyal support to secure the punishment of the guilty parties.

WYOMING.

REPUBLICAN.

We believe our country under a republican administration is entering upon its greatest period of power, happiness and responsibility, and we realize the mighty future of successful progress and duty which is even now before us, and that the republican party is fully able to pursue a policy upon the declaration of peace with Spain which will at once maintain the dignity and honor of our nation and bring prosperity to the islands which will come under our control and protection.

We most heartily approve of the annexation of the Hawaiian islands and hail with pleasure the American flag which has been there planted as an emblem of liberty by the republican administration.

ARKANSAS.

REPUBLICAN.

We congratulate the country upon the adoption of the Dingley act, with its reciprocity provision, as a wise measure of protection and security to American labor and capital, which, while greatly reducing our imports by substitution of home for foreign made fabrics, has opened to us the markets of the world to an extent never before known, so that the balance of trade in our favor for this fiscal year will attain the unparalleled and stupendous figures of $600,000,000.

CALIFORNIA.

REPUBLICAN.

We call attention to the fact that since the return of the republican party to power the balance of trade has changed from more than $400,000,000 against the United States to about $380,000,000 in our favor, and all of this is due to the wise and conservative financial policy adopted and adhered to by the republican congress and president.

PROHIBITION.

We protest against the frequent tariff changes which are suddenly made, to the great detriment of the business interests of the country, as one or the other of the old parties comes into power at Washington, and we favor a tariff commission of experts, whose duty it shall be to recommend to congress any needed changes in our tariff.

COLORADO.

DEMOCRATIC.

The so-called Dingley act, passed for the purpose of supplying revenue to the treasury, is confessedly a failure. It has neither raised wages nor revenue, revived business nor promoted prosperity. Under its operation many thousands of employes have suffered a reduction of wages or lost employment, while the national income shows an annual deficit of $100,000,000. It is the culmination of a system unlawful and indefensible, and we demand the passage of a revenue law which shall furnish an adequate supply of money to the government without necessarily burdening the people or enabling the few to flourish at the expense of the many.

CONNECTICUT.
REPUBLICAN.

It [the party] pledges itself to maintain the principle of protection to American labor and American industry, with reciprocity, and favors such alterations in the existing tariff and revenue laws as the changed conditions growing out of the Spanish war may require, and those which may be found necessary from time to time, and it favors the most stringent legislative prohibitions against cheap pauper immigration, protecting to the fullest extent the American wage-earner against imported cheap labor.

DELAWARE.
REPUBLICAN.

We demand that the products of foreign countries shall be required before being admitted into this country to pay such duties as will protect the American workmen from competition in our home markets with the underpaid labor of Europe and Asia.

We also believe that the duties so imposed should be so laid as to discriminate in favor of products imported into this country in American-built vessels.

DEMOCRATIC.

The Dingley tariff act increased taxes, making the highest tariff schedules known to our history, without increasing revenue sufficiently to meet the expenditures of government. It increased the special advantages and privileges of the sugar trust and of every other trust, but it did not increase the wages of labor nor revive the depression under which agriculture languishes. Every indication points to the necessity of expansion in our foreign trade and we demand that the fetters of the Dingley tariff act be removed.

We believe that all taxation, state or national, should be so laid as to place the least restraint possible on the labor, industry and enterprise of the people, and that no privileged class or private interest should be permitted to use the taxing power for its own ends.

IDAHIO.

REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm our belief in the protective tariff policy of the republican party, and we believe that only under such policy can the people enjoy the fullest measure of prosperity which our splendid natural resources and commercial advantages entitle us to demand.

INDIANA.

REPUBLICAN.

We especially commend the president and congress for the prompt passage of a wise revenue law in accordance with the sound republican doctrine of reciprocity and protection to American industries and home labor, and express our unbounded confidence in the beneficial results predicted for this measure by our party leaders, evidences of which are daily accumulating in the way of renewed business prosperity and ample revenue for ordinary governmental expenditures.

We therefore reaffirm our belief in the doctrine of reciprocity and protection to American labor and home industries, and condemn the democratic doctrine of tariff for revenue only as unsound and unsuited to the best interests of the country, a doctrine whose falsity has been demonstrated by our experience under the Wilson revenue law, that plunged the nation into commercial and financial distress, from which it is fast recovering since the change from that democratic policy.

DEMOCRATIC.

We earnestly reassert the democratic doctrine that all tariff taxes shall be laid for revenue as their sole object and purpose, and we do at this time especially denounce and condemn the high prohibitory rates of the present republican tariff, commonly called the Dingley law, under the operation of which trusts and combinations have multiplied, the cost of the necessities of life has been increased and the wages of labor have not been advanced, and which has entailed upon the country a deficit of many millions to be made up only by additional taxation in time of war, thus imposing, instead of a benefit, an onerous burden upon the people of the United States.

IOWA.

REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm our belief in the republican doctrines of reciprocity and protection. We congratulate the people on the fact that a republican congress has enacted a protective tariff which has brought prosperity to our country, and pledge ourselves to favor such changes in the present republican revenue law as experience may from time to time dictate or change if conditions demand.

KANSAS.

DEMOCRATIC.

We are against the McKinley and Dingley system of taxation for the expenses of government. It is wrong in principle, being a tax on consumption instead of property, and a breeder of trusts and monopolies. It is disastrous in practice, as the present $60,000,000 deficit illustrates, and we renew our protest against it and insist upon federal taxation being levied in such manner as will reach the incomes and property of rich men and corporations and thus to some degree exempt the necessities of the common people. We wage no war upon the rich, but insist the rich and poor alike must stand in equality before the law, and that unjust privileges and the aggressions of wealth upon the rights of man must cease. We therefore favor an amendment to the constitution of the United States, if the same be necessary, such as will authorize congress to levy direct taxes upon incomes, corporations, estates and all forms of aggregated wealth.

MASSACHUSETTS. REPUBLICAN.

The demand for a tariff really protective, and that should provide ample revenue for the needs of the government, has likewise been fully met in the Dingley act. Under its operation exports of manufactured goods have increased and imports diminished, the number of persons employed and the amount of wages paid have been greater, and the rate of wages, looking at our industries as a whole, has been higher. As a producer of revenue it has demonstrated its ability to furnish more than can be required in times of peace. Under it the credit of the government has been restored. We no longer issue bonds for ordinary expenditures; we sell our war bonds to the people, not to syndicates or by contract at exorbitant rates of interest and enormous profits to the purchaser at the expense of the people. The gold reserve behind our demand currency is more than sufficient.

DEMOCRATIC.

We denounce the general character and particular acts of legislation which have been enacted under the influence of the present administration. Every such act has been calculated not to alleviate but to add to the disasters of the people. Of this kind of discriminating legislation is the Dingley tariff law, the provisions of which were dictated by the beneficiaries. Of this kind is the more recent internal-revenue tax law, which was notoriously constructed so that the corporations might evade their share in the burdens of the nation, thereby devolving the entire sacrifice upon an already distressed people.

MICHIGAN. REPUBLICAN.

We congratulate the country upon the gradual return of business prosperity since the return of the republican party to power, and point with satisfaction to the successful operation of the Dingley law that is now producing ample revenue for all the ordinary expenditures of the government. We congratulate the country upon the restoration of protection and the return of prosperity as evidenced by the reopening of mills, factories and shops and the re-employment of idle men and women.

MINNESOTA. REPUBLICAN.

The Dingley law has been a new stimulus to American industry, created new enterprises, increased the demand for labor, and in a multitude of ways vindicated the wisdom of the republican policy under all conditions of our national life. We affirm our adhesion to the principles set forth in the platform of our last national convention at St. Louis and exemplified in the administration of William McKinley. The work of undoing the mischief wrought upon American industry by the last democratic administration is being prosecuted with a vigor that commands our admiration. The wisdom of our republican congress cannot be too highly commended for its efforts in providing such remedial legislation as is necessary to reform abuses growing out of democratic misrule, to supply the wants of an exhausted treasury and repair the damages produced by the gross mismanagement of our national finances, by enacting a tariff which afforded neither protection nor revenue and was destructive of the interests of the wage-earner.

MISSOURI. REPUBLICAN.

We believe in the protection and expansion of American industry and commerce and in the protection of American citizens and interests whenever and wherever they may need protection.

MONTANA. REPUBLICAN.

We express our abiding approval of the principle of protection to American industry and cherish with undiminished anxiety our purpose to see the rewards of labor maintained and increased.

SILVER REPUBLICAN.

We renew our professions in favor of protection to American labor and American industry.

NEBRASKA.

DEMOCRATIC.

We denounce as unjust and unequitable the protective-tariff system, which, through the instrumentality of class legislation, robs the many for the benefit of the few, and that a tariff should be for a revenue only, and therefore denounce the Dingley act and arraign the republican party for its enactment.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

DEMOCRATIC.

We denounce the republican party for the passage of the Dingley tariff law, a measure calculated only to protect monopolies, insufficient to raise a revenue sufficient to meet the ordinary expenditures of the government and based upon no principle of equity or justice.

NEW JERSEY. REPUBLICAN.

We hereby resolve and declare that we affirm our adhesion and devotion to the fundamental principles of the national republican party as set forth in the platform adopted at the St. Louis convention in 1894.

NEW YORK. REPUBLICAN.

The republican party is fulfilling its pledges made at St. Louis. We have enacted a conservative, protective tariff, so wisely devised that the revenue is amply sufficient to pay the ordinary expenses of government in times of peace, while capital is encouraged to seek employment and the wages of labor are maintained at that high standard which experience has proved to be necessary to the welfare of our people. Our exports largely exceed our imports. The gold of the world comes steadily to our shores, and with a continuance of republican policy and republican national administration the prosperous future of the nation is assured.

In the interests of American labor and commerce we believe that American products should be carried in American ships, and we favor the upbuilding of an American merchant marine, which will give us our share in the carrying trade of the world in time of peace and constitute an effective naval militia in time of war.

NORTH CAROLINA.
REPUBLICAN.

We indorse the Dingley tariff law and also the republican tariff measures made necessary by the enormous expenditures incident to the war. While the democratic administration sold bonds in secret in time of peace to foreign syndicates, the present republican administration has required the banks and syndicates to stand back until the common people could have all the bonds which they were able and willing to pay for; and we point with pride to the fact that our bonds are worth 20 per cent more in time of war than they were worth in time of democracy, and that the common people of the country have displayed their confidence in the government by subscribing three times over the amount called for by the administration.

DEMOCRATIC.

We denounce the republican party for the passage of the Dingley tariff law, which has increased the burdens of taxation upon our consumers and given the trusts and monopolists greater power to rob the people.

Believing that under our present methods of federal taxation more than three-quarters of our national revenues are paid by people owning less than one-quarter of the property of the country, we protest against such inequality and injustice, and in order to remedy, to some extent, this great wrong, we favor an income tax and favor all constitutional methods to sustain it.

NORTH DAKOTA.
REPUBLICAN.

We reaffirm our belief in the policy of protection to American industry and American labor.

OHIO.

REPUBLICAN.

We congratulate the country upon the fact that, in response to the demand of the St. Louis platform and the will of the people expressed at the polls in November, 1896, protection and reciprocity, twin measures of republican policy, have been re-established and have been embodied into public law by the enactment of the Dingley measure.

We favor all measures which will promote the restoration and growth of our merchant marine.

PENNSYLVANIA.
REPUBLICAN.

The republicans of Pennsylvania reaffirm their adherence to the doctrine of protection to American industries. Two years ago our mills were closed and our manufacturing, commercial, agricultural and business interests were prostrated. To-day our mills are opened, labor is given full employment and a general revival of industrial activity promises renewed prosperity to our state.

TENNESSEE.
REPUBLICAN.

We congratulate the country on the prosperity which has now come, due largely to the return of the republican party to power, the enactment of the Dingley law and the maintenance of the gold standard.

DEMOCRATIC.

We demand that all federal taxation shall be strictly and only for revenue for the support of an economically administered government, and we condemn the policy of the republican party in prostituting the taxing power to enrich the few at the expense of the many.

UTAH.

REPUBLICAN.

The republican party of Utah demands as it has always demanded, protection, bimetallism and reciprocity. We congratulate the country, and especially Utah, upon the great financial success of the republican doctrine of protection, as expressed and fulfilled in the Dingley act, and remind voters of this state of the many millions of dollars by which the wealth of Utah has been enhanced by reason of it; that lead mining has been sustained and could exist only with such protection; that agricultural production has been made profitable through its agency; that the exports of the whole nation have been vastly increased since the Dingley law was passed; that reviving prosperity follows this republican policy, as it always has, and we pledge the party to support for office, and particularly for the office of senator and representative in congress, only those who do and will support the principles of the Dingley act. Protection has been and shall be the corner stone of republicanism.

TEXAS.

DEMOCRATIC.

We denounce the republican party for the passage of the Dingley tariff law, which places the burden of tariff taxation upon those least able to bear it, and which has resulted in a great deficit in the revenue.

VERMONT.

DEMOCRATIC.

We emphatically reassert the democratic faith that all tariff taxes shall be laid for revenue as their sole object, and not for the upbuilding of the Hannas, Carnegies and their school of grasping multimillionaires.

WASHINGTON.

REPUBLICAN.

We indorse the action of the present republican congress which has re-enacted into law a protective tariff through the Dingley bill and restored prosperity to the country.

DEMOCRATIC.

We condemn the Dingley tariff as the most oppressive and iniquitous law that has ever disgraced our statute books. It was enacted on the imperious demand of corporations and trusts which contributed to the scandalous republican campaign fund to the alarming amount of $16,000,000. It taxes the masses for the benefit of the classes; it forbids the expansion of our commerce and deprives the producers of the great American staples of access to their natural markets.

WYOMING.

REPUBLICAN.

We congratulate the country upon the fact that in response to the demand of the St. Louis platform, and the will of the people expressed at the polls in 1896, protection and reciprocity, twin measures of republican policy, have been re-established and have been embodied into law by the passage of the Dingley act, and we especially congratulate the people of Wyoming upon the enactment of this law, which has directly benefited our two great industries, viz., the raising of live stock and the mining of coal, by which both directly and indirectly have brought prosperity to every business within our state.

In five states in 1892 the electoral vote was divided: California gave 8 electoral votes for Cleveland and 1 for Harrison and Ohio gave 1 for Cleveland and 22 for Harrison; in Michigan, by act of the legislature, each congressional district voted separately for an elector; in Oregon 1 of the 4 candidates for electors on the people's party ticket was also on the democratic ticket; in North Dakota 1 of the 2 people's party electors cast his vote for Cleveland, this causing the electoral vote of the state to be equally divided between Cleveland, Harrison and Weaver. In 1896 California gave 8 electoral votes to McKinley and 1 to Bryan; Kentucky gave 12 to McKinley and 1 to Bryan.

MEN OF THE YEAR 1898.

WILLIAM R. DAY.

William R. Day was born at Ravenna, O., on April 17, 1849, and came of a race of lawyers, his father, the late Chief Justice Luther Day, having been a prominent lawyer of Ohio for many years. His paternal and maternal grandfathers were Supreme court justices. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in the class of '70 and studied law in the law department of the same university and was admitted to the bar in 1872. In October of that year he settled in Canton and formed a law partnership with William A. Lynch. In 1886 he was elected to the bench of the Common Pleas court by both political parties, and in 1889 he was appointed judge of the United States District court for the northern district of Ohio by President Harrison, but failing health compelled him to resign before taking the office. With these two exceptions Judge Day has continuously practiced his profession in Canton, being engaged in both the criminal and corporation branches.

Early in his administration President McKinley appointed Judge Day assistant secretary of state. Owing to the ill health of Secretary Sherman the duties of the secretaryship largely devolved upon him throughout the administration. On April 24, 1898, he became secretary, and his conduct of the important and delicate negotiations preceding the declaration of war, as well as those during its progress, has elicited the approval and support of the country. In September he resigned to take the position of head of the Paris peace commission.

JOHN W. GRIGGS.

John William Griggs, attorney-general, was born in Newton, N. J., July 10, 1849. He was graduated from Lafayette college in 1868 and became a law student in the office of Robert Hamilton at Newton. In 1871 he removed to Paterson, where he entered the office of Socrates Tuttle. He was admitted to the bar that year, and together with Mr. Tuttle formed the firm of Tuttle & Griggs. A few years later he opened an office on his own account. He was elected to the assembly in 1875 and was re-elected two years later. In the latter year the house was equally divided and he became leader on the republican side. He was renominated for another term, but was defeated. He was elected counsel for the board of freeholders of Passaic county and city council of Paterson, which offices he held until 1882, when he was elected to the state senate. He was re-elected state senator and became president of the senate in 1886. He was a delegate-at-large to the republican national convention in 1888. In 1896 Gov. Werts of New Jersey offered Mr. Griggs a place on the Supreme court bench of that state, which he declined to accept. In 1896 he was elected governor of New Jersey, which position he resigned to succeed Mr. McKenna as attorney-general in Mr. McKinley's cabinet.

CHARLES EMORY SMITH.

C. E. Smith, postmaster-general, was born at Mansfield, Conn., Feb. 18, 1842. He was 7 years old when his parents removed to Albany, N. Y., and he began to lay the foundation of his education in the public schools of that city. He was graduated from Union college at Schenectady in 1861, just as the civil war opened, and was appointed to the staff of Gen. Rathbone. After devoting two years to the work of recruiting and organizing volunteers for the union army he returned to the Albany academy as one of its instructors. He became editor of the Albany Express in 1865 and of the Albany Evening Journal in 1870, retaining the latter position for ten years. During this period he was the most devoted follower of Roscoe Conkling and by consequence an earnest opponent of the Blaine element in the republican party. But in 1880 he left Albany to become editor of the Philadelphia Press, which was owned by an admirer of Mr. Blaine, and he immediately became the most ardent supporter of the movement to make him president. Mr. Smith was appointed minister to Russia by President Harrison. Like Mr. Gary, whom he succeeded, and almost all other postmaster-generals, Mr. Smith lacks experience in postal affairs beyond that necessarily gained by anybody who is at the head of a leading newspaper, but he has good executive capacity, which is the main essential for the proper conduct of the business of the postal department.

DAVID J. HILL.

David Jayne Hill, first assistant secretary of state, was born June 10, 1850, at Plainfield, N. J. He is the son of the Rev. Daniel T. Hill, a baptist minister. In 1874 he was graduated from Bucknell university. In 1877 he published "The Science of Rhetoric." This was soon afterward followed by "The Elements of Rhetoric." In 1879 he began a series of brief biographies of American authors similar to Morley's "English Men of Letters." He completed in this series two volumes on Irving and Bryant respectively, which were widely read and highly praised. In March, 1879, he was elected to the presidency of the university at Lewisburg, to succeed the Rev. Justin Loomis, LL. D. In 1886 he again took up authorship by publishing a treatise on "The Principles and Fallacies of Socialism." From 1888 to 1896 he was president of the University of Rochester, N. Y.

About this time also appeared an analytic recasting for use in schools and colleges of "Jevons' Elements of Logic." Three years later he published a series of lectures which he had delivered before the Theological Institution, Newton, Mass., on "The Social Influences of Christianity," having especial reference to contemporary problems. In this same year also appeared "The Elements of Psychology."

L. E. M'COMAS.

Louis Emory McComas was born in Washington county, Maryland, Oct. 28, 1846. He was graduated from Dickinson college and was admitted to the bar soon after reaching his majority. He began his political career in 1876, when, at the age of 30, he was the republican candidate for congress in the 6th district and was defeated by William Walsh by fourteen votes. As a candidate for the XLVIIIth congress McComas was successful, and he was re-elected for three successive terms thereafter. During that time he was the only republican congressman from Maryland. In the eight years he served in congress Mr. McComas made a good record as an industrious and efficient member. His support of the force bill was largely responsible for his second defeat. In the presidential campaign of 1882 he was secretary of the national republican committee. Shortly after the election of that year President Harrison, who, like President McKinley, is a warm personal friend appointed him to the bench of the Supreme court of the District of Columbia. He has been elected by the legislature of Maryland to succeed Mr. Gorman as United States senator and will take his seat March 3, 1899.

JOSEPH SIMON.

Joseph Simon, United States senator from Oregon, was born in Germany of a Jewish family in 1861 and went to Oregon with his parents in 1867. He was educated in the public schools of Portland, studied law, and in 1872 was admitted to the bar, since which time he has practiced his profession in that city. He became a member of the city council in 1877, serving three years, being for a portion of the time president of the council and acting mayor. As secretary of the republican state central committee in 1878 he managed the campaign so successfully that in 1880 he was made chairman of the committee, in which capacity he served for six years. He represented Multnomah county, Oregon, in the state senate from 1880 to 1891 and again since 1893. He was president of the senate during the session of 1889-91, and since 1893 has been repeatedly elected to that position. In 1892 Mr. Simon was a delegate to the national republican convention in Minneapolis. He was then elected to represent Oregon on the republican national committee. For eight years Mr. Simon was a member of the board of police commissioners of Portland. Mr. Simon is a gold-standard republican.

WHARTON BARKER.

Wharton Barker, who was nominated for the presidency by the non-fusion wing of the people's party at Cincinnati Sept. 6, 1898, was born in Philadelphia May 1, 1846. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania. In 1863 he took command of a company of colored soldiers and helped to enlist and organize the 2d United States colored troops. In 1867 he became a member of the banking firm of Barker Bros. & Co. In 1878 he was appointed by the Russian government as its agent and intrusted with the building of four cruisers for its navy, for which service he was decorated with the order of St. Stanislaus by the czar. In 1879 he was called to Russia to consider the development of coal mines north of the Azof. In 1887 he obtained valuable railroad, telegraph and telephone concessions from China. In 1890 he failed in business, but soon recovered himself. In 1863 he started the Penn Monthly, which, in October, 1880, was merged with Weekly Notes into the American, which he still publishes. In 1881 he instituted the revolt against the Cameron-Quay candidate for the United States senate and led the independent republican forces, which, with the democrats, elected R. E. Pattison governor of Pennsylvania. He supported Garfield, Harrison and Blaine for the presidency, but in 1896 he was one of Mr. Bryan's most adverse adherents. Since then he has allied himself to the populist party, whose candidate he has become.

IGNATIUS DONNELLY.

Ignatius Donnelly, nominee of the non-fusion wing of the people's party for the vice-presidency, was born in Philadelphia Nov. 3, 1831. He was educated at the public schools of that city, studied law, was admitted to the bar and began the practice of his profession. In 1857 he went to Minnesota, was elected lieutenant-governor on the republican ticket in 1859 and again in 1861. He was elected to congress in 1863 and served until 1869. Besides doing journalistic work he has written several books that have attracted considerable attention, among which were "Atlantis" (1882), "Hagnarok" (1883), besides some publications on Shakespeare. He is a resident of St. Paul, Minn., and is engaged in the publication of a political paper in the interests of the people's party.

REAR ADMIRAL GEORGE DEWEY.

Rear-Admiral Dewey, "the hero of Manila bay," was born in Montpelier, Vt., Dec. 24, 1837, and entered the naval academy in September, 1854. Being graduated in 1858, he was assigned to the frigate Wabash of the European squadron, and remained in Mediterranean waters until the outbreak of the civil war. Returning to this country in 1861, he was detailed to the Mississippi, one of the vessels in the West Gulf squadron, serving in her until she was destroyed in 1863. It was during this time that the squadron was engaged in the capture of New Orleans. Commodore Dewey was then a lieutenant. The Mississippi was under command of Capt. Melancthon Smith, and just as the end of the battle of New Orleans appeared to be in sight the Confederate ram Manassas came down the river at full speed to attack the union fleet. Admiral Farragut directed the Mississippi to turn and run her down. She obeyed, but when within a few yards of the enemy the Manassas turned and ran ashore. The Mississippi poured two broadsides into her and sent her to the bottom of the river a total wreck. The Mississippi, while trying to run the batteries of Fort Hudson on March 21, 1863, grounded and heeled to port. In spite of the desperate efforts of the crew she could not be saved. The enemy, getting the range, poured shell after shell into her hull, and Capt. Smith ordered her fired, and the crew escaped in their boats. After the destruction of the Mississippi Lieut. Dewey was assigned to the steamboat Agawam of the North Atlantic blockading fleet, and assisted in two attacks on Fort Fisher—one in December, 1864, and the other January, 1865. On March 3, 1866, he was commissioned lieutenant-commander and served on the old Kearsarge. At the close of the civil war he went aboard the Colorado, the flagship of the European squadron, and remained on her until 1867. For two years thereafter he did shore duty, being assigned to the naval academy. He was next placed in command of the Narragansett, in special service, in 1870 and 1871, and was again assigned to shore duty a year later at the torpedo station. He was made a commander on April 13, 1873, and was in charge of the Narragansett on the Pacific survey until 1875, when he was appointed lighthouse inspector for two years. He then became secretary of the board and retained that post until 1882. In command of the Junia of the Asiatic squadron from 1882 to 1883, he was promoted to a captaincy in September, 1884, commanding the Dolphin in the same year. He was next transferred to the Pensacola on the European station. In 1889 he was summoned to Washington to become for four years the chief of the bureau of equipment and recruiting, and that service was succeeded by another detail to the lighthouse board. From this duty he was relieved to accept the presidency of the important board of inspection and review, which he held until, as a commodore, he was sent November, 1897, to command the Asiatic station. His victory in Manila bay on the 1st of May, 1898, in which he sunk the entire Spanish fleet without the loss of a ship or a man, was one of the most thrilling and dramatic events in the history of naval warfare. Soon after he was made rear-admiral and granted a sword by congress.

CAPT. C. V. GRIDLEY.

Of the captains serving under Commodore Dewey, Charles V. Gridley of the flagship Olympia was born in Indiana, but was appointed a cadet from Michigan on Sept. 26, 1860. He remained in the naval academy until 1863, when he was made an ensign and attached to the steamship Oneda of the West Gulf squadron from 1863 to 1865. He was on board his ship in the battle of Mobile bay on Aug. 5, 1864. At the close of the war, having served in a number of engagements, he was attached to the steam sloop Brooklyn of the Brazilian squadron, and later was aboard the Kearsarge. He was promoted to lieutenant on Feb. 21, 1867, and to lieutenant-commander one year later and assigned to the Michigan and afterward to the Monongahela. He was executive officer of the flagship Trenton of the European squadron and was made commander on March 10, 1882. He was for a time assigned to the torpedo station and also to the Boston navy yard. He was made commander of the Jamestown in 1884, and was inspector of lighthouses at Buffalo, N. Y., when assigned to the Asiatic squadron. After the battle at Manila Capt. Gridley was ordered home on sick leave, but died June 5 at Kobe, Japan, while en route to the United States.

CAPT. N. MAYO DYER.

Capt. N. Mayo Dyer of the cruiser Baltimore has had a diversified career and has fought his way up to a captaincy without ever having attended a naval academy. No man in the navy has a better record for bravery and daring than the gallant captain of the Baltimore. He was born at Provincetown, Mass., in 1839, and entered the volunteer navy at the outbreak of the civil war as a master's mate, and served in the engagements of the West Gulf squadron. For gallant and meritorious conduct he was promoted to acting ensign on May 13, 1863, and later to ensign and assigned to the Glasgow. Afterward he was made master in 1864, which opened in Mobile bay. His vessel was sunk by a torpedo on April 1, 1865. After the surrender he was promoted to acting volunteer lieutenant and put in command of two of the surrendered ships, the Black Diamond and the Morgan. He then served on the Eek, and later on the Stockdale, and subsequently did shore duty at the bureau of navigation. He was made commander in the regular navy on March 12, 1868. While commanding the Ossipee, going from the Mexican coast to the north, an incident happened which showed his bravery and the regard he had for his men. A sailor in adjusting a sail accidentally slipped and fell overboard. Commander Dyer, who was on deck and saw the sailor fall, immediately jumped in and saved the man from drowning and from the sharks. He has done duty at the Boston navy yard and has been assigned respectively to the Pointer, the New Hampshire, the Wabash and the Tennessee. He has been lighthouse inspector and was in command of the Marion of the Asiatic squadron in 1867 and again in 1890.

CAPT. ASA WALKER.

Capt. Asa Walker of the cruiser Concord is a native of New Hampshire, and entered the naval academy on Nov. 27, 1862, graduating four years later. He was first assigned to the North Atlantic squadron and made ensign in 1868, and afterward did ordnance duty in the Portsmouth navy yard. Remaining there a short time, he went aboard the Jamestown, where he served until 1871. He has served on the Essex, the practice ship Dale, the Trenton of the Asiatic squadron, and on two different occasions has been assigned to duty at the naval academy.

CAPT. FRANK WILDES.

Capt. F. Wildes, commanding the cruiser Boston at Manila, was born in Massachusetts, and was graduated from the naval academy in 1863. He was appointed ensign May 28, and assigned to the steamship Lackawanna, attached to the West Gulf squadron, and was in the operations at Mobile and the surrender of Fort Morgan. He was assigned to the monitor Chickasaw, and later to the ironclad Monadnock and Vanderbilt. He was promoted to master in 1866, lieutenant in 1867, and was such officer on the Suwanee when wrecked on Vancouver's island in July, 1868. He became lieutenant-commander in September, 1868, and served on the Pensacola, Franklin, Wyoming and Wachusett. He was promoted to commander in August, 1880, commanded the Yantic of the North Atlantic fleet until 1885, served at Portsmouth navy yard until 1886, was lighthouse inspector until 1892, put in command of the Yorktown till 1893, where he served until nearly the assignment to the Boston with the Asiatic squadron.

CAPT. E. P. WOOD.

Capt. E. P. Wood of the dispatch boat Hugh McCulloch is from Ohio, and entered the naval academy on Sept. 23, 1863, graduating in 1867. He was then assigned to the Minnesota on special service and made ensign. In 1871 he was promoted to lieutenant and placed aboard the Congress, then on special service. He did duty on the Portsmouth, also on special service. From 1881 to 1884 he was assigned to duty at the naval academy and then served on the Monongahela on special service. He was with the North Atlantic squadron in 1890, and was promoted to commander in that year.

CAPT. JOSEPH B. COGHLAN.

Capt. Joseph B. Coghlan of the Raleigh was born in Kentucky and appointed to the naval academy from Illinois, graduating in 1863. He was promoted two years later and was assigned to the flagship Brooklyn, where he served for two years. He was executive officer of the Pawnee in 1867 and in the steam frigate Guerriere in 1868. Next year he was on the sailing sloop Portsmouth, from which he was transferred to the Richmond and the European station. He commanded the Auger for one year and the Colorado for another year. For two years he commanded the Monongahela on the Asiatic station, and on being promoted to commander in 1882 was assigned to the Adams. He was inspector of ordnance at League Island in 1891, and was made a captain in 1894, and at present commands the Raleigh.

CAPT. C. E. CLARK.

Capt. Charles Edgar Clark, the commander of the Oregon, was born in Vermont, and was appointed to the naval academy from that state in 1860. In 1863 he was promoted to ensign and assigned to the steam sloop Ossipee of the West Gulf blockading squadron. He was with his vessel in the battle of Mobile bay and took part in the bombardment of Fort Morgan. From 1865 to 1867 he was with the Vanderbilt on the Pacific station. He received a lieutenant's commission in 1867 and became a lieutenant-commander a year later. He was then attached to the Suwanee, which was wrecked on July 7. His service on the relieving ship Vandalia at Portsmouth, on the Seminole in the North Atlantic and at the naval academy lasted until 1873, when he was assigned to the Atlantic station, where he remained for three years with the Hartford, the Monocacy and the Kearsarge. The next three years he spent at the Charlestown navy yard. He received his commander's commission in 1881, and after duty on the training ship New Hampshire and at the torpedo station went with the steamer Ranger on a survey trip up the North Pacific. This cruise lasted three years. From 1887 to 1889 he was lighthouse inspector and was afterward stationed at the Mare Island navy yard. He took command of the Mohican in September, 1893, and left it to take command of the Monterey as captain in 1896. His next and latest command was the Oregon. The cruise of the Oregon from San Francisco to Key West—a distance of 16,764 miles—was one of the greatest naval achievements of the century. The Oregon under his command was in the battle with the Spanish fleet off Santiago July 3, 1898.

REAR-ADMIRAL W. T. SAMPSON.

Rear-Admiral William T. Sampson was born at Palmyra, N. Y., in 1840. His father was a day laborer, and young Sampson used to accompany him from farm to farm in search of work. At the age of 17 he was appointed a midshipman in the United States naval academy at Annapolis. He was graduated, first in his class, in 1861, and was immediately sent aboard of the frigate Potomac. Here he soon won his lieutenantcy. Sampson was executive officer and stood on the bridge of the Patapsco when she was blown up by a torpedo in Charleston harbor, Jan. 16, 1865. Seventy of the crew were drowned. In 1866 he was promoted to a lieutenant-commander while on the Colorado. From 1868 to 1871 he was at the naval academy. The following two years he was on the Congress, and in 1874, having been made a commander, he was assigned to the Alert. He returned to the naval academy in 1876 and remained there nearly three years. In 1879 he was in China, commanding the Swatara. He was chief of the bureau of ordnance from 1883 to 1897, and previous to that he was inspector of ordnance at the Washington navy yard. Since the formation of the new navy he has commanded the Iowa and the San Francisco. On account of his wide knowledge of torpedoes, mines, etc., he was appointed president of the Maine court of inquiry by President McKinley. In April, 1898, he was promoted to acting rear-admiral by the president, succeeding Admiral Sicard, and was appointed in command of the fleet operating on the southeastern coast of Cuba and promoted to the rank of rear-admiral. He was in command of the fleet off Santiago until the capitulation of the city.

REAR-ADMIRAL WINFIELD S. SCHLEY.

Rear-Admiral Schley was born at Frederick, Md., Oct. 9, 1839. He entered the naval academy in 1856, and was graduated in 1860. He distinguished himself by coming out of the academy as near the bottom of his class as it was possible for him deliberately to get. In 1860 he served on the Niagara, which was sent to convoy the Japanese embassy to their country. When the Niagara returned and anchored off Boston, Capt. McKean, the commander, drew his men up on the deck and asked them to take the oath of allegiance. Three of the middies flatly refused. They were F. G. Read of Virginia, who meant what he did, and Thomas L. Swann and Winfield Scott Schley, both of Maryland, who refused just because the others did. It is related that McKean gave the boys a lecture, which brought them to their senses. Whatever truth there may be in the tale, there is no doubt that young Schley made a gallant officer and fought for the flag as valiantly as any of the men who were with him in the academy. That he did not win as high return as others in the civil war was perhaps due to the short participation he had in the fighting. He was not out of the naval academy two years when he was commissioned a lieutenant. Schley's most signal performance was his search for and discovery of Greely in the frozen fastnesses of the north. Lieutenant, now General, Adolphus W. Greely went north with his expedition in 1881. Nothing had been heard from him in two years, and late in 1883 talk was made of sending an expedition to relieve him. The then Commander Schley volunteered his services as head of the relieving expedition. The expedition consisted of the Thetis and the Bear, the Alert, kindly lent by the government of Great Britain, and the Loch Lary, a supply ship. This fleet set sail April 23, 1884. The ships plowed north and found the great explorer and the remnant of his expedition. The name of Schley must ever be associated with that of Greely in the history of arctic exploration. His career as it may be obtained from the records has him serving on the Potomac after leaving the Niagara. From the Potomac he went to the Winona, then to the Monongahela, then to the sloop Richmond. He was often under heavy fire. From 1864 to 1866 he was executive officer of the Waterre, Pacific squadron, which was used to suppress the insurrection of the Chincha islands in 1864. He then served in the naval academy, in the Benicia and on the Asiatic station. He saw Lieut. McKee shot to death at his side in the attack on the batteries of the Saler river, Korea, in 1871. From the dust and smoke of battle he was transferred to Annapolis to be head of the academic department of modern languages. He was commander of the Essex, lighthouse inspector, recruiting officer and then commander of the Greely relief expedition. His work has won him two gold medals, and Maryland presented him with a gold chronometer for his rescue of Greely. In the war with Spain he was attached to Sampson's command off Santiago, and was in charge of the fleet of observation on the 3d of July when Cervera's fleet came out and was destroyed.

COMMODORE JOHN C. WATSON.

Commodore Watson was born at Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 24, 1842, and was graduated from the naval academy in 1860. In 1861 he was promoted to master and attached to the Sabine. In 1862 he was transferred to Farragut's flagship, the Hartford, upon which he served through the war, being in the battles at Fort Jackson and St. Philip, the passage of the Vicksburg batteries in 1862, passage of Port Hudson in 1863, and at Mobile bay in 1864. He was commissioned lieutenant-commander in 1866 and assigned to the Franklin, flagship of the European squadron. In 1869 he was assigned to duty at Philadelphia until 1870, transferred to the Asiatic squadron until 1873, was made commander in 1874, attached to the Mare Island navy yard until 1877, commanded the Wyoming until 1880, lighthouse inspector until 1886, attached to the navy yard at New York until 1887, promoted to captain in March, 1887, transferred to San Francisco until 1890. In the Spanish war he commanded the blockading squadron on the north Cuban coast.

COMMODORE JOHN W. PHILIP.

Commodore Philip was born in New York Aug. 26, 1840. He entered the naval academy in 1856, was made midshipman in 1861, and attached to the Constitution and Santee. He was promoted to acting master in June of that year, and attached to the sloop-of-war Marion of the Gulf squadron. Later he was transferred to the James river fleet. He was made a lieutenant in 1862, and served on the Chippewa, Pawnee and monitor Monitor. He was wounded in the fight on Stone river while on the Pawnee. He reached the rank of lieutenant-commander in 1868, and served in the European and Asiatic squadrons until 1874. In that year he was commissioned commander and assigned to the Adams, was in command of the Woodruff scientific expedition and later was engaged in coast surveys. He was on shore duty until 1890, commissioned captain in 1889, and was the inspector of the New York during construction. During the war with Spain he commanded the battleship

Texas, which was attached to the squadron off Santiago and was in the engagement with Cervera's fleet in July, 1898.

CAPT. ROBLEY D. EVANS.

Capt. Evans was born in Virginia and appointed to the naval academy from Utah Sept. 20, 1860, graduating in 1863. When the south seceded he was a cadet at Annapolis and his mother promptly sent in his resignation without consulting her son. Young Evans at once repudiated the resignation (which meanwhile had been accepted at Washington), and was restored to the service. He was made ensign in 1863, and went to the war. In an attack on Fort Fisher he landed a force of seamen and marines and was shot twice in the leg for his pains. In another engagement, from the water, with Fort Sumter, he was punctured by a piece of shell which broke his kneecap, but, refusing to go below, he took part in the engagement until it was over. In 1891 Capt. Evans was assigned to the Yorktown. His ship entered the harbor of Valparaiso when Chile and this country were biting thumbs at each other. The Yorktown anchored directly before the batteries. She was a poorly armored ship and lightly armed. The bay was occupied by a number of torpedo boats in practice, and as the Yorktown was the only ship in the port they used her for a point of attack. Capt. Evans objected to being made a target of and ordered his ship cleared for action. The guns were loaded, the men ordered to their posts and the captain's gig lowered. He sought out the general of the city and demanded that the bay be cleared of the torpedo boats. It was done. Capt. Evans won his name of "Fighting Bob" at Valparaiso. Once the Spanish minister came aboard his ship with two refugees. Evans fired a salute in honor of the country he was lately fighting. The Chileans severely criticised this action, but so fierce was the Yankee captain's denunciation of the business that a stop was promptly put to further gossip about the propriety of the salute. He has held his present rank since 1889, and his first command in large ships was the monster Indiana in 1895. In the Spanish war he was placed in command of the Iowa and assigned to Sampson's fleet off Santiago. He distinguished himself in the battle of July 3, 1898, with Cervera's fleet at that port.

COMMODORE FRANCIS J. HIGGINSON.

Commodore Higginson was born in Massachusetts and entered the naval academy Sept. 21, 1867, graduating in 1861. He was attached to the West Gulf blockading squadron and was present at the capture of Forts Jackson and St. Philip below New Orleans, and at the surrender of that city in April, 1862. August, 1862, he was commissioned a lieutenant and attached to the South Atlantic blockading squadron, taking part in the bombardment of Fort Sumter. July 25, 1866, he was promoted to lieutenant-commander, and assigned to the Hartford, flagship of the Asiatic squadron. In 1868 he was transferred to the Franklin, flagship of the European squadron, and served in that squadron until 1872. He was in command of the rendezvous at Boston until 1875, special ordnance duty until 1876, when he was promoted to commander. He was in command of the Dispatch, the Miantonomah and the Monocacy until 1886, and of the New Hampshire until 1890. In the Spanish war he was a captain commanding the battleship Massachusetts, attached to Admiral Sampson's squadron at Santiago, and took part in the battle with Cervera's fleet on July 3, 1898.

CAPT. CHARLES D. SIGSBEE.

Capt. Sigbee was born in New York, entered the naval academy in 1859 and was graduated in 1863. He was commissioned ensign and attached to the Monongahela of the West Gulf squadron. He was transferred to the Brooklyn in 1864, was at the battle of Mobile bay, transferred to the North Atlantic blockading squadron and was in both attacks on Fort Fisher. In 1865 he was attached to the Asiatic squadron, promoted to master in 1868, lieutenant in 1867, lieutenant-commander in 1868. He was on duty at the naval academy from 1869 to 1871, on vessels attached to the North Atlantic station until 1872, in command of the Canandaigua until 1873, on duty in Washington until 1875, in command of the Blake until 1878, again in Washington until 1882, promoted to commander in 1882, at the naval academy in 1885, commanded the Kearsarge until 1886, served in Washington until 1890, commanded the Portsmouth until 1892, was promoted to captain and placed in command of the battleship Maine, and was in command of the ship when blown up in Havana harbor Feb. 15, 1898. During the war he commanded one of the swift cruisers in the Caribbean sea.

CAPT. D. B. HODGSON.

Daniel B. Hodgson, commanding the McCulloch, is a native of New York, and was born in 1835. Nov. 12, 1857, he completed his thirty-sixth year as an officer of the revenue marine, which he first joined at Baltimore in 1861, with the commission of third lieutenant. July 16, 1863, he was promoted to second lieutenant, and July 14, 1864, to first lieutenant. Sept. 15, 1868, he was made captain, the highest rank in the revenue service, a position he reached in about seven years. In his thirty-six years' service Capt. Hodgson has spent twenty-four years and fourteen months on Atlantic coast stations, seven and one-half years on the lakes and two and one-half years on the Pacific, including nine months in Alaska, and six years on life-saving duty.

LIEUT. RICHMOND P. HOBSON.

Lieut. Hobson, who sunk the Merrimac in Santiago harbor, was born at Greensboro, Ala., Aug. 17, 1870. His schooling began when he was 7 years of age, his first teacher being Miss Kate Boardman, who at once recognized the natural ability of her pupil. Later he entered the Southern university, a well-known school, and distinguished himself often in prize declamation and other works of honor. Hobson was not graduated from the Southern university, but quitted school at the end of his sophomore year, when he received his Annapolis appointment after a competitive examination, through Representative Davidson of the 4th Alabama district. At the naval academy he stood at the head of his class, and was graduated in 1889. He was sent abroad to study in the shipyards of England and France, where he remained for several years, until he became an accomplished naval architect. On his return he was attached to the bureau of construction in the navy department, and at the beginning of the war he was a lieutenant in a branch of the service where promotions are very slow. He is a member of the episcopalian church and a man of deep and sincere religious convictions.

MAJ.-GEN. NELSON A. MILES.

Maj.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, commanding the army, was born at Westminister, Mass., Aug. 8, 1839, and at the breaking out of the civil war he was engaged in mercantile pursuits in Boston. When the war with Spain began he was colonel of the 3d infantry, and was made major-general July 8, 1898.

COL. THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Theodore Roosevelt was born in New York Oct. 27, 1858, and was the son of Cornelius Van Schaack Roosevelt, whose line goes back to medieval times in Dutch history. Young Roosevelt was graduated from Harvard in 1880, when 21 years old, and in the following year was elected to the assembly from New York city. During his second term he became the leader of the party in the assembly. He served three terms in the assembly, and since then has never held an elective office. He was chairman of the New York delegation to the national convention which nominated Blaine for president in 1884. He was opposed to Mr. Blaine's nomination, but after he had failed to prevent it he was hearty in support of the candidate. In 1886 he was a candidate for mayor of New York, but ran behind both Hewitt (dem.) and Henry George (single tax). He was appointed a member of the civil-service commission by President Harrison and was retained by President Cleveland. He served until his appointment to the police commission of New York city in 1895. His nomination as assistant secretary of the navy was made by President McKinley on April 6, 1896. To the vigor of his administration of this office many naval officers ascribe no small part of the nation's readiness for the war with Spain. His insistence on target practice has been praised throughout the service. On April 25, 1898, he accepted the offer of a lieutenant-colonelcy in the 1st volunteer cavalry regiment, known as Roosevelt's "rough riders," and served with great distinction in the operations against Santiago. On the 27th of September, 1898, he was nominated by the republicans of New York as their candidate for governor. Theodore Roosevelt is a writer and lecturer of considerable renown. His "History of the Naval War in 1812," lives of "Gouverneur Morris" and "Thomas H. Benton," "The Hunting Trips of a Ranchman," "Ranch Life and the Hunting Trail," "The Wilderness Hunter" and other works bear a high reputation. His ability as a sportsman and rancher are also well known and admired by many who care but little for politics. In November, 1898, he was elected by the republicans governor of New York.

COL. JAMES A. SEXTON.

Col. Sexton, commander G. A. R., was born in the city of Chicago on the 6th day of January, 1844, and enlisted on the 19th day of April, 1861, as a private soldier. After three months' service he re-enlisted in the 67th regiment Illinois infantry volunteers, and was commissioned a first lieutenant in company E. He was later transferred to the 73d regiment Illinois volunteers and was made captain of company D. He served in Ransome's brigade, McArthur's division, 17th army corps, of the army of the Tennessee, and participated in nearly all its campaigns, sieges and battles. As a regimental commander he fought his regiment in the battles of Columbia, Duck River, Spring Hill, Franklin and Nashville, and throughout the Nashville campaign. In 1866 he was assigned to duty on the staff of Maj.-Gen. A. J. Smith, the commander of the 16th army corps, and remained with Smith until the end of the war, when he was honorably discharged from the service in August, 1865. Upon the assault and capture of the Spanish fort, Mobile, Ala., April 8, 1865, he had his left leg broken below the knee by a piece of shell. He was slightly wounded at the battle of Franklin and painfully wounded at the Battle of Nashville. After the war he remained two years in Alabama, working a plantation he had purchased near the city of Montgomery. In 1867 he returned to Chicago and founded the firm of J. A. & T. S. Sexton. In 1872, after the Chicago fire, this firm was succeeded by Cribben, Sexton & Co., and is still in business. President Harrison made him postmaster of Chicago in April, 1889. He was retained by President Cleveland until he resigned, Jan. 1, 1895. He is an active worker in the Grand Army, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion and other soldier and army societies. He is a past commander of the department of Illinois, G. A. R. At the present time he is president of the board of trustees of the Illinois State Soldiers and Sailors' home, located at Quincy. He has been a presidential elector, a Lincoln park commissioner, a colonel in the Illinois national guard, and has held several positions of honor and responsibility in the state, being one of the commissioners appointed by the president to investigate the conduct of the war.

*Decrease. †Three schools transferred to the government, and contracts made for two schools which were paid by vouchers in previous year. ‡Thirty-one public schools in which pupils are taught not enumerated here. §These schools are conducted by religious societies, some of which receive from the government for the Indian children therein such rations and clothing as the children are entitled to as reservation Indians.

*Some of the figures in this table as printed prior to 1896 were taken from reports of the superintendent of Indian schools. As revised, they are all taken from the reports of the commissioner of Indian affairs. Prior to 1882 the figures include the New York schools.

Indian children attending public schools are included in the average attendance, but the schools are not included in the number of schools.

In these schools there are 1,439 pupils.

Besides these there are government reservation boarding schools with a capacity of 8,825 pupils, government day schools with a capacity of 5,164 pupils, and 340 Indian pupils in the various public schools in California, Idaho, Michigan, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin. Upon the subject of co-education the commissioner of Indian affairs says: "The plan of placing Indian children in the public schools of the country for the purpose of co-education of the races, conceived in 1890, does not appear to meet with much success." Last year (1897) there was a decrease of 100 pupils from the previous year, and this year's (1898) report also shows a small decrease. Although the contract rate of $10 per capita a quarter on the average attendance was thought sufficiently stimulating to induce the public-school authorities to increase the number of these Indian scholars, the experiment has not been the success anticipated. More decided efforts will be exerted during the fiscal year 1899 and the value and practicability of the system fully tested."

Of the three hundred and odd million acres of desert lands requiring irrigation to render them valuable farm lands, the available water supply is sufficient for but 71,500,000 acres, thus leaving an estimated area of 280,076,000 acres suitable only for grazing purposes.

FOREST RESERVATIONS.

On March 1, 1898, the lands embraced in the eleven forest reservations which were suspended by the act of June 4, 1897, again became subject to the operation of the proclamations of Feb. 22, 1897, creating them, which added an estimated amount of 19,351,360 acres to the area embraced in the reserves previously created. In addition to this, two new reserves have been created during the year 1898—the Pine Mountain and Zaca Lake Reserve in California, embracing an area of 1,944,594 acres, and the Prescott Reserve in Arizona, embracing 10,240 acres; and the boundaries of the Pecos River Reserve in New Mexico have been changed and enlarged to include 120,000 additional acres. There are, consequently, now

The Volunteer Army.

[Corrected to Nov. 1, 1898.]

*Officers in the regular army holding commissions of a higher rank in the volunteer service. They are given the rank held in the volunteer service.

ACTIVE LIST.

The records of the war department have been so complicated by the transfer of officers of the regular army to the volunteer service that it is simply impossible to give such an arrangement of army officers as it has been customary to present in this volume. Some of the matter heretofore published the department declines to make public.

The Supreme Court.

The Supreme court consists of seven judges, elected for a term of nine years, one from each of the seven districts into which the state is divided. The election is held in June of the year in which any term expires.

The state was formerly divided into three grand divisions which have been consolidated by act of legislature. The three clerks elected from the old divisions hold over until the end of their terms in 1902, after which only one will be elected. One clerk for each of the three grand divisions is elected for a term of six years.

THE TREATY WITH SPAIN.

The terms of the treaty of peace between the United States and Spain as it has been formulated by the joint commission of the two countries at the Paris conference will not be known in all its details until after this volume has been issued. Enough is known, however, to indicate with reasonable certainty what Spain will yield and what obligations the United States will assume. It was semi-officially reported from Paris on the 13th of December that the treaty had been drawn and that all its essential features had been accepted by the commissioners of both countries. The various sections of the treaty provide as follows:

Article 1 provides for the relinquishment of Cuba.

Article 2 provides for the cession of Puerto Rico.

Article 3 provides for the cession of the Philippines for $30,000,000 as compensation.

Article 4 embraces the plans for the cession of the Philippines, including the return of Spanish prisoners in the hands of the Tagalos.

Article 5 deals with the cession of barracks, war materials, arms, stores, buildings and all property appertaining to the Spanish administration in the Philippines.

Article 6 is a renunciation by both nations of their respective claims against each other and the citizens of each other.

Article 7 grants to Spanish trade and shipping in the Philippines the same treatment as American trade and shipping for a period of ten years.

Article 8 provides for the release of all prisoners of war held by Spain, and of all prisoners held by her for political offenses committed in the colonies acquired by the United States.

Article 9 guarantees the legal rights of Spaniards remaining in Cuba.

Article 10 establishes religious freedom in the Philippines and guarantees to all churches equal rights.

Article 11 provides for the composition of courts and other tribunals in Puerto Rico and Cuba.

Article 12 provides for the administration of justice in Puerto Rico and Cuba.

Article 13 provides for the continuance for five years of Spanish copyrights in the ceded territories, giving Spanish books admittance free of duty.

Article 14 provides for the establishment of consulates by Spain in the ceded territories.

Article 15 grants to Spanish commerce in Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippines the same treatment as to Americans for ten years, Spanish shipping to be treated as coasting vessels.

Article 16 stipulates that the obligations of the United States to Spanish citizens and property in Cuba shall terminate with the withdrawal of the United States authorities from the island.

Article 17 provides that the treaty must be ratified within six months from the date of signing by the respective governments in order to be binding.

The signing of this treaty on the 10th of December, 1898, took place 233 days after the ultimatum given Spain was adopted by congress, on the 19th of April, 1898. The last act of the war was the surrender of Manila on the 15th of August. The peace commission met Oct. 1, 1898, and in forty-one days the treaty of peace was completed for presentation to the senate of the United States and the cortes of Spain for ratification.

ZIONISM.

THE JEWISH MOVEMENT TOWARD PALESTINE.

"Zionism" is a word of very recent coinage, but the idea it conveys is as old as the Jewish people. Etymologically "Zion" means in Hebrew an object of prominence, of distinction, also a monument. Topographically it was formerly used to designate an elevation centrally located in the old city of Jerusalem and known as the "City of David," the place being distinguished by the most important national structures—the citadel of David and royal residences having been erected there. As Jerusalem was the heart of the Jewish state, so Zion was the heart of Jerusalem. "Zion" and "Jerusalem" gradually became synonymous and interchangeable nouns. "For out of Zion shall go forth the law and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem" is one of the many parallelisms, so characteristic of the scriptures, in which these two nouns are symmetrically placed as synonyms. In the time of the prophets the conception of Zion broadened considerably and became symbolic of nation, country, state and religion all combined. In this sense the word "Zion" has been applied by the Psalmists, by the bards of the second Jewish empire, by the originators of the vast post-biblical literature, by the men of the great synagogue, by the authors and compilers of the rich Jewish liturgy and by the neo-Hebraic authors, poets and "elegists" of the middle ages. Modern Hebrew authors of our days employ the noun "Zion" in the same sense. Thus "Zionism" represents the national idea in Judaism, or, in other words, it is Judaism in the consciousness of its racial traditions and national importance. It has always represented and it still represents the manifestations, all the aspirations of the Jewish people, and all that which characterizes a nation in its entirety.

When Israel was in its infancy the national idea manifested itself in the narrow form of clannishness and tribal seclusiveness, but with the material and spiritual growth of the people during the centuries of their national existence the national idea broadened and deepened until it assumed the shape of a message to the world. The recognition of the unity of God by all nations and the ultimate establishment of the reign of justice and righteousness on earth were the principal features of that message. But while the great seers in Israel were dreaming of the triumphs of the human race, of universal peace, of achievement sublime and noble, Zion—not the spiritual Zion, which is a latter-day invention, but the real Zion—was to them the source whence all those glorious developments were to emanate. Under the most trying and despairing conditions of the people they were proclaiming their hope of seeing the nation free and independent. They never admitted the possibility of Israel's disappearance as a nation. This kindling love for the nation and the enthusiasm for the country may perhaps account for the almost superhuman endurance and for the persistence manifested by the Jewish people in their unequal struggle against world-conquering Rome.

With the destruction of the Jewish state the hold which Zion had upon the minds and hearts of the nation became still stronger. The active heroism of the people had been crushed, after hundreds of thousands of brave Jewish warriors had fallen on the battlefields, victims of their loyalty to Zion, but their national hope remained unimpaired. The brutal clearing of Palestine of its Jewish inhabitants by the Romans had only increased the yearning of the Jews for their home, and that yearning seems to have increased in intensity as the centuries were rolling by. Their hearts were aching while they remembered their land, their cities and their mountains long after the downfall of Rome.

From the depth of their sorrow a stream of national poetry sprang forth, which pervaded every fiber of their material and spiritual life, and their very existence became an incessant longing for the restoration of Zion. That longing was the keynote to their daily prayers and of their songs, it was their only thought and dream. In the earlier part of the twelfth century "Zionides" were composed by Rabbi Jehudah Halevi of Toledo, of whom Heine said: "His songs were a pillar of fire that preceded Israel in the wilderness of its exile." A faint idea of them may be conveyed by the following:

"O city of the world, beautiful and majestic,

•From Hecht's Post-Biblical History.

O that on eagle's wings to thee I might come nigh;
That with my tearful face I could but touch thy dust!
Though kingless, crownless now, yet do I yearn for thee;
Though serpents vile be now where erst
sweet honey flowed,
O could I kiss thy dust or tread thy ground
I'd ask no more; my longing would be stilled."

But the fervor spent by the expatriated Jew in prayer and song failed to reduce his longing for the material restoration of Zion. Time and again had Jews in the dark ages attempted to settle in Palestine, but owing to the incessant strifes and the bloody struggles which had been raging in that country such efforts almost invariably ended in disaster. Small Jewish communities had sprung up in the several old cities of the holy land, but the sword without and the terror within had destroyed them. They had fallen victims of their souls' longing.

About 700 years ago 300 rabbis emigrated from France and England to Palestine for the purpose of strengthening the Jewish communities in the holy land. Nachmanides (1196-1270) had reorganized the partly destroyed community of Jerusalem, while at the same time another Jewish community had been started in Safed. With the establishment of Turkish rule in Palestine the existence of Jewish communities there became possible, but not free from persecution. Only since 1812 has the emigration of Jews to the holy land assumed a steady flow, but the nature of such emigration is purely religious. The only object in the view of such emigrants was to devote the rest of their lives to the study of the Talmud and to the service of God, and to subsist on the moneys sent there for their support by their coreligionists in other countries. In the course of this century the Jewish population in Jerusalem, Tiberias, Hebron and Safed has grown considerably, but the evils of indolence and pauperism have grown with them.

In 1866 the first daring attempt was made to carry culture to the Jews of the holy city and the first European school for Jewish boys was then established. Of a still greater revolutionary character was the founding of the agricultural school, "Mikweh Israel" (Hope of Israel), by Cremieux, in 1879. That remarkable move on the part of the founder of the "Alliance Israelite," though undertaken without any apparent intention of fostering the national idea of the Jews, had the effect of fanning into a blaze the spark of national feeling that was lying dormant in the breast of the Jewish masses. The latter always remain faithful to the spirit of traditional Judaism regardless alike of schisms within their ranks and of persecution from without. In the eastern European countries, particularly in Russia, many organizations of "Hov' ve Zion" (Friends of Zion) sprang up and an effective though aimless Zionist propaganda was inaugurated. Then came the memorable reign of Alexander III., when the most barbarous atrocities were committed daily against the Jews, almost under the direction of the police; and thousands of intelligent Jews, who, following the example of the so-called reformed Judaism, had long before read the Jewish national idea out of existence, hastened to join the ranks of the "Zion friends." Then it was that the first attempts to properly colonize the holy land were inaugurated. A number of Jewish young men, mostly university students and skillful mechanics, resolved to be the pioneers of their people in their national cause, and under the most trying difficulties and amid a skeptical world, which predicted all kinds of disastrous failures, they proceeded to Palestine, about eighteen years ago, and started to work as common "farm hands" on a tract of land, which was the property of Baron Rothschild, sticking to the hoe and tilling the ground in competition with the fellahs, whose needs in life are exceedingly limited. They succeeded in satisfying themselves and the world about them that the land of Palestine was not barren, and that the Jews could be turned into skilled agriculturists who thoroughly understood their vocation. Their example was soon followed by others and gradually several colonies were successfully established. Millions of money and a vast amount of energy were wasted in the great experiment, but the result is, nevertheless, absolutely satisfactory. The wines, fruits and other products of the Jewish colonies have already acquired a certain degree of fame on the European markets and many of the settlements are self-sustaining. A few statistics showing the area of land in possession of Jews, the number of colonists and the Jewish population in Palestine outside of the colonies may be of interest to the reader:

In 1882, immediately after the first outbreak of anti-Jewish excesses in Russia, there appeared a pamphlet entitled "Auto-Emancipation," by Dr. Pinsker, an Odessa physician. It had for a motto the saying of Hillel: "If I will not do for myself, who will?" This little work stood out prominently in the whole mass of literature on the so-called "Jewish question" in Europe in those days. For the first time in centuries, perhaps, the activity of an independent Jewish spirit became perceptible. "Help yourself and God will help you!" was the basic idea of that little book; the goal, however, for which the Jewish people were to strive was, according to the author, not their "holy" land, but their "own land." He cared little or not at all where such land might be found, provided it were found. While he recognized the hopelessness of the condition of the vast population of his people who are the victims of persecution and saw their only salvation in a great national effort, he at the same time ignored to a great extent the latent forces of a common history, of common traditions and religion. The "Auto-Emancipation," by Dr. Pinsker, was soon supplemented by another work in Hebrew entitled "Arukath-bath-Ami" (The Cure of My People), from the pen of a highly learned, popular, charitable and venerable German rabbi, Dr. J. Rulf, who very ably demonstrated that only the holy land can be the Jews' own land.

In this spirit resolutions were adopted by a very timid assembly of delegates from various "Hov've Zion" associations, which was convened in November, 1884, at the town of Kattowitz, Prussia. A short time thereafter a society of Jewish university students and academicians was formed in Vienna under the name of "Kadimah" (Forward) and to it the Palestinian movement owes its modern name of "Zionism." Similar organizations sprang into existence in almost every university of Europe where Jewish students were matriculated in sufficient numbers. The greater part of the Jewish press became Zionist in its tendency, and new Zionist periodicals of every kind and description were greatly multiplied.

Then all of a sudden the Zionist movement experienced an impetus from an almost unexpected quarter. Out of the ranks of the so-called emancipated Jewry of western Europe, where for half a century the tendency to cast off every distinction of a Jewish nationality manifested itself strongly, a champion for the Jewish national cause stepped forward in the person of Dr. Theodor Herzl, journalist and playwright. Almost a stranger to his own people and to their hopes and aspirations, but moved solely by sympathy at the depth of their misery, he undertook to solve the Jewish problem—on paper, at least. Owing to his keen insight into the political and economical affairs of the world and the intuition of an able publicist, he arrived at the same conclusions which others had reached by their national instinct. He placed his ideas before the public in a book entitled "Judenstaat," which was published about five years ago and attracted the attention of the civilized world. In it he urged self-help on the people, thus utilizing their national feeling, and, at the same time, sought to impress upon the world outside of Judaism that the powers would be greatly benefited by a solution of the vexed Jewish question through their national restoration to their old, historical home. Dr. Herzl was carried so far by his ideas that he made the cause of his people the object of his life and continued—and still continues—to work unrelentingly in that direction. Another champion of Zionism of a similar type, but still more unexpected—appeared in the person of Dr. Max Nordau, one of the keenest-minded and most brilliant men in Europe, and the possessor of extraordinary powers both as an orator and as a writer. These two men soon formed the center of a large circle of bright and intelligent men all over Europe and in various walks of life, who took up the Zionist agitation in their respective countries.

Their endeavors have culminated thus far in the two Zionist congresses held in Basle, Switzerland, in August, 1897, and in August, 1898, respectively. The programme adopted by the first congress is as follows:

"The aim of Zionism is to create for the Jewish people a publicly, legally assured home in Palestine.

"In order to attain this object the congress adopts the following means:

"1. To promote the settlement in Palestine of Jewish agriculturists, handicraftsmen, industrialists and men following professions.

"2. The centralization of the Jewish people by means of general institutions agreeable to the laws of the land.

"3. To strengthen Jewish sentiments and national self-consciousness.

"4. To obtain the sanction of governments to the carrying out of the objects of Zionism."

As one of the means to the end for which the Zionists are striving the first congress proposed the establishment of a Jewish colonial bank, which would serve the purpose by the concentration and economical consolidation of Jewish capital and Jewish productive powers in one land, namely in Syria and Palestine. The second congress showed a considerable progress of the scheme and announced that the bank would commence operations with a capital stock of $10,000,000 in London before the expiration of one year. The capital is being raised by a popular subscription. The par value of each share is £1. The latest information regarding the Zionist movement justifies the assumption that this last section of its programme also is receiving due attention on the part of the leaders, whose efforts, thus far, have met with considerable success.

The following two dispatches appeared in the press during the month of November, 1898:

"London, Nov. 4.—On Wednesday, Nov. 2, the German emperor received a Jewish deputation in Jerusalem. He was presented with an album containing views of the Jewish colonies in the holy land. In reply to the address of the chief of the deputation, Dr. Herzl, his majesty said that all such endeavors to improve the agriculture of Palestine are in the best interest of the Turkish empire, in full recognition of the sultan's sovereign rights, and might be made in complete reliance upon the kaiser's benevolent interest."

"London, Nov. 17.—The Daily Mail says: An important result of Emperor William's tour is an agreement on the part of the sultan to give his benevolent sanction to the Zionist movement."

Of the extraordinarily rapid growth of the movement one can form an idea by comparing the respective attendance of the two congresses. The congress of 1897 was attended by 160 delegates, representing about 350 Zionist organizations. The second congress was composed of about 360 delegates, representing over 900 organizations, scattered over our globe.

It would seem that the nineteenth century marvels of intercommunication have made it possible for the Jewish people to attempt to bridge the wide chasm in their common history.

DEATHS OF THE PRESIDENTS.

George Washington died from a cold which brought on laryngitis.

John Adams died at 91, from senile debility.

James Madison lived to be 85, and died peacefully and painlessly of old age.

Thomas Jefferson died of chronic diarrhea.

James Monroe died of general debility.

John Quincy Adams died of paralysis, the fatal attack overtaking him at 81, in the hall of the house of representatives.

Andrew Jackson's death was caused by consumption and dropsy at the age of 78.

Martin Van Buren's death took place at 80, caused by catarrh of the throat and lungs.

William Henry Harrison's death was occasioned by pleurisy induced by a cold taken on the day of his inauguration.

John Tyler died at 72, from a mysterious disorder like a bilious attack.

James K. Polk died at 54, from weakness caused by cholera.

Zachary Taylor died at the age of 66, from cholera morbus, induced by improper diet.

Millard Fillmore died at 74, from paralysis.

Franklin Pierce died at 65, from inflammation of the stomach.

James Buchanan's death was caused by rheumatism and gout, at 77.

Abraham Lincoln was assassinated by J. Wilkes Booth.

Andrew Johnson died from paralysis.

Ulysses S. Grant died of cancer of the throat.

James A. Garfield was assassinated by Charles J. Guiteau.

Chester A. Arthur died at 56, from Bright's disease.

MESSAGES OF THE PRESIDENT.

DESTRUCTION OF THE MAINE.

On the 28th of March, 1898, the president sent the following message to congress:

To the Congress of the United States: For some time prior to the visit of the Maine to Havana harbor our consular representatives pointed out the advantages to flow from the visit of national ships to the Cuban waters. In accustoming the people to the presence of our flag as the symbol of good will and of our ships in the fulfillment of the mission of protection to American interests, even though no immediate need thereof might exist.

Accordingly, on Jan. 24 last, after conference with the Spanish minister, in which the renewal of visits of our war vessels to Spanish waters was discussed and accepted, the peninsular authorities at Madrid and Havana were advised of the purpose of this government to resume friendly naval visits at Cuban ports, and that in that view the Maine would forthwith call at the port of Havana. This announcement was received by the Spanish government with appreciation of the friendly character of the visit of the Maine, and with notification of intention to return the courtesy by sending Spanish ships to the principal ports of the United States. Meanwhile the Maine entered the port of Havana on Jan. 25, her arrival being marked with no special incident besides the exchange of customary and ceremonial visits.

The Maine continued in the harbor of Havana during the three weeks following her arrival. No appreciable excitement attended her stay. On the contrary, a feeling of relief and confidence followed the resumption of the long interruption of friendly intercourse. So noticeable was this immediate effect of her visit that the consul-general strongly urged that the presence of our ships in Cuban waters should be kept up by retaining the Maine at Havana or in the event of her recall by sending another vessel here to take her place.

At 9:40 in the evening of Feb. 15 the Maine was destroyed by an explosion, by which the entire forward part of the cabin was utterly wrecked. In this catastrophe two officers and 258 of her crew perished, those who were not killed outright by her explosion being penned between decks by the tangle of wreckage and drowned by the immediate sinking of the hull. Prompt assistance was rendered by the neighboring vessels anchored in the harbor, aid being especially given by the boats of the Spanish cruiser Alfonso XII. and the Ward line steamer City of Washington, which lay not far distant. The wounded were generously cared for by the authorities of Havana, the hospitals being freely opened to them, while the earliest recovered bodies of the dead were interred by the municipality in a public cemetery in the city. Tributes of grief and sympathy were offered from all official quarters of the island.

The appalling calamity fell upon the people of our country with crushing force, and for a brief time an intense excitement prevailed, which in a community less just and self-controlled than ours might have led to hasty acts of blind resentment. This spirit, however, soon gave way to the calmer processes of reason and to the resolve to investigate the facts and await the material proof before forming a judgment as to the cause, the responsibility, and, if the facts warranted, the remedy due. This course necessarily recommended itself from the outset to the executive, for only in the light of a dispassionately ascertained certainty could it determine the nature and measure of its full duty in the matter.

The usual procedure was followed as in all cases of casualty or disaster to national vessels of any maritime state. A naval court of inquiry was at once organized, composed of officers well qualified by rank and practical experience to discharge the onerous duty imposed upon them. Aided by a strong force of wreckers and divers, the court proceeded to make a thorough investigation on the spot, employing every available means for the impartial and exact determination of the causes of the explosion. Its operations have been conducted with the utmost deliberation and judgment, and while independently pursued no source of information was neglected and the fullest opportunity was allowed for a simultaneous investigation by the Spanish authorities.

The finding of the court of inquiry was reached, after twenty-three days of continuous labor, on the 21st of March inst., and, having been approved on the 22d by the commander-in-chief of the United States naval force on the North Atlantic station, was transmitted to the executive.

It is herewith laid before the congress, together with the voluminous testimony taken before the court. Its purport is, in brief, as follows:

"When the Maine arrived at Havana she was conducted by the regular government pilot to buoy No. 4, to which she was moored in from five and one-half to six fathoms of water. The state of discipline on board and the condition of her magazines, boilers, coal bunkers and storage compartments are passed in review, with the conclusion that excellent order prevailed and that no indication of any cause for an internal explosion existed in any quarter.

"At 8 o'clock in the evening of Feb. 15 everything had been reported secure and all was quiet.

"At forty minutes past 9 the vessel was suddenly destroyed.

"There were two distinct explosions, with a brief interval between them. The first lifted the forward part of the ship very perceptibly; the second, which was more prolonged, is attributed by the court to the partial explosion of two or more of the forward magazines.

"The evidence of the divers establishes that the after part of the ship was practically intact and sunk in that condition a very few minutes after the explosion. The forward part was completely demolished.

"Upon the evidence of concurrent external cause the finding of the court is as follows:

"At frame 17 the outer shell of the ship, from a point eleven and one-half feet from the middle line of the ship and six feet above the keel when in its normal position, has been forced up so as to be now about four feet above the surface of the water; therefore, about thirty-four feet above where it would be had the ship sunk undisturbed.

"The outside bottom plating is bent into a reversed 'V' shape, the after wing of which, about fifteen feet broad and thirty-two feet in length (from frame 17 to frame 25), is doubled back upon itself, against the continuation of the same plating extending forward.

"At frame 18 the vertical keel is broken in two and keel bent into an angle similar to the angle formed for the outside plates. This break is about six feet below the surface of the water and about thirty feet above its normal position.

"In the opinion of the court this effect could have been produced only by the explosion of a mine situated under the bottom of the ship, at about frame 18, and somewhat on the port side of the ship.

"The conclusions of the court are: That the loss of the Maine was not in any respect due to fault or negligence on the part of any of the officers or members of her crew.

"That the ship was destroyed by the explosion of a submarine mine, which caused the partial explosion of two or more of her forward magazines; and.

"That no evidence has been obtainable fixing the responsibility for the destruction of the Maine upon any person or persons."

I have directed that the finding of the court of inquiry and the views of the government thereon be communicated to the government of her majesty the queen, and I do not permit myself to doubt that the sense of justice of the Spanish nation will dictate a course of action suggested by honor and the friendly relations of the two governments.

It was the duty of the executive to advise the congress of the result, and in the meantime deliberate consideration is invoked.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

Executive Mansion, March 28, 1898.

THE WAR MESSAGE.

To the Congress of the United States: Obedient to that precept of the constitution which commands the president to give from time to time the congressional information of the state of the union and to recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient, it becomes my duty now to address your body with regard to the grave crisis that has arisen in the relations of the United States to Spain by reason of the warfare that for more than three years has raged in the neighboring island of Cuba.

I do so because of the intimate connection of the Cuban question with the state of our own union and the grave relation the course which it is now incumbent upon the nation to adopt must needs bear to the traditional policy of our government if it is to accord with the precepts laid down by the founders of the republic and religiously observed by succeeding administrations to the present day.

The recent revolution is but the successor of other similar insurrections which have occurred in Cuba against the dominion of Spain, extending over a period of nearly half a century, each of which, during its progress, has subjected the United States to great effort and expense in enforcing its neutrality laws, caused enormous losses to the American trade and commerce, caused irritation, annoyance and disturbance among our citizens, and, by the exercise of cruel, barbarous and uncivilized practices of warfare, shocked the sensibilities and offended the humane sympathies of our people.

Since the present revolution began, in February, 1896, this country has seen the fertile domain at our threshold ravaged by fire and sword in the course of a struggle unequalled in the history of the island and rarely paralleled as to the number of the combatant and the bitterness of the contest by a revolution of modern times where a dependent people, striving to be free, have been opposed by the power of the sovereign state.

Our people have beheld a once prosperous community reduced to comparative want, its commerce virtually paralyzed, its exceptional productiveness diminished, its fields laid waste, its mills in ruins and its people perishing by tens of thousands from hunger and destitution.

We have found ourselves constrained, in the observance of that strict neutrality which our laws enjoin and which the law of nations commands, to police our own water and watch our own seaports in prevention of any unlawful act in aid of the Cubans.

Our trade has suffered; the capital invested by our citizens in Cuba has been largely lost, and the temper and forbearance of our people have been so sorely tried as to beget a perilous unrest among our own citizens, which has inevitably found its expression from time to time in the national legislature, so that issues wholly external to our own body politic engross attention and stand in the way of that close devotion to domestic advancement that becomes a self-contented commonwealth, whose primal maxim has been the avoidance of all foreign entanglements.

All this must needs awaken and has indeed aroused the utmost concern on the part of this government, as well during my predecessor's administration as my own.

In April, 1896, the evils from which our country suffered through the Cuban war became so onerous that my predecessor made an effort to bring about a peace through the mediation of this government in an way that might tend to an honorable adjustment of the contest between Spain and her revolted colony on the basis of some effective scheme of self-government for Cuba under the flag and sovereignty of Spain. I failed through the refusal of the Spanish government then in power to consider any form of mediation, or, indeed, any plan of settlement which did not begin with the actual submission of the insurgents to the mother country, and then only on such terms as Spain herself might see fit to grant.

The war continued unabated. The resistance of the insurgents was in nowise diminished.

The efforts of Spain were increased, both by the dispatch of fresh levies to Cuba and by the addition to the horrors of the strife of a new and inhuman phase happily unprecedented in the modern history of civilized Christian peoples.

The policy of devastation and concentration inaugurated by the captain-general order of Oct. 21, 1896, in the province of Pinar del Rio, was thence extended to embrace all of the island to which the power of the Spanish arms was able to reach by occupation or by military operations.

The peasantry, including all dwelling in the open agricultural interior, were driven into the garrison towns or isolated places held by the troops. The raising and movement of provisions of all kinds were interdicted. The fields were laid waste, dwellings unroofed and fired, mills destroyed, and, in short, everything that could desolate the land and render it unfit for human habitation or support was commanded by one or the other of the contending parties, and executed by all the powers at their disposal.

By the time the present administration took office, a year ago, reconcentration—so called—had been made effective over the better part of the four central and western provinces—Santa Clara, Matanzas, Havana and Pinar del Rio. The agricultural population, to the estimated number of 300,000 or more, was herded within the towns and their immediate vicinages, deprived of the means of support, rendered destitute of shelter, left poorly clad and exposed to the most unsanitary conditions.

As the scarcity of food increased with the devastation of the depopulated areas of production, destitution and want became misery and starvation. Month by month the death rate increased in an alarming ratio.

By March, 1897, according to conservative estimates from official Spanish sources, the mortality among the reconcentrados from starvation and the diseases thereto incident exceeded 50 per centum of their total number.

No practical relief was accorded to the destitute. The overburdened towns, already suffering from the general dearth, could give no aid. So-called zones of cultivation, established within the immediate area of effective military control about the cities and fortified camps, proved illusory as a remedy for the suffering. The unfortunates, being for the most part women and children, with aged and helpless men enfeebled by disease and hunger, could not have tilled the soil without tools, seed or shelter for their own support or for the supply of the cities.

Reconcentration, adopted avowedly as a war measure in order to cut off the resources of the insurgents, worked its predestined result. As I said in my message of last December, it was not civilized warfare; it was extermination. The only peace it could beget was that of the wilderness and the grave.

Meanwhile the military situation in the island had undergone a noticeable change. The extraordinary activity that characterized the second year of the war, when the insurgents invaded even the hitherto unharmed fields of Pinar del Rio and carried havoc and destitution up to the walls of the city of Havana itself, had relapsed into a dogged struggle in the central and eastern provinces. The Spanish arms regained a measure of control in Pinar del Rio and parts of Havana, but under the existing conditions of the rural country without immediate improvement of their productive situation.

Even thus partially restricted the revolutionists held their own, and their submission, put forward by Spain as the essential and sole basis of peace, seemed as far distant as at the outset.

In this state of affairs my administration found itself confronted with the grave problem of its duty. My message of last December reviewed the situation and detailed the steps taken with a view of relieving its acuteness and opening the way to some form of honorable settlement.

The assassination of the prime minister, Canovas, led to a change of government in Spain. The former administration, pledged to subjugation without concession, gave place to that of a more liberal party, committed long in advance to a policy of reform involving the wider principle of home rule for Cuba and Puerto Rico.

The overtures of this government, made through its new envoy, Gen. Woodford, and looking to an immediate and effective amelioration of the condition of the island, although not accepted to the extent of admitted mediation in any shape, were met by assurances that home rule, in an advanced phase, would be forthwith offered to Cuba without waiting for the war to end, and that more humane methods should thenceforth prevail in the conduct of hostilities.

Incidentally with these declarations the new government of Spain continued and completed the policy already begun by its predecessor of testifying friendly regard for this nation by releasing American citizens held under one charge or another connected with the insurrection, so that by the end of November not a single person entitled in any way to our national protection remained in a Spanish prison.

While these negotiations were in progress the increasing destitution of the unfortunate reconcentrados and the alarming mortality among them claimed earnest attention. The success which had attended the limited measure of relief extended to the suffering American citizens among them by the judicious expenditure through the consular agencies of the money appropriated expressly for their succor by the joint resolution approved May 24, 1897, prompted the humane extension of a similar scheme of aid to this end and was acquiesced in by the Spanish authorities.

On the 24th of December last I caused to be issued an appeal to the American people, inviting contributions in money or in kind for the succor of the starving sufferers in Cuba, following this on the 8th of January by a similar public announcement of the formation of a central Cuban relief committee, with headquarters in New York city, composed of three members representing the American National Red Cross and the religious and business elements of the community.

The efforts of that committee have been untiring and accomplished much. Arrangements for free transportation to Cuba have greatly aided the charitable work. The president of the American Red Cross and representatives of other contributory organizations have generously visited Cuba and co-operated with the consular-general and the local authorities to make effective distribution of the relief collected through the efforts of the central committee.

Nearly $200,000 in money and supplies has already reached the sufferers, and more is forthcoming. The supplies are admitted duty free, and transportation to the interior has been arranged, so that the relief, at first necessarily confined to Havana and the larger cities, is now extended through most if not all of the towns where suffering exists. Thousands of lives have already been saved.

The necessity for a change in the condition of the reconcentrados is recognized by the Spanish government. Within a few days past the orders of Gen. Weyler have been revoked; the reconcentrados are, it is said, to be permitted to return to their homes and aided to resume the self-supporting pursuits of peace; public works have been ordered to give them employment, and a sum of $600,000 has been appropriated for their relief.

The war in Cuba is of such a nature that short of subjugation or extermination a final military victory for either side seems impracticable. The alternative lies in the physical exhaustion of the one or the other party, or perhaps of both—a condition which in effect ended the ten years war by the truce of Zanjon. The prospect of such a protraction and conclusion of the present strife is a contingency hardly to be contemplated with equanimity by the civilized world, and least of all by the United States, affected and injured as we are, deeply and intimately, by its very existence.

Realizing this, it appeared to be my duty, in a spirit of true friendliness no less to Spain than to the Cubans, who have so much to lose by the prolongation of the struggle, to seek to bring about an immediate termination of the war. To this end I submitted, on the 27th ult., as a result of much representation and correspondence, through the United States minister at Madrid, propositions to the Spanish government looking to an armistice until Oct 1 for the negotiation of peace with the good offices of the president.

In addition, I asked the immediate revocation of the order of reconcentration, so as to permit the people to return to their farms and the needy to be relieved with provisions and supplies from the United States, co-operating with the Spanish authorities so as to afford full relief.

The reply of the Spanish cabinet was received on the night of the 31st ult. It offers, as the means to bring about peace in Cuba, to confide the preparation thereof to the insular department, inasmuch as the concurrence of that body would be necessary to reach a final result. It being, however, understood that the powers reserved by the constitution to the central government are not lessened or diminished.

As the Cuban parliament does not meet until the 4th of May next, the Spanish government would not object, for its part, to accept at once a suspension of hostilities if asked for by the insurgents from the general-in-chief, to whom it would pertain, in such case, to determine the duration and conditions of the armistice.

The propositions submitted by Gen. Woodford and the reply of the Spanish government were both in the form of brief memoranda, the texts of which are before me, and are substantially in the language above given. The function of the Cuban parliament in the matter of "preparing" peace and the manner of its doing so are not expressed in the Spanish memorandum, but from Gen. Woodford's explanatory reports of preliminary discussions preceding the final conference it is understood that the Spanish government stands ready to give the insular congress full powers to settle the terms of peace with the insurgents, whether by direct negotiation or indirectly by means of legislation does not appear.

With this last overture in the direction of immediate peace and its disappointing reception by Spain, the executive was brought to the end of his effort.

In my annual message of December last I said:

"Of the untried measures there remain: Recognition of the insurgents as belligerents, recognition of the independence of Cuba, neutral intervention to end the war by imposing a rational compromise between the contestants, and intervention in favor of one or the other party. I speak not of forcible annexation, for that cannot be thought of. That, by our code of morality, would be criminal aggression."

Thereupon I reviewed these alternatives in the light of President Grant's measured words, uttered in 1875, when after seven years of sanguinary, destructive and cruel barbarities in Cuba he reached the conclusion that the recognition of the independence of Cuba was impracticable and indefensible, and that the recognition of belligerence was not warranted by the facts, according to the tests of public law. I commented especially upon the latter aspect of the question, pointing out the inconveniences and positive dangers of a recognition of belligerence, which, while adding to the already onerous burdens of neutrality within our own jurisdiction, could not in any way extend our influence or effective offices in the territory of hostilities.

Nothing has since occurred to change my view in this regard, and I recognize as fully now as then that the issuance of a proclamation of neutrality, by which process the so-called recognition of belligerence is published, could of itself and unattended by other action accomplish nothing toward the one end for which we labor, the instant pacification of Cuba and the cessation of the misery that afflicts the island.

Turning to the question of recognizing at this time the independence of the present insurgent government in Cuba, we find safe precedents in our history from an early day. They are well summed up in President Jackson's message to congress Dec. 21, 1836, on the subject of the recognition of the independence of Texas. He said:

"In all the contests that have arisen out of the revolution of France, out of the disputes relating to the crews of Portugal and Spain, out of the separation of the American possessions of both from the European governments, and out of the numerous and constantly occurring struggles for dominion in Spanish America, so wisely consistent with our just principles has been the action of our government that we have under the most critical circumstances avoided all censure, and encountered no other evil than that produced by a transient estrangement of good will in those against whom we have been by force of evidence compelled to decide. It has thus been made known to the world that the uniform policy and practice of the United States is to avoid all interferences in disputes which merely relate to the internal government of other nations, and eventually to recognize the authority of the prevailing party, without reference to our particular interests and views or to the merits of the original controversy."

"But on this, as on every other trying occasion, safety is to be found in a rigid adherence to principle. In the contest between Spain and the revolted colonies we stood aloof and waited not until the ability of the new states to protect themselves was fully established, but until the danger of their being again subjugated had entirely passed away. Then, and not until then, were they recognized. Such was our course in regard to Mexico herself."

"It is true that with regard to Texas the civil authority of Mexico had been expelled, its invading army defeated, the chief of the republic himself captured, and all present power to control the newly organized government of to-day annihilated within its confines. But on the other hand there is in appearance at least an immense disparity of physical force on the side of Texas. The Mexican republic under another executive is rallying its forces under a new leader and menacing a fresh invasion to recover its lost dominion. Upon the issue of this threatened invasion the independence of Texas may be considered as suspended, and were there nothing peculiar in the attitude of the United States and Texas, our acknowledgment of its independence at such a crisis could scarcely be regarded as consistent with that prudent reserve with which we have hitherto held ourselves bound to treat all similar questions."

Thereupon Andrew Jackson proceeded to consider the risk that there might be imputed to the United States motives of selfish interests, in view of the former claim on our part to the territory of Texas and of the avowed purpose of the Texans in seeking recognition of independence as an incident to the incorporation of Texas in the union, concluding thus:

"Prudence, therefore, seems to dictate that we should still stand aloof and maintain our present attitude, if not until Mexico itself or one of the great foreign powers shall recognize the independence of the new government, at least until the lapse of time or the course of events shall have proved beyond cavil or dispute the ability of the people of that country to maintain their separate sovereignty and to uphold the government constituted by them.

"Neither of the contending parties can justly complain of this course. By pursuing it we are but carrying out the long-established policy of our government, a policy which has secured to us respect, and influence abroad and inspired confidence at home."

These are the words of the resolute and patriotic Jackson. They are evidence that the United States, in addition to the test imposed by public law as the condition of the recognition of independence by a neutral state—to wit, that the revolted states shall "constitute in fact a body politic, having a government in substance as well as in name, possessed of the elements of stability," and forming de facto, "if left to itself, a state among the nations, reasonably capable of discharging the duties of a state"—has imposed for its own governance in dealing with cases like these the further condition that recognition of independent statehood is not due to a revolted dependency until the danger of its being again subjugated by the parent state has entirely passed away.

This extreme test was in fact applied in the case of Texas. The congress to whom President Jackson referred the question as one "probably leading to war" and therefore a proper subject for "a previous understanding with that body, by whom war can alone be declared, and by whom all the provisions for sustaining its evils must be unshaken," left the matter of the recognition of Texas to the discretion of the executive, providing merely for the sending of a diplomatic agent when the president should be satisfied that the republic of Texas had become "an independent state." It was so recognized by President Van Buren, who commissioned a charge d'affaires March 7, 1837, after Mexico had abandoned an attempt to reconquer the Texan territory and when there was at the time no bona-fide contest going on between the insurgent province and its former sovereign.

I said in my message of December last: "It is to be seriously considered whether the Cuban insurrection possesses beyond dispute the attributes of statehood, which alone can demand the recognition of belligerency in its favor."

The same requirement must certainly be no less seriously considered when the graver issue of recognizing independence is in question, for no less positive test can be applied to the greater act than to the lesser, while on the other hand the influences and consequences of the struggle upon the internal policy of the recognizing state, which form important factors when the recognition of belligerency is concerned, are secondary, if not rightly eliminable factors when the real question is whether the community claiming recognition is or is not independent beyond peradventure.

Nor from the standpoint of expedience do I think it would be wise or prudent for this government to recognize at the present time the so-called Cuban republic. Such recognition is not necessary in order to enable the United States to intervene and pacify the island.

To commit this country now to the recognition of any particular government in Cuba might subject us to embarrassing conditions of international obligations toward the organization so recognized. In case of intervention our conduct would be subject to the approval or disapproval of such governments, we would be required to submit to its direction and to assume to it the mere relation of a friendly ally.

When it shall appear hereafter that there is within the island a government capable of performing the duties and discharging the functions of a separate nation, and having as a matter of fact the proper forms and attributes of nationality, such government can be promptly and readily recognized and the relations and interests of the United States with such nation adjusted.

There remain the alternative forms of intervention to end the war, either as an impartial neutral by imposing a rational compromise between the contestants, or as the active ally of the one party or the other.

As to the first, it is not to be forgotten that during the last few months the relation of the United States has virtually been one of friendly intervention in many ways, each not of itself conclusive, but all tending to the exertion of a potential influence toward an ultimate pacific result just and honorable to all interests concerned.

The spirit of all our acts hitherto has been an earnest, unselfish desire for peace and prosperity in Cuba, untarnished by differences between us and Spain and unstained by the blood of American citizens.

The forcible intervention of the United States as a neutral to stop the war, according to the large dictates of humanity and following many historical precedents where neighboring states have interfered to check the hopeless sacrifice of life by interminable conflicts beyond their borders, is justifiable on rational grounds. It involves, however, a hostile constraint upon both the parties to the contest as well to enforce a truce as to guide the eventual settlement.

The grounds for such intervention may be briefly summarized as follows:

1. In the cause of humanity and to put an end to the barbarities, bloodshed, starvation and horrible miseries now existing there, and which the parties to the conflict are either unable or unwilling to stop or mitigate. It is no answer to say this is all in another country, belonging to another nation and therefore none of our business. It is specially our duty, for it is right at our door.

2. We owe it to the citizens of Cuba to afford them that protection and indemnity for life and property which no government there can or will afford, and to that end to terminate the conditions that deprive them of legal protection.

3. The right to intervene may be justified by the very serious injury to commerce, trade and business of our people, and by the wanton destruction of property and devastation of the island.

And which is of the utmost importance: The present condition of affairs in Cuba is a constant menace to our peace, and entails upon this government an enormous expense. With such a conflict waged for years in an island so near us and with which our people have such trade and business relations—when the lives and liberty of our citizens are in constant danger and their property destroyed and themselves ruined—where our trading vessels are liable to seizure and are seized at our very door by warships of a foreign nation, the expeditions of filibustering that we are powerless to prevent altogether, and the irritating questions and entanglements thus arising—all these and others that I need not mention, with the resulting strained relations, are a constant menace to our peace and compel us to keep on a semi-war footing with a nation with which we are at peace.

These elements of danger and disorder already pointed out have been strikingly illustrated by a tragic event which has deeply and justly moved the American people.

I have already transmitted to congress the report of the naval court of inquiry on the destruction of the battleship Maine in the harbor of Havana during the night of the 15th of February.

The destruction of that noble vessel has filled the national heart with inexpressible horror. Two hundred and fifty-eight brave sailors and marines and two officers of our navy, reposing in the fancied security of a friendly harbor, have been hurried to death, grief and want hurried to their homes and sorrow to the nation.

The naval court of inquiry, which it is needless to say commands the unqualified confidence of the government, was unanimous in its conclusion that the destruction of the Maine was caused by an exterior explosion—that of a submarine mine. It did not assume to place the responsibility. That remains to be fixed.

In any event the destruction of the Maine, by whatever exterior cause, is a patent and impressive proof of a state of things in Cuba that is intolerable. That condition is thus shown to be such that the Spanish government cannot assure safety and security to a vessel of the American navy in the harbor of Havana on a mission of peace and rightfully there.

Further referring in this connection to recent diplomatic correspondence, a dispatch from our minister to Spain of the 26th ult. contained the statement that the Spanish minister for foreign affairs assured him positively that Spain will do all that the highest honor and justice require in the matter of the Maine.

The reply above referred to of the 31st ult. also contained an expression of the readiness of Spain to submit to an arbitration all the differences which can arise in this matter, which is subsequently explained by the note of the Spanish minister at Washington of the 10th inst., as follows:

"As to the question of fact which springs from the diversity of views between the report of the American and Spanish boards, Spain proposes that the fact be ascertained by an impartial investigation by experts, which decision Spain accepts in advance."

To this I have made no reply.

President Grant, in 1875, after discussing the phases of the contest as it then appeared, and its hopeless and apparent indefinite prolongation, said:

"In such event I am of opinion that other nations will be compelled to assume the responsibility which devolves upon them and to seriously consider the only remaining measure possible—mediation and intervention. Owing, perhaps, to the large expanse of water separating the island from the peninsula, the contending parties appear to have within themselves no depository of common confidence to suggest wisdom when passion and excitement have their way and to assume the part of peacemaker."

"In this view, in the earlier days of the contest, the good offices of the United States as a mediator were tendered in good faith, without any selfish purpose. In the interest of humanity and sincere friendship for both parties, but were at the time declined by Spain. With the declaration, nevertheless, that at a future time they would be indispensable. No intimation has been received that in the opinion of Spain that time has been reached. And yet the strife continues, with all its dread horrors and all its injuries to the interests of the United States and of other nations. Each party seems quite capable of making great injury and damage to the other, as well as to all the relations and interests dependent on the existence of peace in the island, but they seem incapable of reaching any adjustment, and both have thus far failed of achieving any success whereby one party shall possess and control the island to the exclusion of the other."

"Under the circumstances, the agency of others, either by mediation or by intervention, seems to be the only alternative which must sooner or later be invoked for the termination of the strife."

In the last annual message of my immediate predecessor during the pending struggle it was said:

"When the inability of Spain to deal successfully with the insurrection has become manifest, and it is demonstrated that her sovereignty is extinct in Cuba for all purposes of its rightful existence, and when a hopeless struggle for its re-establishment has degenerated into a strife which means nothing more than the useless sacrifice of human life and the utter destruction of the very subject matter of the conflict, a situation will be presented in which our obligations to the sovereignty of Spain will be superseded by higher obligations, which we can hardly hesitate to recognize and discharge."

In my annual message to congress December last, speaking to this question, I said: "The near future will demonstrate whether the indispensable condition of a righteous peace, just alike to the Cubans and to Spain, as well as equitable to all our interests so intimately involved in the welfare of Cuba, is likely to be attained. If not, the exigency of further and other action by the United States will remain to be taken.

"When that time comes that action will be determined in the line of indisputable right and duty. It will be faced, without misgiving or hesitancy, in the light of the obligation this government owes itself, to the people who have confided to it the protection of their interests and honor, and to humanity.

"Sure of the right, keeping free from all offense ourselves, actuated only by upright and patriotic considerations, moved neither by passion nor selfishness, the government will continue its watchful care over the rights and property of American citizens, and will abate none of its efforts to bring about by peaceful agencies a peace which shall be honorable and enduring. If it shall hereafter appear to be a duty imposed by our obligations to ourselves, to civilization and humanity to intervene with force, it shall be without fault on our part and only because the necessity for such action will be so clear as to command the support and approval of the civilized world."

The long trial has proved that the object for which Spain has waged the war cannot be attained. The fire of insurrection may flame or may smolder with varying seasons, but it has not been and it is plain that it cannot be extinguished by present methods.

The only hope of relief and repose from a condition which cannot longer be endured is the enforced pacification of Cuba. In the name of humanity, in the name of civilization, in behalf of endangered American interests, which give us the right and duty to speak and to act, the war in Cuba must stop.

In view of these facts and these considerations, I ask the congress to authorize and empower the president to take measures to secure a full and speedy termination of hostilities between the government of Spain and the people of Cuba, and to secure in the island the establishment of a stable government, capable of maintaining order and observing its international obligations, insuring peace and tranquillity and the security of its citizens, as well as our own, and to use the military and naval forces of the United States as may be necessary for these purposes.

And in the interest of humanity and to aid in preserving the lives of the starving people of the island I recommend that the distribution of food and supplies be continued and that an appropriation be made out of the public treasury to supplement the charity of our citizens.

The issue is now with the congress. It is a solemn responsibility. I have exhausted every effort to relieve the intolerable condition of affairs which is at our doors. Prepared to execute every obligation imposed upon me by the constitution and the law, I await your action.

Yesterday and since the preparation of the foregoing message official information was received by me that the latest decree of the queen regent of Spain directs Gen. Blanco, in order to prepare and facilitate peace, to proclaim a suspension of hostilities, the duration and details of which have not yet been communicated to me. This fact, with every other pertinent consideration, will, I am sure, have your just and careful attention in the solemn deliberations upon which you are about to enter.

If this measure attains a successful result, then our aspirations as a Christian, peace-loving people will be realized. If it fails, it will be only another justification for our contemplated action.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

FOR A DECLARATION OF WAR.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America:

I transmit to the congress for its consideration and appropriate action copies of correspondence recently had with the representative of Spain in the United States, with the United States minister at Madrid, and through the latter with the government of Spain, showing the action taken under the joint resolution approved April 20, 1898, "for the recognition of the independence of the people of Cuba, demanding that the government of Spain relinquish its authority and government in the island of Cuba and to withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuba and Cuban waters, and directing the president of the United States to use the land and naval forces of the United States to carry these resolutions into effect."

Upon communicating with the Spanish minister in Washington the demand which it became the duty of the executive to address to the government of Spain in obedience to said resolution, the said minister asked for his passports and withdrew.

The United States minister at Madrid was in turn notified by the Spanish minister for foreign affairs that the withdrawal of the Spanish representative from the United States had terminated diplomatic relations between the two countries, and that all official communications between their respective representatives ceased therewith.

I recommend to your especial attention the note addressed to the United States minister at Madrid by the Spanish minister for foreign affairs on the 21st inst., whereby the foregoing notification was conveyed. It will be perceived therefrom that the government of Spain, having cognizance of the joint resolution of the United States congress, and in view of things which the president is thereby required and authorized to do, responds by treating the representative demands of this government as measures of hostility, following with that instant and complete severance of relations by its action whereby the usage of nations accompanies an existent state of war between sovereign powers.

The position of Spain being thus made known and the demands of the United States being denied with a complete rupture of intercourse by the act of Spain, I have been constrained, in exercise of the power and authority conferred upon me by the joint resolution aforesaid, to proclaim, under date of April 22, 1898, a blockade of certain ports of the north coast of Cuba lying between Cardenas and Bahia Honda, and of the port of Cienfuegos on the south coast of Cuba; and further, in exercise of my constitutional powers and using the authority conferred upon me by the act of congress approved April 22, 1898, to issue a proclamation, dated April 23, 1898, calling for volunteers in order to carry into effect the said resolution of April 20, 1898.

Copies of these proclamations are hereto appended.

In view of the measures so taken and with a view to the adoption of such other measures as may be necessary to enable me to carry out the expressed will of the congress of the United States in the premises, I now recommend to your honorable body for adoption of a joint resolution declaring that a state of war exists between the United States of America and the kingdom of Spain, and I urge speedy action thereon, to the end that the definition of the international status of the United States as a belligerent power may be made known and the assertion of all its rights and the maintenance of all its duties in the conduct of a public war may be assured.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

TRIBUTE TO ADMIRAL DEWEY.

To the Congress of the United States: On the 24th of April I directed the secretary of the navy to telegraph orders to Commodore Dewey of the United States navy, commanding the Asiatic squadron, then lying in the port of Hongkong, to proceed forthwith to the Philippine Islands, there to commence operations and engage the Spanish fleet.

Promptly obeying that order the United States squadron, consisting of the flagship Olympia, Baltimore, Raleigh, Boston, Concord and Petrel, with the revenue cutter McCulloch as an auxiliary dispatch boat, entered the harbor of Manila at daybreak on the 1st of May and immediately engaged the entire Spanish fleet of eleven ships, which were under the protection of the fire of the land forts. After a stubborn fight, in which the enemy suffered great loss, these vessels were destroyed or completely disabled and the water battery at Cavite silenced. Of our brave officers and men not one was lost and only eight injured, and those slightly. All of our ships escaped any serious damage.

By the 4th of May Commodore Dewey had taken possession of the naval station at Cavite, destroying the fortifications there and at the entrance of the bay and ravaging their garrisons. The waters of the bay are under his complete control. He has established hospitals within the American lines, where 250 of the Spanish sick and wounded are assisted and protected.

The magnitude of this victory can hardly be measured by the ordinary standards of naval warfare. Outweighing any material advantage is the moral effect of this initial success. At this unsurpassed achievement the great heart of our nation throbs, not with boasting or with greed of conquest, but with deep gratitude that this triumph has come in a just cause, and that by the grace of God an effective step has thus been taken toward the attainment of the wished-for peace. To those whose skill, courage and devotion have won the fight, to the gallant commander and the brave officers and men who aided him, our country owes an incalculable debt.

Feeling as our people feel and speaking in their name, I at once sent a message to Commodore Dewey, thanking him and his officers and men for their splendid achievement and overwhelming victory, and informing him that I had appointed him an acting rear-admiral.

I now recommend that, following our national precedents and expressing the fervent gratitude of every patriotic heart, the thanks of congress be given Acting Rear-Admiral George Dewey of the United States navy for highly distinguished conduct in conflict with the enemy, and to the officers and men under his command for their gallantry in the destruction of the enemy's fleet and the capture of the enemy's fortifications in the bay of Manila.

SINKING OF THE MERRIMAC.

To the Congress of the United States: On the morning of the 3d of June, 1898, Assistant Naval Constructor Richmond P. Hobson, U. S. N., with a volunteer crew of seven men, in charge of the partially dismantled collier Merrimac, entered the fortified harbor of Santiago, Cuba, for the purpose of sinking the collier in the narrowest portion of the channel and thus interposing a serious obstacle to the egress of the Spanish fleet which had recently entered that harbor. This enterprise, demanding coolness, judgment and bravery amounting to heroism, was carried into successful execution in the face of a persistent fire from the hostile fleet, as well as from the fortifications on shore.

Rear-Admiral Sampson, commander-in-chief of our naval force in Cuban waters, in an official report dated "Off Santiago de Cuba, June 3, 1898," and addressed to the secretary of the navy, referring to Mr. Hobson's gallant exploit, says:

"As stated in a recent telegram before coming here, I decided to make the harbor entrance secure against the possibility of egress of the Spanish ships by obstructing the narrow part of the entrance by sinking a collier at that point. Upon calling upon Mr. Hobson for his professional opinion as to a sure method of sinking the ship, he manifested a most lively interest in the problem. After several days' consideration he presented a solution which he considered would insure the immediate sinking of the ship when he had reached the desired point in the channel. The plan contemplated a crew of only seven men and Mr. Hobson, who begged that it might be intrusted to him.

"As soon as I reached Santiago and had the collier to work upon, the details were commenced and diligently prosecuted, hoping to complete them in one day, as the moon and tide served best the first night after our arrival. Notwithstanding every effort the hour of 4 o'clock in the morning arrived and the preparations were scarcely completed. After a careful inspection of the final preparations I was forced to relinquish the plan for that morning, as dawn was breaking. Mr. Hobson begged to try it at all hazards.

"This morning proved more propitious, as a prompt start could be made. Nothing could have been more gallantly executed. A careful inspection of the harbor from this ship showed that the Merrimac had been sunk in the channel.

"I cannot too earnestly express my appreciation of the conduct of Mr. Hobson and his gallant crew. I venture to say that a more brave and daring thing has not been done since Cushing blew up the Albemarle."

The members of the crew who were with Mr. Hobson on this memorable occasion have already been rewarded for their services by advancement, which, under the provisions of law and regulation, the secretary of the navy was authorized to make, and the nomination to the senate of Naval Cadet Powell, who, in a steam launch, followed the Merrimac on her perilous trip for the purpose of rescuing her force after the sinking of that vessel, to be advanced in rank to the grade of ensign, has been prepared and will be submitted.

Cushing, with whose gallant act in blowing up the ram Albemarle during the civil war Admiral Sampson compares Mr. Hobson's sinking of the Merrimac, received the thanks of congress, upon recommendation of the president, by name, and was in consequence, under the provisions of section 1508 of the revised statutes, advanced one grade, such advancement embracing fifty-six numbers. The section cited applies, however, to line officers only, and Mr. Hobson, being a member of the staff of the navy, could not under its provisions be so advanced.

In considering the question of suitably rewarding Assistant Naval Constructor Hobson for his valiant conduct on the occasion referred to I have deemed it proper to address this message to you with the recommendation that he receive the thanks of congress, and, further, that he be transferred to the line of the navy and promoted to such position therein as the president, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, may determine. Mr. Hobson's transfer from the construction corps to the line is fully warranted, he having received the necessary technical training as a graduate of the naval academy, where he stood No. 1 in his class, and such action is recommended partly in deference to what is understood to be his own desire, although, he being now a prisoner in the hands of the enemy, no direct communication on the subject has been received from him, and partly for the reason that the abilities displayed by him at Santiago are of such a character as to indicate especial fitness for the duties of the line.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

REWARD FOR LIEUT. NEWCOMB.

To the Congress of the United States: On the 11th day of May, 1898, there occurred a conflict in the bay of Cardenas, Cuba, in which the naval torpedo boat Winslow was disabled, her commander wounded and one of her officers and a part of her crew killed by the enemy's fire.

In the face of a most galling fire from the enemy's guns the revenue cutter Hudson, commanded by First Lieutenant Frank H. Newcomb, United States revenue-cutter service, rescued the disabled Winslow, her wounded commander and remaining crew. The commander of the Hudson kept his vessel in the very hottest fire of the action, although in constant danger of going ashore on account of the shallow water, until he finally got a line made fast to the Winslow and towed that vessel out of range of the enemy's guns, a deed of special gallantry.

I recommend that, in recognition of the signal act of heroism of First Lieutenant Frank H. Newcomb, United States revenue-cutter service, above set forth, the thanks of congress be extended to him and to his officers and men of the Hudson, and a gold medal of honor be presented Lieut. Newcomb, a silver medal of honor to each of his officers and a bronze medal of honor to each of his crew who served with him at Cardenas.

It will be remembered that congress, by appropriate action, recognized the several commanders of ships of war for their services in the battle of Manila, May 1, 1898.

CAPT. HODGSON REMEMBERED.

The commander of the revenue cutter Hugh McCulloch, present and in active co-operation with the fleet under Commodore Dewey on that occasion (by executive order under the provisions of section 2775, revised statutes), is the only commander of a national ship to whom promotion or advancement was not and could not be given, because he already held the highest rank known to the revenue-cutter service.

I now recommend that, in recognition of the efficient and meritorious services of Capt. Daniel B. Hodgson, United States revenue-cutter service, who commanded the Hugh McCulloch at the battle of Manila (that officer being now in the 63d year of his age and having served continuously on active duty for thirty-seven years), be placed upon permanent waiting orders on the retired list of the revenue-cutter service on the full-duty pay of his grade.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

THE PRESIDENT'S SECOND ANNUAL MESSAGE.

To the Senate and House of Representatives: Notwithstanding the added burdens rendered necessary by the war, our people rejoice in a very satisfactory and steadily increasing degree of prosperity, evidenced by the largest volume of business ever recorded.

Manufacture has been productive, agricultural pursuits have yielded abundant returns, labor in the fields of industry is better rewarded, revenue legislation passed by the present congress has increased the treasury's receipts to the amount estimated by its authors, the finances of the government have been successfully administered and its credit advanced to the first rank, while its currency has been maintained at the world's highest standard.

Military service under a common flag and for a righteous cause has strengthened the national spirit and served to cement more closely than ever the fraternal bonds between every section of the country.

A review of the relation of the United States to other powers, always appropriate, is this year of primary importance in view of the momentous issues which have arisen, demanding in one instance the ultimate determination by arms and involving far-reaching consequences which will require the earnest attention of the congress.

In my last annual message very full consideration was given to the question of the duty of the government of the United States toward Spain and the Cuban insurrection as being by far the most important problem with which we were then called upon to deal. The considerations then advanced and the exposition of the views then expressed disclosed my sense of the extreme gravity of the situation.

TIME GIVEN SPAIN.

Setting aside, as logically unfounded or practically inadmissible, the recognition of the Cuban insurgents as belligerents, the recognition of the independence of Cuba, neutral intervention to end the war by imposing a rational compromise between the contestants, intervention in favor of one or the other party, and forcible annexation of the island, I concluded it was honestly due to our friendly relations with Spain that she should be given a reasonable chance to realize her expectations of reform, to which she had become irrevocably committed. Within a few weeks previously she had announced comprehensive plans, which it was confidently asserted would be efficacious to remedy the evils so deeply affecting our own country, so injurious to the true interests of the mother country as well as to those of Cuba, and so repugnant to the universal sentiment of humanity.

The ensuing month brought little sign of real progress toward the pacification of Cuba. The autonomous administration set up in the capital and some of the principal cities appeared not to gain the favor of the inhabitants nor to be able to extend their influence to the large extent of territory held by the insurgents, while the military arm, obviously unable to cope with the still active rebellion, continued many of the most objectionable and offensive policies of the government that had preceded it.

No tangible relief was afforded the vast numbers of unhappy reconcentrados, despite the reiterated professions made in that regard and the amount appropriated by Spain to that end. The proffered expedient of zones of cultivation proved illusory. Indeed, no less practical nor more delusive promises of succor could well have been tendered to the exhausted and destitute people, stripped of all that made life and home dear and herded in a strange region among unsympathetic strangers hardly less necessitous than themselves.

By the end of December the mortality among them had frightfully increased. Conservative estimates from Spanish sources placed the deaths among these distressed people at over 40 per cent from the time Gen. Weyler's decree of reconcentration was enforced. With the acquiescence of the Spanish authorities a scheme was adopted for relief by charitable contributions raised in this country and distributed, under the direction of the consul-general and the several consuls, by noble and earnest individual effort through the organized agencies of the American Red Cross. Thousands of lives were thus saved, but many thousands more were inaccessible to such forms of aid.

The war continued on the old footing, without comprehensive plan, developing only the same spasmodic encounters, barren of strategic result, that had marked the course of the earlier ten years' rebellion as well as the present insurrection from its start. No alternative save physical exhaustion of either combatant, and therewithal the practical ruin of the island, lay in sight, but how far distant no one could venture to conjecture.

DESTRUCTION OF THE MAINE.

At this juncture, on the 15th of February last, occurred the destruction of the battleship Maine, while rightfully lying in the harbor of Havana on a mission of international courtesy and good-will—a catastrophe the suspicious nature and horror of which stirred the nation's heart profoundly.

It is a striking evidence of the poise and sturdy good sense distinguishing our national character that this shocking blow, falling upon a generous people, already deeply touched by preceding events in Cuba, did not move them to an instant, desperate resolve to tolerate no longer the existence of a condition of danger and disorder at our doors that made possible such a deed by whomsoever wrought. Yet the instinct of justice prevailed and the nation anxiously awaited the result of the searching investigation at once set on foot.

The finding of the naval board of inquiry established that the origin of the explosion was external by a submarine mine, and only halted through lack of positive testimony to fix the responsibility of its authorship.

All these things carried conviction to the most thoughtful, even before the finding of the naval court, that a crisis in our relations with Spain and toward Cuba was at hand. So strong was this belief that it needed but a brief executive suggestion to the congress to receive immediate answer to the duty of making instant provision for the possible and perhaps speedily probable emergency of war, and the remarkable, almost unique, spectacle was presented of a unanimous vote of both houses on the 9th of March, appropriating $50,000,000 for the national defense and for each and every purpose connected therewith, to be expended at the discretion of the president.

That this act of provision came none too soon was disclosed when the application of the fund was undertaken. Our forts were practically undefended. Our navy needed large provision for increased ammunition and supplies and even numbers to cope with any sudden attack from the navy of Spain, which comprised modern warships of the highest type of continental perfection. Our army also required enlargement of men and munitions.

The details of the hurried preparation for the dreaded contingency are told in the reports of the secretaries of war and of the navy, and need not be repeated here. It is sufficient to say that the outbreak of war, when it did come, found our nation not unprepared to meet the conflict.

Nor was the apprehension of coming strife confined to our own country. It was felt by the continental powers, which, on April 6, through their ambassadors and envoys, addressed to the executive an expression of hope that humanity and moderation might mark the course of this government and people, and that further negotiations would lead to an agreement which, while securing the maintenance of peace, would affirm all necessary guarantees for the re-establishment of order in Cuba.

In responding to that representation I also shared the hope that the envoys had expressed that peace might be preserved in a manner to terminate the chronic condition of disturbance in Cuba so injurious and menacing to our interests and tranquillity, as well as shocking to our sentiments of humanity; and, while appreciating the humanitarian and disinterested character of the communication they had made on behalf of the powers, I stated the confidence of this government, for its part, that equal appreciation would be shown for its own earnest and unselfish endeavors to fulfill a duty to humanity by ending a situation the indefinite prolongation of which had become insufferable.

EFFORTS TO AVERT WAR.

Still animated by the hope of a peaceful solution and obeying the dictates of duty, no effort was relaxed to bring about a speedy ending of the Cuban struggle. Negotiations to this object continued actively with the government of Spain, looking to the immediate conclusion of a six months armistice in Cuba with a view to effecting the recognition of her people's right to independence. Besides this, the instant revocation of the order of reconcentration was asked, so that the sufferers, returning to their homes and aided by united American and Spanish effort, might be put in a way to support themselves and by orderly resumption of the well-nigh destroyed productive energies of the island contribute to the restoration of its tranquility and well being.

Negotiations continued for some little time at Madrid, resulting in offers by the Spanish government which could not but be regarded as inadequate. It was proposed to confide the preparation of peace to the insular parliament, yet to be convened under the autonomous decrees of November, 1897, but without impairment in any wise of the constitutional powers of the Madrid government, which, to that end, would grant an armistice, if solicited by the insurgents, for such time as the general in chief might see fit to fix.

How and with what scope of discretionary powers the insular parliament was expected to set about the "preparation" of peace did not appear. If it were to be by negotiation with the insurgents, the issue seemed to rest on the one side with a body chosen by a fraction of the electors in the districts under Spanish control, and on the other with the insurgent population holding the interior country, unrepresented in the so-called parliament, and defiant at the suggestion of suing for peace.

Grieved and disappointed at this barren outcome of my sincere endeavors to reach a practicable solution, I felt it my duty to remit the whole question to the congress. In the message of April 1, 1898, I announced that with this last overture in the direction of immediate peace in Cuba, and its disappointing reception by Spain, the effort of the executive was brought to an end.

I again reviewed the alternative course of action which I had proposed, concluding that the only one consonant with international policy and compatible with our first historical traditions was intervention as a neutral to stop the war and check the hopeless sacrifice of life, even though that resort involved "hostile constraint" upon both the parties to the contest, as well to enforce a truce as to guide the eventual settlement."

The grounds justifying that step were: The interests of humanity, the duty to protect life and property of our citizens in Cuba, the right to check injury to our commerce and people through the devastation of the island, and, most important, the need of removing at once and forever the constant menace and the burdens entailed upon our government by the uncertainties and perils of the situation caused by the unendurable disturbance in Cuba. I said:

"The long trial has proved that the object for which Spain has waged the war cannot be attained. The fire of insurrection may flame or may smolder with varying seasons, but it has not been, and it is plain that it cannot be, extinguished by present methods. The only hope of relief and repose from a condition which can no longer be endured is the enforced pacification of Cuba. In the name of humanity, in the name of civilization, in behalf of endangered American interests, which give us the right and the duty to speak, the existing war in Cuba must stop."

In view of all this the congress was asked to authorize and empower the president to take measures to secure a full and final termination of hostilities between Spain and the people of Cuba and to secure in the island the establishment of a stable government, capable of maintaining order and observing its international obligations, insuring peace and tranquillity and the security of its citizens as well as our own, and for the accomplishment of those ends to use the military and naval forces of the United States as might be necessary, with added authority to continue generous relief to the starving people of Cuba.

DECISIVE ACTION BY CONGRESS.

The response of the congress, after nine days of earnest deliberation, during which the almost unanimous sentiment of your body was developed on every point save as to the expediency of coupling the proposed action with a formal recognition of the republic of Cuba as the true and lawful government of that island—a proposition which failed of adoption—the congress, after conference, on the 19th of April, by a vote of 42 to 35 in the senate and 311 to 6 in the house of representatives, passed the memorable joint resolution, declaring:

"1. That the people of the island of Cuba are, and of right ought to be, free and independent.

"2. That it is the duty of the United States to demand, and the government of the United States does hereby demand, that the government of Spain at once relinquish its authority and government in the island of Cuba and withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuba and Cuban waters.

"3. That the president of the United States be and he hereby is directed and empowered to use the entire land and naval forces of the United States, and to call into the actual service of the United States the militia of the several states to such extent as may be necessary to carry these resolutions into effect.

"4. That the United States hereby disclaims any disposition or intention to exercise sovereignty, jurisdiction or control over said island, except for the pacification thereof, and asserts its determination, when that is accomplished, to leave the government and control of the island to its people."

This resolution was approved by the executive on the next day, April 20. A copy was at once communicated to the Spanish minister at this capital, who forthwith announced that his continuance in Washington had thereby become impossible, and asked for his passports, which were given him. He thereupon withdrew from Washington, leaving the protection of Spanish interests in the United States to the French ambassador and the Austro-Hungarian minister.

Simultaneously with its communication to the Spanish minister, Gen. Woodford, the American minister at Madrid, was telegraphed confirmation of the text of the joint resolution, and directed to communicate it to the government of Spain, with the formal demand that it at once relinquish its authority and government in the island of Cuba and withdraw its forces therefrom, coupling this demand with announcements of the intentions of this government as to the future of the island, in conformity with the fourth clause of the resolution, and giving Spain until noon of April 23 to reply.

The demand, although, as above shown, officially made known to the Spanish envoy here, was not delivered at Madrid. After the instruction reached Gen. Woodford on the morning of April 21, but before he could present it, the Spanish minister of state notified him that upon the president's approval of the joint resolution the Madrid government, regarding the act as "equivalent to an evident declaration of war," had ordered its minister in Washington to withdraw, thereby breaking off diplomatic relations between the two countries and ceasing all official communication between their respective representatives. Gen. Woodford thereupon demanded his passports and quitted Madrid the same day.

FORMAL DECLARATION OF WAR.

Spain having thus denied the demand of the United States and initiated that complete form of rupture of relations which attends a state of war, the executive powers authorized by the resolution were at once used by me to meet the enlarged contingency of actual war between Spain and the United States.

On April 22 I proclaimed a blockade of the northern coast of Cuba, including ports on said coast between Cardenas and Bahia Honda, and the port of Cienfuegos on the south coast of Cuba, and on the 23d I called for volunteers to execute the purpose of the resolution.

By my message of April 25 the congress was informed of the situation, and I recommended formal declaration of the existence of a state of war between the United States, and Spain. The congress accordingly voted on the same day the act approved April 20, 1898, declaring the existence of such war, from and including the 21st day of April, and re-enacted the provision of the resolution of April 20, directing the president to use all the armed forces of the nation to carry that act into effect.

Due notification of the existence of war as aforesaid was given April 25 by telegraph to all the governments with which the United States maintain relations, in order that their neutrality might be assured during the war.

The various governments responded with proclamations of neutrality, each after its own methods. It is not among the least gratifying incidents of the struggle that the obligations of neutrality were impartially discharged by all, often under delicate and difficult circumstances.

In further fulfillment of international duty, I issued April 26 a proclamation announcing the treatment proposed to be accorded to vessels and their cargoes as to blockades, contraband, the exercise of the right of subjects and the immunity of neutral flags and neutral goods under the enemy's flag. A similar proclamation was made by the Spanish government. In the conduct of hostilities the rules of the declaration of Paris, including abstention from resort to privateering, have accordingly been observed by both belligerents, although neither was a party to that declaration.

RECRUITING OF ARMY AND NAVY.

Our country thus, after an interval of half a century of peace with all nations, found itself engaged in deadly conflict with a foreign enemy. Every nerve was strained to meet the emergency.

The response to the initial call for 125,000 volunteers was instant and complete, as was also the result of the second call of May 25 for 75,000 additional volunteers. The ranks of the regular army were increased to the limits provided by the act of April 25.

The enlisted force of the navy on the 15th of August, when it reached its maximum, numbered 24,123 men and apprentices. One hundred and three vessels were added to the navy by purchase, one was presented to the government, one leased and the four vessels of the International Navigation company, the St. Paul, St. Louis, New York and Paris, were chartered. In addition to these the revenue cutters and lighthouse tenders were turned over to the navy department and became temporarily a part of the auxiliary navy.

The maximum effective fighting force of the navy during the war, separated into classes, was as follows:

Regular—Four battleships of the first class, one battleship of the second class, two armored cruisers, six coast defense monitors, one armored ram, twelve protected cruisers, three unprotected cruisers, eighteen gunboats, one dynamite cruiser, eleven torpedo boats, fourteen old vessels of the old navy, including monitors.

Auxiliary—Sixteen auxiliary cruisers, twenty-eight converted yachts, twenty-seven converted tugs, nineteen converted colliers, fifteen revenue cutters, four light house tenders and nineteen miscellaneous vessels.

Much alarm was felt along our entire Atlantic seaboard lest some attack might be made by the enemy. Every precaution was taken to prevent possible injury to our great cities lying along the coast. Temporary garrisons were provided, drawn from the state militia. Infantry and light batteries were drawn from the volunteer force. About 12,000 troops were thus employed. The coast signal service was established for observing the approach of an enemy's ships to the coast of the United States, and the life-saving and lighthouse services co-operated, which enabled the navy department to have all portions of the Atlantic coast, from Maine to Texas, under observation.

The auxiliary navy was created under the authority of congress, and was officered and manned by the naval militia of the several states. This organization patrolled the coast and performed the duty of a second arm of defense.

Under the direction of the chief of engineers submarine mines were placed at the most exposed points. Before the outbreak of the war permanent mining casemates and cable galleries had been constructed at all important harbors. Most of the torpedo material was not to be found in the market and had to be specially manufactured. Under date of April 19 district officers were directed to take all preliminary measures, short of the actual attaching of the loaded mines to the cables, and on April 22 telegraphic orders were issued to place the loaded mines in position.

The aggregate number of mines placed was 1,536 at the principal harbors from Maine to California. Preparations were also made for the planting of mines at certain other harbors, but owing to the early destruction of the Spanish fleet these mines were not placed.

The signal corps was promptly organized and performed service of most difficult and important character. Its operations during the war covered the electrical connection of all coast fortifications and the establishment of telephonic and telegraphic facilities for the camps at Manila, Santiago and in Puerto Rico.

There were constructed 300 miles of line at ten great camps, thus facilitating military movements from those points in a manner heretofore unknown in military administration. Field telegraph lines were established and maintained under the enemy's fire at Manila, and later the Manila-Hongkong cable was reopened. In Puerto Rico cable communications were opened over a discontinued route, and on land the headquarters of the commanding officer were kept in telegraphic or telephonic communication with the division commanders of four different lines of operation.

There was placed in Cuban waters a completely outfitted cable ship, with war cables and cable gear suitable both for the destruction of communications belonging to the enemy and the establishment of our own. Two ocean cables were destroyed under the enemy's batteries at Santiago. The day previous to the landing of Gen. Shafter's corps at Calmanera, within twenty miles of the landing place, cable communications were established and cable stations opened, giving direct communication with the government at Washington. This service was invaluable to the executive in directing the operations of the army and navy.

With a total force of over 1,500 the loss was by disease and field, officers and men included, only five.

THE BOND ISSUE.

The national defense under the $50,000,000 fund was expended in large part by the army and navy, and the objects for which it was used are fully shown in the reports of the several secretaries. It was a most timely appropriation, enabling the government to strengthen its defense and make preparations greatly needed in case of war.

This fund being inadequate to the requirements of equipment and for the conduct of the war, the patriotism of the congress provided the means in the war-revenue act of June 13 by authorizing a 3 per cent popular loan, not to exceed $400,000,000, and by levying additional imposts and taxes. Of the authorized loan, $200,000,000 was offered and promptly taken, the subscriptions so far exceeding the call as to cover it many times over, while, preference being given to the smaller bids, no single allotment exceeded $5,000.

This was a most encouraging and significant result, showing the vast resources of the nation and the determination of the people to uphold their country's honor.

DEWEY'S VICTORY AT MANILA.

It is not within the province of this message to narrate the history of the extraordinary war that followed the Spanish declaration of April 21, but a brief recital of its more salient features is appropriate.

The first encounter of the war in point of date took place April 27, when a detachment of the blockading squadron made a reconnaissance in force at Matanzas, shelled the harbor forts and demolished several new works in construction.

The next engagement was destined to mark a memorable epoch in maritime warfare. The Pacific fleet, under Commodore Dewey, had lain for some weeks at Hongkong. Upon the colonial proclamation of neutrality being issued and the customary twenty-four hours' notice being given, it repaired to Mils bay, near Hongkong, whence it proceeded to the Philippine islands under telegraphed orders to capture or destroy the formidable Spanish fleet then assembled at Manila.

At daybreak on the 1st of May the American force entered Manila bay, and after a few hours' engagement effected the total destruction of the Spanish fleet, consisting of ten warships and a transport, besides capturing the naval station and forts at Cavite, thus annihilating the Spanish naval power in the Pacific ocean and completely controlling the bay of Manila, with the ability to take the city at will. Not a life was lost on our ships, the wounded numbering only seven, while not a vessel was materially injured.

For this gallant achievement the congress, upon my recommendation, fittingly bestowed upon the actors preferment and substantial reward.

The effect of this remarkable victory upon the spirit of our people and upon the fortunes of the war was instant. A prestige of invincibility thereby attached to our arms which continued throughout the struggle. Re-enforcements were hurried to Manila under the command of Maj.-Gen. Merritt and firmly established within sight of the capital, which lay helpless before our guns.

On the 7th day of May the government was advised officially of the victory at Manila, and at once inquired of the commander of our fleet what troops would be required. The information was received on the 15th day of May, and the first army expedition sailed May 25 and arrived off Manila June 30. Other expeditions soon followed, the total force consisting of 641 officers and 15,068 men.

Only reluctance to cause needless loss of life and property prevented the early storming and capture of the city, and therewith the absolute military occupancy of the whole group. The insurgents meanwhile had resumed the active hostilities suspended by the uncompleted truce of December, 1897. Their forces invested Manila from the northern and eastern sides, but were constrained by Admiral Dewey and Gen. Merritt from attempting an assault.

It was fitting that whatever was to be done in the way of decisive operations in that quarter should be accomplished by the strong arm of the United States alone. Obeying the stern precept of war, which enjoins the overcoming of the adversary and the extinction of his power wherever available as the speedy and sure means to win a peace, divided victory was not permissible, for no partition of the rights and responsibilities attending the enforcement of a just and advantageous peace could be thought of.

CAMPAIGN IN CUBA REVIEWED.

Following the comprehensive scheme of general attack, powerful forces were assembled at various points on our coast to invade Cuba and Puerto Rico. Meanwhile naval demonstrations were made at several exposed points. On May 11 the cruiser Wilmington and torpedo boat Winslow were unsuccessful in an attempt to silence the batteries at Cardenas and Matanzas, Worth Bagley and four seamen falling.

These grievous fatalities were, strangely enough, among the very few which occurred during our naval operations in this extraordinary conflict.

Meanwhile the Spanish naval preparations had been pushed with great vigor. A powerful squadron under Admiral Cervera, which had assembled at the Cape Verde Islands before the outbreak of hostilities, had crossed the ocean, and by its erratic movements in the Caribbean sea delayed our military operations while baffling the pursuit of our fleets. For a time fears were felt lest the Oregon and Marietta, then nearing home after their long voyage from San Francisco of over 15,000 miles, might be surprised by Admiral Cervera's fleet, but their fortunate arrival dispelled these apprehensions and lent much-needed re-enforcement.

HEROISM OF HOBSON.

Not until Admiral Cervera took refuge in the harbor of Santiago de Cuba about May 9 was it practicable to plan a systematic military attack upon the Antillean possessions of Spain. Several demonstrations occurred on the coasts of Cuba and Puerto Rico in preparation for the larger event. On May 13 the North Atlantic squadron shelled San Juan de Puerto Rico. On May 30 Commodore Schley's squadron bombarded the forts guarding the mouth of Santiago harbor. Neither attack had any material result. It was evident that well-ordered land operations were indispensable to achieve a decisive advantage.

The next act in the war thrilled not alone the hearts of our countrymen but the world by its exceptional heroism.

On the night of June 3 Lieut. Hobson, aided by seven devoted volunteers, blocked the narrow outlet from Santiago harbor by sinking the collier Merrimac in the channel, under a fierce fire from the shore batteries, escaping with their lives as by a miracle, but falling into the hands of the Spaniards.

It is a most gratifying incident of the war that the bravery of this little band of heroes was cordially appreciated by the Spaniards, who sent a flag of truce to notify Admiral Sampson of their safety and to compliment them upon their daring act. They were subsequently exchanged July 7.

ADVANCE ON SANTIAGO.

By June 7 the cutting of the last Cuban cable isolated the island. Thereafter the invasion was vigorously prosecuted. On June 10, under a heavy protecting fire, a landing of 600 marines from the Oregon, Marblehead and Yankee was effected in Guantánamo bay, where it had been determined to establish a naval station. This important and essential port was taken from the enemy after severe fighting by the marines, who were the first organized force of the United States to land in Cuba. The position so won was held despite desperate attempts to dislodge our forces.

By June 16 additional forces were landed and strongly entrenched. On June 22 the advance of the invading army under Maj.-Gen. Shafter landed at Baiquiri, about fifteen miles east of Santiago. This was accomplished under great difficulties, but with marvelous dispatch. On June 23 the movement against Santiago was begun.

On the 24th the first serious engagement took place, in which the 1st and 10th cavalry and the 1st United States volunteer cavalry, Gen. Young's brigade of Gen. Wheeler's division, participated, losing heavily. By nightfall, however, ground within five miles of Santiago was won.

The advantage was steadily increased. On July 1 a severe battle took place, our forces gaining the outskirts of Santiago. On the 2d El Caney and San Juan were taken after a desperate charge, and the investment of the city was completed. The navy cooperated by shelling the town and the coast forts.

DESTRUCTION OF CERVERA'S FLEET.

On the day following this brilliant achievement of our land forces, July 3, occurred the decisive naval combat of the war. The Spanish fleet, attempting to leave the harbor, was met by the American squadron under command of Commodore Sampson. In less than three hours all the Spanish ships were destroyed, the two torpedo boats being sunk, and the Maria Teresa, Almirante Oquendo, Viscaya and Cristobal Colon driven ashore. The Spanish admiral and over 1,300 men were taken prisoners, while the enemy's loss of life was deplorably large, some 600 perishing.

On our side but one man was killed, on the Brooklyn, and one man seriously wounded. Although our ships were repeatedly struck, not one was seriously injured.

Where all so conspicuously distinguished themselves, from the commanders to the gunners and the unnamed heroes in the boiler rooms, each and all contributing toward the achievement of this astounding victory, for which neither ancient nor modern history affords a parallel in the completeness of the event and the marvelous disproportion of casualties, it would be invidious to single out any for especial honor.

Deserved promotion has rewarded the more conspicuous actors—the nation's profoundest gratitude is due to all of those brave men who by their skill and devotion in a few short hours crushed the sea power of Spain and wrought a triumph whose decisiveness and far-reaching consequences can scarcely be measured. Nor can we be unmindful of the achievements of our builders, mechanics and artisans for their skill in the construction of our warships.

With the catastrophe of Santiago Spain's efforts upon the ocean virtually ceased. A spasmodic effort toward the end of June to send her Mediterranean fleet under Admiral Camara to relieve Manila was abandoned, the expedition being recalled after it had passed through the Suez canal.

The capitulation of Santiago followed. The city was closely besieged by land, while the entrance of our ships into the harbor cut off all relief on that side. After a truce to allow of the removal of non-combatants protracted negotiations continued from July 3 until July 15, when, under menace of immediate assault, the preliminaries of surrender were agreed upon. On the 17th Gen. Shafter occupied the city.

The capitulation embraced the entire eastern end of Cuba. The number of Spanish soldiers surrendered was 22,000, all of whom were subsequently conveyed to Spain at the charge of the United States.

The story of this successful campaign is told in the report of the secretary of war, which will be laid before you. The individual valor of officers and soldiers was never more strikingly shown than in the several engagements leading to the surrender of Santiago, while the prompt movements and successive victories won instant and universal applause.

To those who gained this complete triumph, which established the ascendancy of the United States upon land as the fight off Santiago had fixed our supremacy on the seas, the earnest and lasting gratitude of the nation is unaparingly due.

Nor should we alone remember the gallantry of the living; the dead claim our tears, and our losses by battle and disease must cloud any exultation at the result and teach us to weigh the awful cost of war, however rightful the cause or signal the victory.

OCCUPATION OF PUERTO RICO.

With the fall of Santiago, the occupation of Puerto Rico became the next strategic necessity. Gen. Miles had previously been assigned to organize the expedition for that purpose. Fortunately he was already at Santiago, where he had arrived on the 11th of July with re-enforcements for Gen. Shafter's army.

With these troops, consisting of 3,415 infantry and artillery, two companies of engineers and one company of the signal corps, Gen. Miles left Guantanamo on July 21, having nine transports conveyed by the fleet under Capt. Higginson, with the Massachusetts (flagship), Dixie, Gloucester, Columbia and Yale, the two latter carrying troops. The expedition landed at Guanica July 25, which port was entered with little opposition. Here the fleet was joined by the Annapolis and the Wasp, while the Puritan and Amphitrite went to San Juan and joined the New Orleans, which was engaged in blockading that port.

The major-general commanding was subsequently re-enforced by Gen. Schwan's brigade of the 3d army corps, by Gen. Wilson with a part of his division, and also by Gen. Brooke with a part of his corps, numbering in all 16,973 officers and men. On July 27 he entered Ponce, one of the most important ports in the island, from which he thereafter directed operations for the capture of the island.

With the exception of encounters with the enemy at Guayama, Hormigueros, Coamo and Yauco, and an attack on a force landed at Cape San Juan, there was no serious resistance. The campaign was prosecuted with great vigor, and by the 12th of August much of the island was in our possession, and the acquisition of the remainder was only a matter of a short time.

At most of the points in the island our troops were enthusiastically welcomed. Proclamations of loyalty to the flag and gratitude for delivery from Spanish rule met our commanders at every stage.

As a potent influence toward peace the outcome of the Puerto Rican expedition was of great consequence, and generous commendation is due to those who participated in it.

LAST BATTLE OF THE WAR.

The last scene of the war was enacted at Manila, its starting place. On Aug. 15, after a brief assault upon the works by the land forces, in which the squadron assisted, the capital surrendered unconditionally. The casualties were comparatively few.

By this the conquest of the Philippine islands, virtually accomplished when the Spanish capacity for resistance was destroyed by Admiral Dewey's victory of the 1st of May, was formally sealed.

To Gen. Merritt, his officers and men, for their uncomplaining and devoted services, for their gallantry in action, the nation is sincerely grateful. Their long voyage was made with singular success, and the soldierly conduct of the men, most of whom were without previous experience in the military service, deserves unmeasured praise.

LOSSES OF ARMY AND NAVY.

| ARMY.                         |       |
|-------------------------------|-------|
| Officers killed.....          | 23    |
| Enlisted men killed.....      | 257   |
| Total.....                    | 280   |
| Officers wounded.....         | 113   |
| Enlisted men wounded.....     | 1,464 |
| Total.....                    | 1,577 |
| NAVY.                         |       |
| Killed.....                   | 15    |
| Wounded.....                  | 67    |
| Died as result of wounds..... | 1     |
| Invalided from service.....   | 6     |
| Total.....                    | 91    |

It will be observed that while our navy was engaged in two great battles and in numerous perilous undertakings in the blockades and bombardment, and more than 50,000 of our troops were transported to distant lands and engaged in assault and siege and battle and many skirmishes in unfamiliar territory, we lost in both arms of the service a total of 1,948 killed and wounded; and in the entire campaign by land and sea we did not lose a gun or a flag or a transport or a ship, and with the exception of the crew of the Merrimack not a soldier or sailor was taken prisoner.

On Aug. 7, forty-six days from the date of the landing of Gen. Shafter's army in Cuba and twenty-one days from the surrender of Santiago, the United States troops commenced embarkation for home, and our entire force was returned to the United States as early as Aug. 24. They were absent from the United States only two months.

It is fitting that I should bear testimony to the patriotism and devotion of that large portion of our army which, although eager to be ordered to the post of greatest exposure, fortunately was not required outside of the United States. They did their whole duty, and, like their comrades at the front, have earned the gratitude of the nation.

In like manner, the officers and men of the army and of the navy who remained in their departments and stations of the navy, performing most important duties connected with the war, and whose requests for assignment in the field and at sea I was compelled to refuse because their services were indispensable here, are entitled to the highest commendation. It is my regret that there seems to be no provision for their suitable recognition.

WORK OF THE RED CROSS.

In this connection it is a pleasure for me to mention in terms of cordial appreciation

the timely and useful work of the American National Red Cross, both in relief measures preparatory to the campaign, in sanitary assistance at several of the camps of assemblage, and later, under the able and experienced leadership of the president of the society, Miss Clara Barton, on the fields of battle and in the hospitals at the front in Cuba. Working in conjunction with the governmental authorities and under their sanction and approval, and with the enthusiastic co-operation of many patriotic women and societies in the various states, the Red Cross has fully maintained its already high reputation for intense earnestness and ability to exercise the noble purposes of its international organization, thus justifying the confidence and support which it has received at the hands of the American people.

To the members and officers of this society and all who added them in their philanthropic work the sincere and lasting gratitude of the soldiers and the public is due and is freely accorded.

In tracing these events we are constantly reminded of our obligations to the Divine Master for His watchful care over us and His safe guidance, for which the nation makes reverent acknowledgment and offers humble prayer for the continuance of His favor.

SIGNING OF THE PROTOCOL.

The annihilation of Admiral Cervera's fleet, followed by the capitulation of Santiago, having brought to the Spanish government a realizing sense of the hopelessness of continuing a struggle now becoming wholly unequal, it made overtures of peace through the French ambassador, who, with the assent of his government, had acted as the friendly representative of Spanish interests during the war.

On the 26th of July M. Cambon presented a communication signed by the duke of Almodovar, the panish minister of state, inviting the United States to state the terms upon which it would be willing to make peace.

On July 30, by a communication addressed to the duke of Almodovar and handed to M. Cambon, the terms of this government were announced, substantially as in the protocol afterward signed.

On Aug. 10 the Spanish reply, dated Aug. 7, was handed by M. Cambon to the secretary of state. It accepted unconditionally the terms imposed as to Cuba, Puerto Rico and an island of the Ladrone group, but appeared to seek to introduce inadmissible reservations in regard to our demand as to the Philippines.

Conceiving that discussion on this point could neither be practicable nor profitable, I directed that in order to avoid misunderstanding the matter should be forthwith closed by proposing the embodiment in a formal protocol of the terms on which the negotiations for peace were to be undertaken.

The vague and inexplicit suggestions of the Spanish note could not be accepted, the only reply being to present as a virtual ultimatum a draft of a protocol embodying the precise terms tendered to Spain in our note of July 30, with added stipulations of detail as to the appointment of commissioners to arrange for the evacuation of the Spanish Antilles.

On Aug. 12, M. Cambon announced his receipt of full power to sign the protocol so submitted. Accordingly, on the afternoon of Aug. 12, M. Cambon, as the plenipotentiary of Spain, and the secretary of state, as the plenipotentiary of the United States, signed a protocol providing:

"Article 1. Spain will relinquish all claim of sovereignty over and title to Cuba.

"Art. 2. Spain will cede to the United States the island of Puerto Rico and other islands now under Spanish sovereignty in the West Indies, and also an island in the Ladronea, to be selected by the United States.

"Art. 3. The United States will occupy and hold the city, bay and harbor of Manila pending the conclusion of a treaty of peace which shall determine the control, disposition and government of the Philippines."

The fourth article provided for the appointment of joint commissions on the part of the United States and Spain, to meet in Havana and San Juan, respectively, for the purpose of arranging and carrying out the details of the stipulated evacuation of Cuba, Puerto Rico and other Spanish islands in the West Indies.

The fifth article provided for the appointment of not more than five commissioners on each side, to meet at Paris not later than Oct. 1 and to proceed to the negotiation and conclusion of a treaty of peace, subject to ratification according to the respective constitutional forms of the two countries.

The sixth and last article provided that upon the signature of the protocol hostilities between the two countries should be suspended, and that notice to that effect should be given as soon as possible by each government to the commanders of its military and naval forces.

Immediately upon the conclusion of the protocol I issued a proclamation on Aug. 12 suspending hostilities on the part of the United States. The necessary orders to that end were at once given by telegraph. The blockade of the ports of Cuba and San Juan de Puerto Rico was in like manner raised.

On Aug. 18 the muster-out of 100,000 volunteers, or as near that number as was found to be practicable, was ordered. On Dec. 1 101,165 officers and men had been mustered out and discharged from the service; 9,002 more will be mustered out by the 10th of the month. Also a corresponding number of generals and general staff officers have been honorably discharged from the service.

The military committees to superintend the evacuation of Cuba, Puerto Rico and the adjacent islands were forthwith appointed—for Cuba, Maj.-Gen. James F. Wade, Rear-Admiral William T. Sampson, Maj.-Gen. Matthew C. Butler; for Puerto Rico, Maj.-Gen. John C. Brooke, Rear-Admiral Winfield S. Schley, Brig.-Gen. W. Gordon—who soon afterward met the Spanish commissioners at Havana and San Juan respectively.

The Puerto Rican joint commission speedily accomplished its task, and by Oct. 18 the evacuation of the island was completed. The United States flag was raised over the island at noon on that day. The administration of its affairs has been provisionally intrusted to a military governor until the congress shall otherwise provide.

The Cuban joint high commission has not yet terminated its labors. Owing to the difficulties in the way of removing the large numbers of Spanish troops still in Cuba, the evacuation cannot be completed before the 1st of January next.

Pursuant to the fifth article of the protocol, I appointed William K. Day, lately secretary of state; Cushman K. Davis, William P. Frye and George Gray, senators of the United States, and Whitelaw Reid to be peace commissioners on the part of the United States.

Proceeding in due season to Paris, they there met on the 1st of October five commissioners similarly appointed on the part of Spain. The negotiations have made hopeful progress, so that I trust soon to be able to lay a definitive treaty of peace before the senate, with a review of the steps leading to its signature.

MILITARY RULE RECOMMENDED.

I do not discuss at this time the government or the future of the new possessions which will come to us as the result of the war with Spain. Such discussion will be appropriate after the treaty of peace shall be ratified. In the meantime and until the congress has legislated otherwise it will be my duty to continue the military governments which have existed since our occupation and give the people security in life and property and encouragement, under a just and beneficent rule.

As soon as we were in possession of Cuba and have pacified the island it will be necessary to give aid and direction to its people to form a government for themselves. This should be undertaken at the earliest moment consistent with safety and assured success.

It is important that our relations with these people shall be of the most friendly character and our commercial relations close and reciprocal. It should be our duty to assist in every proper way to build up the waste places of the island, encourage the industry of the people and assist them to form a government which shall be free and independent, thus realizing the best aspirations of the Cuban people.

Spanish rule must be replaced by a just, benevolent and humane government, created by the people of Cuba, capable of performing all international obligations, and which shall encourage thrift, industry and prosperity and promote peace and good-will among all of the inhabitants, whatever may have been their relations in the past. Neither revenge nor passion should have a place in the new government.

Until there is complete tranquillity in the island and a stable government inaugurated military occupation will be continued.

RELATIONS WITH OTHER NATIONS.

With the exception of the rupture with Spain, the intercourse of the United States with the great family of nations has been marked with cordiality, and the close of the eventful year finds most of the issues that necessarily arise in the complex relations of sovereign states adjusted or presenting no serious obstacle to a just and honorable solution by amicable agreement.

A long-unsettled dispute as to the extended boundary between the Argentine Republic and Chile, stretching along the Andean crests from the southern border of the Atacama desert to Magellan straits, nearly a third of the length of the South American continent, assumed an acute stage in the early part of the year, and afforded to this government an occasion to express the hope that the resort to arbitration, already contemplated by existing conventions between the parties, might prevail despite the grave difficulties arising in its application. I am happy to say that arrangements to this end have been perfected, the questions of fact upon which the respective commissioners were unable to agree being in course of reference to her Britannic majesty for determination.

A residual difference touching the northern boundary line across the Atacama desert, for which existing treaties provided no adequate adjustment, bids fair to be settled in like manner by a joint commission, upon which the United States minister at Buenos Ayres has been invited to serve as umpire in the last resort.

I have found occasion to approach the Argentine government with a view of removing differences of rate charges imposed upon the cables of an American corporation in the transmission between Buenos Ayres and the cities of Uruguay and Brazil of through messages passing from and to the United States. Although the matter is complicated by exclusive concessions by Uruguay and Brazil to foreign companies, there is strong hope that a good understanding will be reached and that the important channels of commercial communication between the United States and the Atlantic cities of South America may be freed from an almost prohibitory discrimination.

In this relation I may be permitted to express my sense of the fitness of an international agreement whereby the interchange of messages over connecting cables may be regulated on a fair basis of uniformity. The world has seen the postal system developed from an independent and exclusive service into a well-ordered union, of which all countries found the manifold benefits. It would be strange were the nations not in time brought to realize that modern civilization, which owes so much of its progress to the annihilation of space by the electric force, demands that this all-important means of communication be a heritage of all peoples, to be administered and regulated in their common behoof.

A step in this direction was taken when the international convention of 1884 for the protection of submarine cables was signed, and the day is, I trust, not far distant when this medium for the transmission of thought from land to land may be brought within the domain of international concert as completely as is the material carriage of commerce and correspondence upon the face of the waters that divide them.

The claim of Thomas Jefferson Page against Argentina, which has been pending many years, has been adjusted. The sum awarded by the congress of Argentina was $4,342.55.

The sympathy of the American people has justly been offered to the ruler and the people of Austria-Hungary by reason of the affliction that has lately befallen them in the assassination of the empress-queen of that historic realm.

On Sept. 10, 1897, a conflict took place at Lattimer, Pa., between a body of striking miners and the sheriff of Luzerne county and his deputies, in which twenty-two miners were killed and forty-four wounded. Ten of the killed and twelve of the wounded were Austrian and Hungarian subjects. This deplorable event naturally aroused the solicitude of the Austro-Hungarian government, which, on the assumption that the killing and wounding involved the unjustifiable misuse of authority, claimed reparation for the sufferers. Apart from the searching investigation and the peremptory action of the authorities of Pennsylvania, the federal executive took appropriate steps to learn the merits of the case, in order to be in a position to meet the urgent complaint of a friendly power.

The sheriff and his deputies, having been indicted for murder, were tried and acquitted, after protracted proceedings and the hearing of hundreds of witnesses, on the ground that the killing was in the line of their official duty to uphold law and preserve public order in the state. A representative of the department of justice attended the trial and reported its course fully.

With all the facts in its possession, this government expects to reach a harmonious understanding on the subject with that of Austria-Hungary, notwithstanding the renewed claim of the latter, after learning the result of the trial, for indemnity for its injured subjects.

INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITIONS.

Despite the brief time allotted for preparation, the exhibits of this country at the universal exposition at Brussels in 1897 enjoyed the singular distinction of a larger proportion of awards, having regard to the number and classes of articles entered, than those of other countries. The worth of such a result in making known our national capacity to supply the world's markets is obvious.

Exhibitions of this international character are becoming more frequent as the exchanges of commercial countries grow more intimate and varied. Hardly a year passes that this government is not invited to national participation at some important foreign center, but often on too short notice to permit of recourse to congress for the power and means to do so. My predecessors have suggested the advisability of providing by a general enactment and a standing appropriation for accepting such invitations and for representation of this country by a commission. This plan has my cordial approval.

RESTRICTIONS OF TRADE.

I trust the Belgian restriction on the importations of cattle from the United States, originally adopted as a sanitary precaution, will at an early date be modified so as to admit live cattle under due regulation of their slaughter after landing. I am hopeful, too, of a favorable change in the Belgian treatment of our preserved and salted meats. The growth of direct trade between the two countries, not alone for Belgian consumption and Belgian products, but by way of transit from and to other continental states, has been both encouraging and beneficial. No effort will be spared to enlarge its advantages by seeking the removal of needless impediments and by arrangements for increased commercial exchanges.

The year's events in Central America deserve more than passing mention. A menacing rupture between Costa Rica and Nicaragua was happily composed by the signature of a convention between the parties, with the concurrence of the Guatemalan representative as a mediator, the act being negotiated and signed on board the United States steamer Alert, then lying in Central American waters. It is believed that the good offices of our envoy and commander of that vessel contributed toward this gratifying outcome.

CENTRAL AMERICAN AFFAIRS.

In my last annual message the situation was presented with respect to the diplomatic representation of this government in Central America created by the association of Nicaragua, Honduras and Salvador under the title of the Greater Republic of Central America, and the delegation of their international functions to the diet thereof. While the representative character of the diet was recognized by my predecessor and has been confirmed during my administration by receiving its accredited envoy and granting exequaturs to consuls commissioned under its authority that recognition was qualified by the distinct understanding that the responsibility of each of the component sovereign republics toward the United States remained wholly unaffected.

This proviso was needful inasmuch as the compact of the three republics was at the outset an association whereby certain representative functions were delegated to a tripartite commission rather than a federation possessing centralized powers of government and administration. In this view of their relation and the relation of the United States to several republics, a change in the representation of this country in Central America was neither recommended by the executive nor initiated by congress, thus leaving one of our envoys accredited as heretofore separately to two states of the greater republic, Nicaragua and Salvador, and to a third state, Costa Rica, which was not a party to the compact, while our other envoy was similarly accredited to the union state of Honduras and the now union state of Guatemala. The result has been that the one has presented credentials only to the president of Costa Rica, the other having been received only by the government of Guatemala.

Subsequently the three associated republics entered into negotiations for taking the steps forecast in the original compact. A convention of their delegates framed for them a federal constitution under the name of the United States of Central America and provided for a central federal government and legislature. Upon ratification by the constituent states the 1st of November last was fixed for the new system to go into operation. Within a few weeks thereafter the plan was severely tested by revolutionary movements arising, with a consequent demand for unity of action on the part of the military power of the federal states to suppress them. Under this strain the new union seems to have been weakened through the withdrawal of its more important members.

This government was not officially advised of the installation of the federation and has maintained an attitude of friendly expectancy, while in nowise relinquishing the position held from the outset that the responsibilities of the several states toward us remained unaltered by their tentative relations among themselves.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

The Nicaragua canal commission, under the chairmanship of Rear-Admiral John G. Walker, appointed July 24, 1897, under the authority of a provision in the sundry civil act of June 4 of that year, has nearly completed its labors, and the results of its exhaustive inquiry into the proper route, the feasibility and the cost of construction of an interoceanic canal by a Nicaraguan route will be laid before you. In the performance of its task the commission received all possible courtesy and assistance from the governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica, which thus testified their appreciation of the importance of giving a speedy and practical outcome to the great project that has for so many years engrossed the attention of the respective countries.

As the scope of recent inquiry embraced the whole subject, with the aim of making plans and surveys for a canal by the most convenient route, it necessarily included a review of the results of previous surveys and plans and in particular those adopted by the Maritime Canal company under its existing concessions from Nicaragua and Costa Rica, so that to this extent those grants necessarily held an essential part in the deliberations and conclusions of the canal commission, as they have held and must needs hold in the discussion of the matter by congress.

Under these circumstances, and in view of overtures made to the governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica by other parties for a new canal concession, predicated on the assumed approaching lapse of the contracts of the Maritime Canal company with those states, I have not hesitated to express my conviction that considerations of expediency and international policy as between the several governments interested in the construction and control of an interoceanic canal by this route require the maintenance of the status quo until the canal commission shall have reported and the United States congress shall have had the opportunity to pass finally upon the whole matter during the present session, without prejudice by reason of any change in the existing conditions.

Nevertheless, it appears that the government of Nicaragua, as one of its last sovereign acts before merging its powers in those of the newly formed United States of Central America, has granted an optional concession to another association, to become effective on the expiration of the present grant. It does not appear what surveys have been made or what route is proposed under this contingent grant, so that an examination of the feasibility of its plans is necessarily not embraced in the report of the canal commission.

All these circumstances suggest the urgency of some definite action by the congress at this session if the labors of the past are to be utilized and the linking of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by a practical waterway is to be realized. That the construction of such a maritime highway is now more than ever indispensable to that intimate and ready intercommunication between our eastern and western seaboard demanded by the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands and the prospective expansion of our influence and commerce in the Pacific, and that our national policy now more imperatively than ever calls for its control by this government, are propositions which I doubt not the congress will duly appreciate and wisely act upon.

A convention providing for the revival of the late United States and Chilean claims commission, and the consideration of claims which were duly presented to the late commission, but not considered because of the expiration of the time limited for the duration of the commission, was signed May 24, 1897, and has remained un-acted upon by the senate. The term therein fixed for effecting the change or ratifications having elapsed, the convention falls, unless the time be extended by amendment, which I am endeavoring to bring about, with the friendly concurrence of the Chilean government.

AMERICA'S INTERESTS IN CHINA.

The United States has not been an indifferent spectator of the extraordinary events transpiring in the Chinese empire, whereby portions of its maritime provinces are passing under control of various European powers, but the prospect that the vast commerce which the energy of our citizens and the necessity of our staple productions for Chinese uses has built up in those regions may not be prejudiced through any exclusive treatment by the new occupants has obviated the need of our country becoming an actor in the scene.

Our position among nations having a large Pacific coast and a constantly expanding direct trade with the farther orient gives us an equitable claim to consideration and friendly treatment in this regard, and it will be my aim to subserve our large interests in that quarter by all means appropriate to the constant policy of our government.

The territories of Kiao-Chow, of Wei-Hai-Wei and of Port Arthur and Talien Wan, leased to Germany, Great Britain and Russia respectively for terms of years, will, it is announced, be open to international commerce during such alien occupation, and if no discriminating treatment of American citizens and their trade be found to exist or be hereafter developed, the desire of this government would appear to be realized.

In this relation, as showing the volume and value of our exchanges with China and the peculiarly favorable conditions which exist for their expansion in the normal course of trade, I refer to the communication addressed to the speaker of the house of representatives by the secretary of the treasury on the 14th of last June, with the accompanying letter of the secretary of state, recommending an appropriation for a commission to study the commercial and industrial conditions in the Chinese empire and report as to the opportunities for and obstacles to the enlargement of markets in China for the raw products and manufactures of the United States. Action was not taken thereon during the late session. I cordially urge that the recommendation receive at your hands the consideration which its importance and timeliness merit. Meanwhile there may be just ground for disquietude in view of the unrest and revival of the old sentiment of opposition and prejudice to alien people which pervades certain of the Chinese provinces.

As in the case of the attacks upon our citizens in Szechuan and at Kien in 1885, the United States minister has been instructed to secure the fullest measure of protection, both local and imperial, for any menaced American interests, and to demand, in case of lawless injury to person or property, instant reparation appropriate to the case.

Warships have been stationed at Tientsin for more ready observation of the disorders which have invaded even the Chinese capital, so as to be in a position to act should need arise, while a guard of marines has been sent to Peking to afford the minister the same measure of authoritative protection as the representatives of other nations have been constrained to employ.

DISPUTE OF ITALY AND COLOMBIA.

Following close upon the rendition of the award of my predecessor as arbitrator of the claim of the Italian subject, Cerruti, against the republic of Colombia, differences arose between the parties to the arbitration in regard to the scope and extension of the award, of which certain articles were contested by Colombia, while Italy claimed their literal fulfillment. The award having been made by the president of the United States as an act of friendly consideration and with the sole view to an impartial composition of the matter in dispute, I could not but feel concern at such a miscarriage, and, while unable to accept the Colombian theory that I, in my official capacity, possessed continuing function as arbitrator, with power to interpret or revise the terms of the award, my best efforts were lent to bringing the parties to a harmonious agreement as to the execution of its provisions.

A naval demonstration by Italy resulted in an engagement to pay the liabilities claimed upon their ascertainment; but this apparent disposition of the controversy was followed by a rupture of diplomatic intercourse between Colombia and Italy, which still continues, although fortunately without acute symptoms having supervened. Notwithstanding this, efforts are reported to be continuing for the ascertainment of Colombia's contingent liability on account of Cerruti's debts, under the fifth article of the award.

The claim of an American citizen against the Dominican republic for a public bridge over the Ozama river, which has been in diplomatic controversy for several years, has been settled by expert arbitration and an award in favor of the claimant amounting to about $90,000. It, however, remains unpaid, despite urgent demands for its settlement according to the terms of the compact.

THE PARIS EXPOSITION.

There is now every prospect that the participation of the United States in the universal exposition to be held in Paris in 1900 will be on a scale commensurate with the advanced position held by our products and industries in the world's chief marts.

The preliminary report of Moses P. Handy, who under the act approved July 13, 1897, was appointed special commissioner, with a view to securing all attainable information necessary to a full and complete understanding by congress in regard to the participation of this government in the Paris exposition, was laid before you by message of Dec. 6, 1897, and showed the large opportunities opened to make known our national progress in arts, science and manufactures, as well as the urgent need of immediate and adequate provision to enable due advantage thereof to be taken. Mr. Handy's death soon afterward rendered it necessary for another to take up and complete his unfinished work, and on Jan. 11 last Thomas W. Cridler, third assistant secretary of state, was designated to fulfill that task. His report was laid before you by my message of June 14, 1898, with the gratifying result of awakening renewed interest in the projected display.

By a provision in the sundry civil appropriation act of July 1, 1898, a sum not to exceed $650,000 was allotted for the organization of a commission to care for the proper preparation and installation of American exhibits and for the display of suitable exhibits by the several executive departments, particularly by the department of agriculture, the fish commission and the Smithsonian institution, in the representation of the government of the United States. Pursuant to that enactment I appointed Ferdinand W. Peck of Chicago commissioner-general, with an assistant commissioner-general and secretary. Mr. Peck at once proceeded to Paris, where his success in enlarging the scope and variety of the United States exhibit has been most gratifying.

Notwithstanding the comparatively limited area of the exposition site—less than one-half that of the World's Fair at Chicago—the space assigned to the United States has been increased from the absolute allotment of 157,403 square feet reported by Mr. Handy to some 202,000 square feet, with corresponding augmentation of the field for a truly characteristic representation of the various important branches of our country's development.

Mr. Peck's report will be laid before you. In my judgment its recommendations will call for your early consideration, especially as regards an increase of the appropriation to at least $1,000,000 in all, so that not only may the assigned space be fully taken up by the best possible exhibitor in every class, but the preparation and installation be on so perfect a scale as to rank among the first in that unparalleled competition of artistic and inventive production, and thus counterbalance the disadvantage with which we start as compared with other countries whose appropriations are on a more generous scale and whose preparations are in a state of much greater forwardness than our own.

Where our artisans have the admitted capacity to excel, where our inventive genius has initiated many of the grandest discoveries of these later days of the century, and where the native resources of our land are as limitless as they are valuable to supply the world's needs, it is our province, as it should be our earnest care, to lead in the march of human progress and not rest content with any secondary place. Moreover, if this be due to ourselves it is no less due to the great French nation, whose guests we become, and which has in so many ways testified its wishes and hope that our participation shall best fit the place the two peoples have won in the field of universal development.

REMOVAL OF TRADE RESTRICTIONS.

The commercial arrangement made with France on May 23, 1898, under the provisions of section 3 of the tariff act of 1897, went into effect on June 1, following. It has relieved a portion of our export trade from serious embarrassment. Further negotiations are now pending under section 4 of the same act, with a view to the increase of trade between the two countries to their mutual advantage.

Negotiations with other governments, in part interrupted by the war with Spain, are in progress under both sections of the tariff act. I hope to be able to announce some of the results of these negotiations during the present session of congress.

Negotiations to the same end with Germany have been set on foot. Meanwhile no effort has been relaxed to convince the imperial government of the thoroughness of our inspection of pork products for exportation, and it is trusted that the efficient administration of this measure by the department of agriculture will be recognized as a guaranty of the healthfulness of the food staples we send abroad to countries where their use is large and necessary.

I transmitted to the senate on Feb. 10 last information touching the prohibition against the importation of fresh fruits from this country which had then recently been decreed by Germany on the ground of danger of disseminating the San Jose scale insect. This precautionary measure was justified by Germany on the score of the drastic steps taken in several states of the union against the spread of the pest, the elaborate reports of the department of agriculture being put in evidence to show the danger to German fruit-growing interests should the scale obtain a lodgment in that country.

Temporary relief was afforded in the case of large consignments of fruit then on the way by inspection and admission when found non-infected. Later the prohibition was extended to dried fruits of every kind, but was relaxed so as to apply only to unpeeled fruit and fruit waste.

As was expected, the alarm reached to other countries and Switzerland has adopted a similar inhibition. Efforts are in progress to induce the German and Swiss governments to relax the prohibition in favor of dried fruits shown to have been cured under circumstances rendering the existence of animal life impossible.

FRIENDSHIP OF GREAT BRITAIN.

Our relations with Great Britain have continued on the most friendly footing. Assenting to our request, the protection of Americans and their interests in Spanish jurisdiction was assumed by the diplomatic and consular representatives of Great Britain, who fulfilled their delicate and arduous trust with tact and zeal, eliciting high commendation. I may be allowed to make fitting allusion to the instance of Mr. Ramsden, her majesty's consul at Santiago de Cuba, whose untimely death after distinguished service and untiring effort during the siege of that city was sincerely lamented.

In the early part of April last, pursuant to a request made at the instance of the secretary of state by the British ambassador at this capital, the Canadian government granted facilities for the passage of four United States revenue cutters from the great lakes to the Atlantic coast by way of the Canadian canal and the St. Lawrence river. The vessels had reached Lake Ontario and were there awaiting the opening of navigation when war was declared between the United States and Spain.

Her majesty's government thereupon, by a communication of the latter part of April, stated that the permission granted before the outbreak of hostilities would not be withdrawn, provided the United States government gave assurance that the vessels in question would proceed direct to United States port without engaging in any hostile operation. This government promptly agreed to the stipulated condition, it being understood that the vessels would not be prohibited from resisting any hostile attack.

It will give me especial satisfaction if I shall be authorized to communicate to you a favorable conclusion of the pending negotiations with Great Britain in respect to the Dominion of Canada. It is the earnest wish of this government to remove all sources of discord and irritation in our relations with the neighboring dominion. The trade between the two countries is constantly increasing and it is important to both countries that all reasonable facilities should be granted for its development.

The government of Greece strongly urges the onerousness of the duty here imposed upon the currants of that country, amounting to 100 per cent or more of their market value. This fruit is stated to be exclusively a Greek product, not coming into competition with any domestic product. The question of reciprocal commercial relations with Greece, including the restoration of currants to the free list, is under consideration.

The long-standing claim of Berard Campbell for damages for injuries sustained from a violent assault committed against him by military authorities in the island of Haiti has been settled by the agreement of that republic to pay him $10,000 in American gold. Of this sum $5,000 has already been paid. It is hoped that other pending claims of American citizens against that republic may be amicably adjusted.

THE AMERICAN FLAG IN HAWAII.

Pending the consideration by the senate of the treaty signed June 16, 1897, by the plenipotentiaries of the United States and the republic of Hawaii, providing for the annexation of the islands, a joint resolution to accomplish the same purpose by accepting the offered cession and incorporating the ceded territory into the union was adopted by congress and approved July 7, 1898. I thereupon directed the United States steamer Philadelphia to convey Rear-Admiral Miller to Honolulu and intrusted to his hands this important legislative act, to be delivered to the president of the republic of Hawaii, with whom the admiral and the United States minister were authorized to make appropriate arrangements for transferring the sovereignty of the islands to the United States.

This was simply but impressively accomplished on the 15th of August last by the delivery of a certified copy of the resolution to President Dole, who thereupon yielded up to the representative of the government of the United States the sovereignty and public property of the Hawaiian islands.

Pursuant to the terms of the joint resolution and in exercise of the authority thereby conferred upon me, I directed that the civil, judicial and military powers theretofore exercised by the officers of the government of the republic of Hawaii should continue to be exercised by those officers until congress shall provide a government for the incorporated territory, subject to my power to remove such officers and fill vacancies. The president, officers and troops of the republic thereupon took the oath of allegiance to the United States, thus providing for the uninterrupted continuance of all the administrative and municipal functions of the annexed territory until congress shall otherwise enact.

Following the further provisions of the joint resolution, I appointed the Hon. Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois, John T. Morgan of Alabama, Robert R. Hitt of Illinois, Sanford B. Dole of Hawaii and Walter B.

Freer of Hawaii as commissioners to confer and recommend to congress such legislation concerning the Hawaiian islands as they should deem necessary or proper. The commissioners having fulfilled the mission confided to them, their report will be laid before you at an early day.

It is believed that their recommendations will have the earnest consideration due to the magnitude of the responsibility resting upon you to give such shape to the relationship of those mid-Pacific lands to our home union as will benefit both in the highest degree, realizing the aspirations of the community that has cast its lot with us and elected to share our political heritage, while at the same time justifying the foresight of those who for three-quarters of a century have looked to the annexation of Hawaii as a natural and inevitable consummation, in harmony with our needs and in fulfillment of our cherished traditions.

The questions heretofore pending between Hawaii and Japan, growing out of the alleged mistreatment of Japanese treaty immigrants, were, I am pleased to say, adjusted before the act of transfer by the payment of a reasonable indemnity to the government of Japan.

Under the provisions of the joint resolution the existing customs relations of the Hawaiian islands with the United States and with other countries remain unchanged until legislation shall otherwise provide. The consuls of Hawaii here and in foreign countries continue to fulfill their commercial agencies, while the United States consulate at Honolulu is maintained for all proper services pertaining to trade and the revenue. It would be desirable that all foreign consuls in the Hawaiian islands should receive new exequaturs from this government.

The attention of congress is called to the fact that our consular offices having ceased to exist in Hawaii, and being about to cease in other countries coming under the sovereignty of the United States, the provisions for the relief and transportation of destitute American seamen in these countries under our consular regulations will in consequence terminate. It is proper, therefore, that new legislation should be enacted upon this subject in order to meet the changed conditions.

NEW EXTRADITION TREATIES.

The interpretation of certain provisions of the extradition convention of Dec. 11, 1861, has been at various times the occasion of controversy with the government of Mexico. An acute difference arose in the case of the Mexican demand for the delivery of Jesus Guerra, who, having led a marauding expedition near the border with the proclaimed purpose of initiating an insurrection against President Diaz, escaped into Texas. Extradition was refused on the ground that the alleged offense was political in its character and therefore came within the treaty proviso of non-surrender.

The Mexican contention was that the exception only related to purely political offenses, and that as Guerra's acts were admixed with the common crimes of murder, arson, kidnapping and robbery the option of non-delivery became void—a position which this government was unable to admit, in view of the accepted international doctrine and practice in the matter. The Mexican government, in view of this, gave notice Jan. 24, 1898, of the termination of the convention, to take effect twelve months from that date, at the same time inviting the conclusion of a new convention, toward which negotiations are on foot.

In this relation I may refer to the necessity of some amendment of our existing extradition statute. It is a common stipulation of such treaties that neither party shall be bound to give up its own citizens, with the added proviso in one of our treaties, that with Japan, that it may surrender if it see fit. It is held in this country, by an almost uniform course of decisions, that, where a treaty negatives the obligation to surrender, the president is not invested with legal authority to act. The conferment of such authority would be in the line of that sound morality which shrinks from affording secure asylum to the author of a heinous crime. Again, statutory provision might well be made for what is styled extradition by way of transit, whereby a fugitive surrendered by one foreign government to another may be conveyed across the territory of the United States to the jurisdiction of the demanding state. A recommendation in this behalf, made in the president's message of 1888, was not acted upon. The matter is presented for your consideration.

The problem of the Mexican free zone has been often discussed with regard to its inconvenience as a provocative of smuggling into the United States along an extensive and thinly guarded land border. The effort made by the joint resolution of March 1, 1895, to remedy the abuse charged, by suspending the privilege of free transportation in bond across the country of the United States to Mexico, failed of good result, as is stated in report No. 702 of the house of representatives, submitted in the last session, March 11, 1898. As the question is one to be conveniently met by wise concurrent legislation of the two countries looking to the protection of the revenues by harmonious measures operating equally on either side of the boundary, rather than by conventional arrangements, I suggest that congress consider the advisability of authorizing and inviting a conference of representatives of the treasury departments of the United States and Mexico to consider the subject in all its complex bearings, and make report, with pertinent recommendations, to the respective governments for the information and consideration of their congresses.

The Mexican water boundary commission has adjusted all matters submitted to it to the satisfaction of both governments save in three important cases—that of the Chamizal at El Paso, Tex., where the two commissioners failed to agree, and wherein, for this case only, this government has proposed to Mexico the addition of a third member; the proposed elimination of what are known as "bancos," small isolated islands formed by the cutting off of bays in the Rio Grande, from the operations of the treaties of 1854 and 1889, recommended by the commissioners and approved by this government, but still under consideration by Mexico; and the subject of the "equitable distribution of the waters of the Rio Grande," for which the commissioners recommended an international dam and reservoir, approved by Mexico, but still under consideration by this government. Pending these questions it is necessary to extend the life of the commission, which expires Dec. 23 next.

The coronation of the young queen of the Netherlands was made the occasion of fitting congratulations.

THE M'CORD CLAIM.

The claim of Victor H. McCord against Peru, which for a number of years has been pressed by this government and has on several occasions attracted the attention of the congress, has been satisfactorily adjusted. A protocol was signed May 17, 1898, whereby, the fact of liability being admitted, the question of the amount to be awarded was submitted to the chief justice of Canada as sole arbitrator. His award sets the indemnity due the claimant at $40,000.

The government of Peru has given the prescribed notification of its intention to abrogate the treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation concluded with this country Aug. 31, 1837. As that treaty contains many important provisions necessary to the maintenance of commerce and good relations which could with difficulty be replaced by the nomination of renewed provisions within the brief twelve months intervening before the treaty terminates, I have invited suggestions by Peru as to the particular provisions it is desired to annul, in the hope of reaching an arrangement whereby the remaining articles may be provisionally saved.

CZAR'S PEACE PROPOSALS.

His majesty the czar having announced his purpose to raise the Imperial Russian mission at this capital to the rank of an embassy, I responded, under the authority conferred by the act of March 3, 1893, by commissioning and accrediting the actual representative at St. Petersburg in the capacity of ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary. The Russian ambassador to this country has since presented his credentials.

The proposal of the czar for a general reduction of the vast military establishments that weigh so heavily upon many peoples in time of peace was communicated to this government with an earnest invitation to be represented in the conference which it is contemplated to assemble with a view to discussing the means of accomplishing so desirable a result. His majesty was at once informed of the cordial sympathy of this government with the principle involved in his exalted proposal and of the readiness of the United States to take part in the conference.

The active military force of the United States, as measured by our population, territorial area and taxable wealth, is, and under any conceivable conditions must continue to be, in times of peace, so conspicuously less than that of the armed powers to whom the czar's appeal is especially addressed that the question can have for us no practical importance save as marking an auspicious step toward the betterment of the condition of modern peoples and the cultivation of peace and good-will among them; but in this view it behooves us as a nation to lend countenance and aid to the beneficial project.

The claims of owners of American sealing vessels for seizure by Russian cruisers in Bering sea are being pressed to a settlement. The equities of the cases justify the expectation that a measure of reparation will eventually be accorded in harmony with precedent and in the light of the proved facts.

The recommendation made in my special message of April 27 last is renewed, that appropriation be made to reimburse the master and the owners of the Russian bark Hans for wrongful arrest of the master and detention of the vessel in February, 1896, by officers of the United States District court for the southern district of Mississippi. The papers accompanying my said message make out a most meritorious claim and justify the urgency with which it has been presented by the government of Russia.

DEATH OF SAMOAN KING.

Malieta Laupepa, king of Samoa, died Aug. 22 last. According to article 1 of the general act of Berlin, "his successor shall be duly elected according to the laws and customs of Samoa." Arrangements having been agreed upon between the signatories of the general act for the return of Mataafa and the other exiled Samoan chiefs, they were brought from Jaluit by a German war vessel and landed at Apia Sept. 13 last. Whether the death of Malieta and the return of his old-time rival, Mataafa, will add to the undesirable complications which the execution of the tripartite general act has heretofore developed remains to be seen. The efforts of this government will, as heretofore, be addressed toward a harmonious and exact fulfillment of the terms of the international engagement to which the United States became a party in 1889.

The Cheek claim against Siam, after some five years of controversy, has been adjusted by arbitration, under an agreement signed July 6, 1897, an award of 706,721 bahts (about $187,987), with release of the Cheek estate from mortgage claims, having been rendered March 31, 1898, in favor of the claimant by the arbitrator, Sir Nicholas John Hannen, British chief justice for China and Japan.

An envoy from Siam has been accredited to this government and has presented his credentials.

Immediately upon the outbreak of the war with Spain the Swiss government, fulfilling the high mission it has deservedly assumed as the patron of the International Red Cross, proposed to the United States and Spain that they should severally recognize and carry into execution as a modus vivendi during the continuance of hostilities, the additional articles proposed by the international conference of Geneva, Oct. 20, 1863, extending the effects of the existing Red Cross convention of 1864 to the conduct of naval war. Following the example set by France and Germany in 1870 in adopting such a modus vivendi, and in view of the accession of the United States to these additional articles in 1882, although the exchange of ratifications thereof still remained uneffected, the Swiss proposal was promptly and cordially accepted by us and simultaneously by Spain.

This government feels a keen satisfaction in having thus been enabled to testify its adherence to the broadest principles of humanity even amid the clash of war, and it is to be hoped that the extension of the Red Cross compact to hostilities by sea as well as on land may soon become an accomplished fact through the general promulgation of the additional naval Red Cross articles by the maritime powers now parties to the convention of 1864.

The important question of the claim of Switzerland to the perpetual cantonal alleglance of American citizens of Swiss origin has not made hopeful progress toward a solution, and controversies in this regard still continue.

CLAIMS AGAINST TURKEY.

The newly accredited envoy of the United States to the Ottoman porte carries instructions looking to the disposal of matters in controversy with Turkey for a number of years. He is especially charged to press for a just settlement of our claims for indemnity by reason of the destruction of the property of American missionaries resident in that country during the Armenian troubles of 1895, as well as for the recognition of older claims of equal justness.

He is also instructed to seek an adjustment of the dispute growing out of the refusal of Turkey to recognize the acquired citizenship of Ottoman-born persons naturalized in the United States since 1869, without prior Imperial consent; and in the same general relation he is directed to endeavor to bring about a solution of the question which has more or less acutely existed since 1869 concerning the jurisdictional rights of the United States in matters of criminal procedure and punishment under article 4 of the treaty of 1830. This latter difficulty grows out of a verbal difference, claimed by Turkey to be essential, between the original Turkish text and the promulgated translation.

After more than two years from the appointment of a consul of this country to Erzeroum he has received his exequatur.

THE VENEZUELAN ARBITRATION.

The arbitral tribunal appointed under the treaty of February, 1897, between Great Britain and Venezuela, to determine the boundary line between the latter and the colony of British Guiana, is to convene at Paris during the present month. It is a source of much gratification to this government to see the friendly resort of arbitration applied to the settlement of this controversy, not alone because of the earnest part we have had in bringing about the result, but also because the two members named on behalf of Venezuela, Mr. Chief Justice Fuller and Mr. Justice Brewer, chosen from our highest court, appropriately testify the continuing interest we feel in the definitive adjustment of the question according to the strictest rules of justice. The British members, Lord Herschell and Sir Richard Collins, are jurists of no less exalted repute, while the fifth member, and president of the tribunal, M. F. de Martens, has earned a world-wide reputation as an authority upon international law.

The claim of Felipe Scandella against Venezuela for arbitrary expulsion and injury to his business has been adjusted by the revocation of the order of expulsion and by the payment of the sum of $18,000.

BUREAU OF AMERICAN REPUBLICS.

I have the satisfaction of being able to state that the bureau of American republics, created in 1890 as the organ for promoting commercial intercourse and fraternal relations among the countries of the western hemisphere, has become a more efficient instrument of the wise purposes of its founders and is receiving the cordial support of the contributing members of the international union which are actually represented in its board of management. A commercial directory, in two volumes, containing a mass of statistical matter descriptive of the industrial and commercial interests of the various countries, has been printed in English, Spanish, Portuguese and French, and a monthly bulletin published in these four languages and distributed in the Latin-American countries, as well as in the United States, has proved to be a valuable medium for disseminating information and furthering the varied interests of the international union.

During the last year the important work of collecting information of practical benefit to American industries and trade through the agency of the diplomatic and consular officers has been steadily advanced, and in order to lay such data before the public with the least delay the practice was begun in January, 1898, of issuing the commercial reports from day to day as they are received by the department of state. It is believed that for promptitude as well as fullness of information the service thus supplied to our merchants and manufacturers will be found to show sensible improvement and to merit the liberal support of the congress.

CAPTURE OF PRIVATE PROPERTY.

The experiences of the last year bring forcibly home to us a sense of the burdens and the waste of war. We desire, in common with most civilized nations, to reduce to the lowest possible point the damage sustained in time of war by peaceable trade and commerce. It is true we may suffer in such cases less than other communities, but all nations are damaged more or less by the state of uneasiness and apprehension into which an outbreak of hostilities throws the entire commercial world. It should be our object, therefore, to minimize, so far as practicable, this inevitable loss and disturbance. This purpose can probably be best accomplished by an international agreement to regard all private property at sea as exempt from capture or destruction by the forces of belligerent powers. The United States government has for many years advocated this humane and beneficent principle, and is now in position to recommend it to other powers without the imputation of selfish motives. I therefore suggest for your consideration that the executive be authorized to correspond with the governments of the principal maritime powers with a view of incorporating into the permanent law of civilized nations the principle of the exemption of all private property at sea, not contraband of war, from capture or destruction by belligerent powers.

CONDITION OF THE TREASURY.

The secretary of the treasury reports that the receipts of the government from all sources during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1896, including $84,751,223 received from sale of Pacific railroads, amounted to $405,321,335, and its expenditures to $443,368,582. There was collected from customs $149,675,062 and from internal revenue $170,900,641. Our dutiable imports amounted to $324,735,479, a decrease of $58,156,690 over the preceding year, and importations free of duty amounted to $291,414,175, a decrease from the preceding year of $90,534,068. Internal revenue receipts exceeded those of the preceding year by $24,212,068. The total tax collected on distilled spirits was $92,544,995, on manufactured tobacco $36,230,522 and on fermented liquors $39,515,421. We exported merchandise during the year amounting to $1,231,482,330, an increase of $180,488,774 from the preceding year.

It is estimated, upon the basis of present revenue laws, that the receipts of the government for the year ending June 30, 1899, will be $577,874,607, and its expenditures $689,874,647, resulting in a deficiency of $112,000,000.

On the 1st of December, 1898, there was held in the treasury gold amounting to $138,441,547, gold bullion amounting to $138,502,545, silver bullion amounting to $38,385,250, and other forms of money amounting to $451,963,981.

On the same date the amount of money of all kinds in circulation or not included in treasury holdings was $1,326,379,604, an increase for the year of $165,794,966. Estimating our population at 75,194,000 at the time mentioned, the per capita circulation was $25.09.

The provisions made for strengthening the resources of the treasury in connection with the war have given increased confidence in the purpose and power of the government to maintain the present standard and have established more firmly than ever the national credit at home and abroad. A marked evidence of this is found in the inflow of gold to the treasury. Its net gold holdings Nov. 1, 1898, were $239,885,160, compared with $153,573,147 Nov. 1, 1897, and an increase of net cash of from $207,756,100 Nov. 1, 1897, to $300,238,275 Nov. 1, 1898. The present ratio of net treasury gold to outstanding government liabilities, including United States treasury notes of 1890, silver certificates, currency certificates, standard silver dollars and fractional silver coin, Nov. 1, 1898, was 25.35 per cent, as compared with 16.96 per cent Nov. 1, 1897.

"That when any of the United States notes are presented for redemption in gold and are redeemed in gold such notes shall be kept and set apart and only paid out in exchange for gold. This is an obvious duty. If the holder of the United States note prefers the gold and gets it from the government he should not receive back from the government a United States note without paying gold in exchange for it. The reason for this is made all the more apparent when the government issues an interest-bearing debt to provide gold for the redemption of United States notes—a non-interest-bearing debt. Surely it should not pay them out again except on demand and for gold. If they are put out in any other way they may return again, to be followed by another bond issue to redeem them—another interest-bearing debt to redeem a non-interest-bearing debt."

This recommendation was made in the belief that such provisions of law would insure to a greater degree the safety of the present standard and better protect our currency from the dangers to which it is subjected from a disturbance in the general business conditions of the country.

In my judgment the present condition of the treasury amply justifies the immediate enactment of the legislation recommended one year ago, under which a portion of the gold holdings should be placed in a trust fund from which greenbacks should be redeemed upon presentation, but when once redeemed should not thereafter be paid out except for gold.

It is not to be inferred that other legislation relating to our currency is not required; on the contrary, there is an obvious demand for it. The importance of adequate provision which will insure to our future a money standard related as our money standard now is to that of our commercial rivals is generally recognized. The companion proposition that our domestic paper currency shall be kept safe and yet be so related to the needs of our industries and internal commerce as to be adequate and responsive to such needs is a proposition scarcely less important. The subject, in all its parts, is commended to the wise consideration of the congress.

The annexation of Hawaii and the changed relations of the United States to Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippines, resulting from the war, compel the prompt adoption of a maritime policy by the United States. There should be established a regular and frequent steamship communication, encouraged by the United States, under the American flag, with the newly acquired islands. Spain furnished to its colonies, at an annual cost of about $2,000,000, steamship lines communicating with a portion of the world's markets as well as with trade centers of the home government.

The United States will not undertake to do less. It is our duty to furnish the people of Hawaii with facilities under national control for their export and import trade. It will be conceded that the present situation calls for legislation which shall be urgent, durable and liberal.

The part which American merchant vessels and their seamen performed in the war with Spain demonstrates that this service, furnishing both pickets and the second line of defense, is a national necessity and should be encouraged in every constitutional way.

Details and methods for the accomplishment of this purpose are discussed in the report of the secretary of the treasury, to which the attention of the congress is respectfully invited.

In my last annual message I recommended that the congress authorize the appointment of a commission for the purpose of making systematic investigations with reference to the cause and prevention of yellow fever. This matter has acquired an increased importance as a result of the military occupation of the island of Cuba and the commercial intercourse between this island and the United States which we have every reason to expect. The sanitary problems connected with our new relations with the island of Cuba and the acquisition of Puerto Rico are no less important than those relating to finance, commerce and administration. It is my earnest desire that these problems may be considered by competent experts and that everything may be done which the most recent advances in sanitary science can offer for the protection of the health of our soldiers in these islands and of our citizens who are exposed to the dangers of infection from the importation of yellow fever. I therefore renew my recommendation that the authority of the congress may be given and a suitable appropriation made to provide for a commission of experts to be appointed for the purpose indicated.

INCREASE OF REGULAR ARMY.

Under the act of congress approved April 26, 1898, authorizing the president, in his discretion, "upon the declaration of war by the congress, or a declaration by the congress that war exists," I directed the increase of the regular army to the maximum of 62,000, authorized by said act.

There are now in the regular army 57,863 officers and men. In said act it was provided "that at the end of any war in which the United States may become involved the army shall be reduced to a peace basis by the transfer in the same arm of the service or absorption by promotion or honorable discharge, under such regulations as the secretary of war may establish, of supernumerary commissioned officers and the honorable discharge or transfer of supernumerary enlisted men; and nothing contained in this act shall be construed as authorizing the permanent increase of the commissioned or enlisted force of the regular army beyond that now provided by the law in force prior to the passage of this act, except as to the increase of twenty-five majors provided for in section 1 hereof."

The importance of legislation for the permanent increase of the army is therefore manifest and the recommendation of the secretary of war for that purpose has my unqualified approval. There can be no question that at this time and probably for some time in the future 100,000 men will be none too many to meet the necessities of the situation. At all events, whether the number shall be required permanently or not, the power should be given to the president to enlist that force if in his discretion it should be necessary, and the further discretion should be given him to recruit within the above limit from the inhabitants of the islands with the government of which we are charged.

It is my purpose to muster out the entire volunteer army as soon as the congress shall provide for the increase of the regular establishment. This will be only an act of justice, and will be much appreciated by the brave men who left their homes and employments to help the country in its emergency.

SALE OF UNION PACIFIC.

In my last annual message I stated: "The Union Pacific railway, main line, was sold under the decree of the United States court for the district of Nebraska Nov. 1 and 2 of this year. The amount due the government consisted of the principal of the subsidy bonds, $27,236,512, and the accrued interest thereon, $31,211,711.75, making the total indebtedness $58,448,223.75. The bid at the sale covered the first mortgage lien and the entire mortgage claim of the government, principal and interest."

This left the Kansas Pacific case unconcluded. By a decree of the court in that case an upset price for the property was fixed at a sum which would yield to the government only $2,500,000 upon its lien. The sale at the instance of the government was postponed first to Dec. 15, 1897, and later, upon the application of the United States, was postponed to Feb. 16, 1898.

Having satisfied myself that the interests of the government required that an effort should be made to obtain a larger sum, I directed the secretary of the treasury, under the act passed March 3, 1887, to pay out of the treasury to the persons entitled to receive the same the amounts due upon all prior mortgages upon the eastern and middle divisions of said railroad out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated. Whereupon the attorney-general prepared a petition, to be presented to the court, offering to redeem said prior liens in such manner as the court might direct, and praying that thereupon the United States might be held to be subrogated to all the rights of said prior-lien holders, and that a receiver might be appointed to take possession of the mortgaged premises and maintain and operate the same until the court or the congress otherwise directed. Thereupon the reorganization committee agreed that if said petition was withdrawn and the sale allowed to proceed Feb. 16, it would bid a sum at the sale which would realize to the government the entire principal of its debt, $6,303,000. Believing that no better price could be obtained, and appreciating the difficulties under which the government would labor if it should become the purchaser of the road at the sale, in the absence of any authority by congress to take charge of and operate the road, I directed that upon the guaranty of a minimum bid which should give the government the principal of its debt the sale should proceed. By this transaction the government secured an advance of $3,803,000 over and above the sums which the court had fixed as the upset price and which the reorganization committee had declared was the maximum which it would pay for the property.

It is a gratifying fact that the result of these proceedings against the Union Pacific system and the Kansas Pacific line is that the government has received on account of its subsidy claim the sum of $44,751,223.75, an increase of $18,997,163.75 over the sum which the reorganization committee originally agreed to bid for the joint property, the government receiving the claim, principal and interest, of the Union Pacific, and the principal of its debt on the Kansas Pacific railroad.

Steps had been taken to foreclose the government's lien upon the Central Pacific Railroad company, but before action was commenced the congress passed an act, approved July 7, 1898, creating a commission, consisting of the secretary of the treasury, the attorney-general and the secretary of the interior and their successors in office, with full power to settle the indebtedness to the government growing out of the issue of bonds in aid of construction of the Central Pacific and Western Pacific bond-aided railroads, subject to the approval of the president. No report has yet been made to me by the commission thus created. Whatever action is had looking to a settlement of the indebtedness in accordance with the act referred to will be duly submitted to the congress.

I deem it my duty to call to the attention of the congress the condition of the present buildings occupied by the department of justice. The business of that department has increased very greatly since it was established in its present quarters. The building now occupied by it is neither large enough nor of suitable arrangement for the proper accommodation of the business of the department. The supervising architect has pronounced it unsafe and unsuited for the use to which it is put. The attorney-general, in his report, states that the library of the department is on the fourth floor and that all the space allotted to it is so crowded with books as dangerously to overland the structure. The third floor is occupied by the Court of Claims. The building is of an old and dilapidated appearance, unsuited to the dignity which should attach to this important department.

A proper regard for the safety, comfort and convenience of the officers and employes would justify the expenditure of a liberal sum of money in the erection of a new building of commodious proportions and handsome appearance upon the very advantageous site already secured for that purpose, including the ground occupied by the present structure and adjoining vacant property, comprising in all a frontage of 201 feet in Pennsylvania avenue and a depth of 136 feet.

In this connection I may likewise refer to the inadequate accommodations provided for the Supreme court in the capitol, and suggest the wisdom of making provision for the erection of a separate building for the court and its offices and library upon available ground near the capitol.

ADVANCE OF THE POSTAL SERVICE.

The postal service of the country advances with extraordinary growth. Within twenty years both the revenues and the expenditures of the postoffice department have multiplied three-fold. In the last ten years they have nearly doubled. Our postal business grows much more rapidly than our population. It now involves an expenditure of $100,000,000 a year, numbers 73,000 post-offices and enrolls 200,000 employes. This remarkable extension of a service which is an accurate index of the public conditions presents a gratifying evidence of the advancement of education, of the increase of communication and business activity and of the improvement of mail facilities leading to their constantly augmenting use.

The war with Spain laid new and exceptional labors on the postoffice department. The mustering of the military and naval forces of the United States required special mail arrangements for every camp and every campaign. The communication between home and camp was naturally eager and expectant. In some of the larger places of rendezvous as many as 50,000 letters a day required handling. This necessity was met by the prompt detail and dispatch of experienced men from the established force and by directing all the instrumentalities of the railway mail and postoffice service so far as necessary to this new need. Congress passed an act empowering the postmaster-general to establish offices or branches at every military camp or station, and under this authority the postal machinery was speedily put into effective operation.

Under the same authority, when our forces moved upon Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippines, they were attended and followed by the postal service. Though the act of congress authorized the appointment of postmasters where necessary, it was early determined that the public interests would be best subserved not by new designations, but by the detail of experienced men familiar with every branch of the service, and this policy was steadily followed. When the territory which was the theater of conflict came into our possession it became necessary to re-establish mail facilities for the resident population, as well as to provide them for our forces of occupation, and the former requirement was met through the extension and application of the latter obligation. I gave the requisite authority, and the same general principle was applied to this as to other branches of civil administration under military occupation. The details are more particularly given in the report of the postmaster-general, and while the work is only just begun it is pleasing to be able to say that the service in the territory which has come under our control is already materially improved.

NAVAL PLANS INDORSED.

The following recommendations of the secretary of the navy relative to the increase of the navy have my earnest approval:

1. Three sea-going, sheathed and coppered battleships of about 13,500 tons trial displacement, carrying the heaviest armor and most powerful ordnance for vessels of their class, and to have the highest practicable speed and great radius of action. Estimated cost, exclusive of armor and armament, $4,000,000 each.

2. Three sheathed and coppered armored cruisers of about 6,000 tons trial displacement, carrying the heaviest armor and most powerful ordnance for vessels of their class, and to have the highest practicable speed and great radius of action. Estimated cost, exclusive of armor and armament, $4,000,000 each.

3. Three sheathed and coppered protected cruisers of about 6,000 tons trial displacement; to have the highest practicable speed and great radius of action and to carry the most powerful ordnance suitable for vessels of their class. Estimated cost, exclusive of armor and armament, $2,150,000 each.

4. Six sheathed and coppered cruisers of about 2,500 tons trial displacement; to have the highest speed compatible with good cruising qualities, great radius of action and to carry the most powerful ordnance suited to vessels of their class. Estimated cost, exclusive of armament, $1,141,500 each.

I join with the secretary of the navy in recommending that the grades of admiral and vice-admiral be temporarily revived, to be filled by officers who have especially distinguished themselves in the war with Spain.

THE TWELFTH CENSUS.

I earnestly urge upon congress the importance of early legislation providing for the taking of the twelfth census. This is necessary in view of the large amount of work which must be performed in the preparation of the schedules preparatory to the enumeration of the population.

NAMES ON THE PENSION ROLLS.

There were on the pension rolls June 30, 1898, 993,714 names, an increase of nearly 18,000 over the number on the rolls the same day of the preceding year. The amount appropriated by the act of Dec. 22, 1896, for the payment of pensions for the fiscal year 1898 was $140,000,000. Eight million seventy thousand eight hundred and seventy-two dollars and forty-six cents was appropriated by the act of March 31, 1898, to cover deficiencies in army pensions and repayments in the sum of $12,020.33, making a total of $148,022,822.75 available for the payment of pensions during the fiscal year 1898. The amount disbursed from that sum was $144,651,579.80, leaving a balance of $3,431,012.99 unexpended June 30, 1898, which was covered into the treasury.

There were 339 names added to the rolls during the year by special acts passed at the second session of the LVth congress, making a total of 6,488 pensioners by congressional enactments since 1861.

The total receipts of the patent office during the last year were $1,253,948.440. The expenditures were $1,081,633.79 leaving a surplus of $172,314.65.

SALE OF GOVERNMENT LANDS.

The public lands disposed of by the government during the year reached $3,463,- 896.92 acres, an increase of 614,780.26 acres over the previous year. The total receipts from public lands during the fiscal year amounted to $2,277,996.18, an increase of $190,063.90 over the preceding year. The lands embraced in the eleven forest reservations which were suspended by the act of June 4, 1897 again became subject to the operations of the proclamations of Feb. 22, 1897, creating them, which added an estimated amount of 19,951,360 acres to the area embraced in the reserves previously created. In addition, thereto two new reserves were created during the year—the Pine Mountain and Zaca Lake reserve in California, embracing 1,644,594 acres, and the Prescott reserve, in Arizona, embracing 10,240 acres; while the Pecos River reserve in New Mexico has been changed and enlarged to include 120,000 additional acres.

At the close of the year thirty forest reservations, not including those of the Adonak forest and the fish-culture reserve in Alaska, had been created by executive proclamations, under section 24 of the act of March 3, 1891, embracing an estimated area of 40,719,474 acres.

The department of the interior has inaugurated a forest system, made possible by the act of July, 1898, for a graded force of officers in control of the reserves. This system has only been in full operation since August, but good results have already been secured in many sections. The reports received indicate that the system of patrol has not only prevented destructive fires from gaining headway, but has diminished the number of fires.

FEW INDIAN TROUBLES.

The special attention of the congress is called to that part of the report of the secretary of the interior in relation to the five civilized tribes. It is noteworthy that the general condition of the Indians shows marked progress. But one outbreak of a serious character occurred during the year, and that among the Chippewa Indians of Minnesota, which happily has been suppressed.

While it has not yet been practicable to enforce all the provisions of the act of June 25, 1898, "for the protection of the people of the Indian Territory and for other purposes," it is having a salutary effect upon the nations composing the five tribes. The Dawes commission reports that the most gratifying results and greater advance toward the attainment of the objects of the government have been secured in the last year than in any previous year. I cannot too strongly indorse the recommendation of the commission and of the secretary of the interior for the necessity of providing for the education of the 30,000 white children resident in the Indian Territory.

AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT.

The department of agriculture has been active in the last year. Explorers have been sent to many of the countries of the eastern and western hemispheres for seeds and plants that may be useful to the United States, and with the further view of opening up markets for our surplus products. The forestry division of the department is giving special attention to the treeless regions of our country and is introducing species specially adapted to semi-arid regions. Forest fires, which seriously interfere with production, especially in irrigated regions, are being studied, that the losses from this cause may be avoided. The department is inquiring into the use and abuse of water in many states of the west and collecting information regarding the laws of the states, the decisions of the courts and the customs of the people in this regard, so that uniformity may be secured. Experiment stations are becoming more effective every year. The annual appropriation of $720,000 by congress is supplemented by $400,000 from the states. Nation-wide experiments have been conducted to ascertain the suitableness as to soil and climate and states for growing sugar beets. The number of sugar factories has been doubled in the last two years and the ability of the United States to produce its own sugar from this source has been clearly demonstrated.

The weather bureau forecast and observation stations have been extended around the Caribbean sea to give early warning of the approach of hurricanes from the south seas to our fleets and merchant marine.

WASHINGTON CITY'S CENTENNIAL.

In the year 1900 will occur the centennial anniversary of the founding of the city of Washington for the permanent capital of the government of the United States by authority of an act of congress approved July 16, 1790. In May, 1800, the archives and general offices of the federal government were removed to this place. On Nov. 17, 1800, the national congress met here for the first time and assumed exclusive control of the federal district and city. This interesting event assumes all the more significance when we recall the circumstances attending the choosing of the site, the naming of the capital in honor of the father of his country and the interest taken by him in the adoption of plans for its future development on a magnificent scale.

These original plans have been wrought out with a constant progress and a signal success even beyond anything their framers could have foreseen. The people of the country are justly proud of the distinctive beauty and government of the capital and of the rare instruments of science and education which here find their natural home.

A movement lately inaugurated by the citizens to have the anniversary celebrated with fitting ceremonies, including, perhaps, the establishment of a handsome permanent memorial to mark of a historic occasion and to give it more than local recognition, has met with general favor on the part of the public. I recommend to congress the granting of an appropriation for this purpose and the appointment of a committee from its respective bodies. It might also be advisable to authorize the president to appoint a committee from the country at large, which, acting with the congressional and District of Columbia committees, can complete the plans for an appropriate national celebration.

IN LABOR'S INTEREST.

The alien contract labor law is shown by experience to need some amendment; a measure providing better protection for seamen is proposed; the rightful application of the eight-hour law for the benefit of labor and the principle of arbitration are suggested for consideration and I commend these subjects to the careful consideration of the congress.

The several department reports will be laid before you. They give in great detail the conduct of the affairs of the government during the last year and discuss many questions upon which the congress may be called upon to act.

In calculating pluralities in this and the following tables the Bryan-Sewall, the Bryan-Watson and the middle-of-the-road votes are combined for the Bryan vote. There was fusion on the electoral ticket of the democrats and populists, and in some states silver republicans. In the following states: Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming. In some of the states, like Illinois and Kansas, there were Bryan-Watson tickets run by the middle-of-the-road populists.

It has been impossible to separate the populist from the democratic vote in the states in which there was a fusion of those parties. In some of the states, like Illinois, in which the two parties voted for the same electors, but upon separate tickets, county officers, in making returns to the secretaries of state, have combined the votes on electors and it is impossible to say how the vote should be divided. In such cases the vote classed under the head "Bryan-Watson" is no indication of the strength of the people's party, while at the same time it gives too large a vote to the democrats. There is no way of giving, even approximately, the vote of the two parties on presidential electors.

*Four tickets were voted for state officers—the candidates for governor being Joseph D. Sayers, Dem.; Barnett Gibbs, Pec.; G. H. Royal, Lab. Soc., and B. P. Bailey, Pro. The vote for Royal was small, and that for Bailey comparatively nominal. There was a great falling off in the vote for Gibbs compared with that for Kearby two years ago.

†The vote was for McKinley and Hobart electors, Bryan and Sewall electors, Bryan and Watson electors, Palmer and Buckner electors and Levering and Johnson electors.

‡Three state tickets were voted—headed respectively by Charles A. Culbertson, Dem.; Jerome C. Kearby, Pop-Rep., and Randolph Clark, Pro., for governor. Fusion was not generally regarded by the populists and republicans, many thousand colored voters supporting Culbertson on account of dissatisfaction with the school provision in the platform of the populists who nominated Kearby.

In 1896 Palmer, Nat. Dem., received 5046 and Levering, Pro., 1786 votes for president. Counties for which no returns are given are unorganized and held no elections.

VOTE FOR OTHER STATE OFFICERS, 1898.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3, 1897.

Messrs. E. W. Blatchford & Co.,
Fulton and Clinton Streets, City.

Gentlemen: In response to your request we are glad to say that we have used your stereotype metal continuously for several years past and your linotype metal almost continuously since we have used the linotype machines. We would add that both of these metals are giving us entire satisfaction.

Very truly yours, VICTOR F. LAWSON.

Some of the remarkable features of the Lake Shore run are as follows:

- 1 mile at the rate of 92.30 miles per hour.
 8 miles (Ripley to Westfield) at the rate of 85.44 miles per hour.
 33 miles (Moorehead to Van Buren) at the rate of 80.96 miles per hour.
 Prior to this the best runs were as follows:
 May 9, 1883, the Empire State express on the New York Central & Hudson River railroad, consisting of engine 929, three coaches and a Wagner drawing-room car, made a run of 102 miles in 1h.
 May 10, 1883, the same train ran 1 mile in 32s., a rate of 112¼ miles in 1h.
 The "Exposition Flyer," an engine and four Wagner coaches, repeatedly made the run from New York to Chicago, 376 miles, in 30h.
 The record noted on May 10—a mile in 32s.—has been questioned by some railroad men.
 Oct. 14, 1887, the Holman locomotive in a trial near Cape May, N. J., made 56 1/4 miles in 55 minutes, including starting and stopping. A mile for time was recorded in 42s., and on the run it was claimed that two miles were made in 68s.
 2 miles—1m. 15s., same train; second mile in 38s.
 3 miles—1m. 54s., same train; third mile in 38s.
 5 miles—3m. 25s., same train, five consecutive miles, an average of 87.8 miles an hour; this train also ran five miles on a section having a heavy grade in 4m., an average of 75 miles an hour.
 1 mile—39 1/4 s., Philadelphia & Reading railroad, Aug. 27, 1891; 50¼s., during run of special train from West Philadelphia to Jersey City, Sept. 4, 1879.
 2.1 miles—1m. 30s., engine 336 and an ordinary day coach, P. & R. R. R., Yardley to Trenton Junction, N. J., March 10, 1890.

RATES OF POSTAGE AND MONEY ORDERS.

DOMESTIC.

FIRST CLASS.—Letters and all written matter, whether sealed or unsealed, and all other matter sealed, nailed, sewed, tied or fastened in any manner so that it cannot be easily examined, 2 cents per ounce or fraction thereof. A "special delivery" 10-cent stamp when attached to a letter, in addition to the lawful postage, shall entitle the letter to immediate delivery at or within one mile of any postoffice.

Postal cards, 1 cent each.

SECOND CLASS.—All regular newspapers, magazines and other periodicals issued at intervals not exceeding three months; the postage is 1 cent for each pound. A special rate of 1 cent for four ounces is made for all second-class matter mailed by other than publishers or newsdealers.

THIRD CLASS.—Embraces printed books, pamphlets, circulars, engravings, lithographs, proof-sheets and manuscript accompanying the same, and all matter of the same general character, and not having the character of personal correspondence. Circulars produced by hectograph or similar process, or by electric pen, are rated as third class; circular matter in imitation of hand or type writing to pass at the third-class rates must be mailed in at least 20 identical copies at a postoffice or station. The limit of weight for mail matter of the third class is four pounds, except in the case of single books exceeding that weight. The rate of postage on mail matter of the third class is 1 cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof.

FOURTH CLASS.—All mailable matter, like merchandise, not included in the three preceding classes, which is so prepared for mailing as to be easily taken from the wrapper and examined. Rate, 1 cent per ounce or fraction thereof, except seeds, roots, cuttings, bulbs, plants and scions, which are 1 cent per two ounces. Limit of weight, four pounds. Full prepayment compulsory. Liquids and other like injurious matter, not admitted, except under some conditions, which may be learned at any postoffice.

SUGGESTIONS.—Direct your mail matter to a postoffice, writing the name of the state plainly; and if to a city, add the street and number or postoffice box of the person addressed. Matter not addressed to a postoffice cannot be forwarded. Write or print your name and address, and the contents, if a package, upon the upper left-hand corner of all mail matter. This will insure the immediate return of all first-class matter to you for correction, if improperly addressed or insufficiently paid; and if it is not called for at destination, it can be returned to you without going to the dead-letter office. If a letter, it will be returned free. Undeliverable second, third and fourth class matter will not be forwarded or returned without a new prepayment of postage. When a return card appears on this matter either the sender or addressee is requested to send the postage. Register all valuable letters and packages. Registry fee, 8 cents, which, with the postage, must be fully prepaid. Limited indemnity on presentation of sufficient proof will be paid in case of loss of contents from registered matter of the first class.

MONEY-ORDER FEES.—For domestic money orders in denominations of $100 or less, the following fees are charged:

For orders for sums not exceeding $2.50..... 3c
For over $2.50 and not exceeding $5..... 5c
For over $5 and not exceeding $10..... 8c
For over $10 and not exceeding $20..... 10c

For over $20 and not exceeding $30..... 12c
For over $30 and not exceeding $40..... 15c
For over $40 and not exceeding $50..... 18c
For over $50 and not exceeding $60..... 20c
For over $60 and not exceeding $75..... 25c
For over $75 and not exceeding $100..... 30c
An additional fee of 2 cents is charged for each order as a special war tax.

FOREIGN.

Mail matter may be sent to any country in the Universal Postal Union (which embraces practically every country in the world) either directly or through the intermediary of some postal union state.

ON LETTERS.—Five cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof, prepayment optional. Double rates are collected on delivery of unpaid or short-paid letters.

On newspapers, books, pamphlets, photographs, sheet music, maps, engravings and similar printed matter, 1 cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof.

TO CANADA (including Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island).—Letters, 2 cents for each ounce or fraction thereof; books, circulars and similar printed matter, 1 cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof; second-class matter, same as in the United States; samples and merchandise, 1 cent per ounce. Packages must not exceed four pounds six ounces in weight—prepayment compulsory.

TO MEXICO.—Letters, postal cards and printed matter, same rates as in the United States; samples, 1 cent per ounce; merchandise other than samples can only be sent by parcel post.

TO AUSTRALIA (Except New South Wales, Queensland and Victoria).—Via San Francisco. On letters, 5 cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof; to places excepted above, 12 cents for each half ounce; on newspapers, 2 cents each—prepayment compulsory.

LIMITS OF SIZE AND WEIGHT.—Packages of samples of merchandise to the countries named above (except Great Britain, France, Belgium and Switzerland) must not exceed eight and three-fourths ounces, nor measure more than eight inches in length, four in breadth and two in depth; and packages of printed matter must not exceed four pounds six ounces. Packages of merchandise samples to Great Britain, France, Belgium, Switzerland and Argentine Republic are limited to twelve ounces in weight, twelve inches in length, eight in width and four in depth. Packages of printed matter to Germany and Great Britain are limited to two feet in length and one foot in each other dimension.

The Autographic Register ...

is a loss-preventer and labor-saver. There is virtually no expense connected with its use, because it pays not only for itself, but a handsome profit besides, with the money which it saves. The money which it thus saves is clear profit, because it would otherwise be entirely lost.

The Affairs of Europe

are faithfully portrayed in the original and exclusive cable dispatches which THE CHICAGO RECORD prints daily from the leading capitals of the old world. This magnificent special service is in process of being greatly extended so as to include every important city in Europe; and it is supplemented by the full regular cable service of The Associated Press.

The Chicago Record, alone of all American newspapers outside New York city, now prints original and exclusive cable dispatches daily from the leading capitals of Europe.

The omission of the circulation figures for December is due to going to press before the end of the month. The circulation for the entire year will be given in all subsequent editions of the Almanac.

"THE UNPUBLISHED COOKING LORE

of all parts of this vast country," says the Boston Globe, "has been culled and sifted and put together in THE CHICAGO RECORD COOK BOOK. The volume is unique in that it shows how a family may live well at small expense." Mailed postpaid on receipt of $1.00 by THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st., Chicago.
